

Beach Expects to Accommodate Crowds Comparable to Those Here Last Year Over Holidays

Entertainment of Varied Nature to Greet Vacationists

A bang-up Fourth of July weekend, comparable to last summer when some one hundred thousand vacationers were backed up as far as Suffolk, is anticipated by Virginia Beach merchants and hotel operators—provided, as always, the weather is good.

Hotel and cottage owners along the boardwalk said this week that reservations are continuing to come in. Several hotels are booked completely.

Al Malthes, executive secretary of the Chamber of Commerce, revealed that plenty of accommodations are still available along the beach and in rooming houses off Atlantic Avenue.

An estimated 150 new rooms have been added this year with the completion of the Tides and Prince Charles Hotels. Approximately 400 or more people can be taken care of in these two hotels alone, said Bruce Parlette, who, with Mrs. Parlette, owns the Tides.

Although no special major preparations are being readied for Independence Day by the hotel people, hundreds of extra beds are kept in reserve to handle overflow crowds.

Meanwhile the Norfolk Southern Bus terminal will remain open from 7:20 a.m. until 12:30 p.m. in order to handle the expected heavy traffic. Terminal manager J. P. Grigg said that the company will put all its buses in operation if necessary.

The State Highway Department has been retouching and adding road markers along 17th Street and Atlantic Avenue this week.

The weather, which is almost the sole factor in the success of any week-end at this resort, provided Beach people with a preview of the coming holidays, when vacationers literally jammed the resort to get away from simmering urban centers.

The Virginia Beach Police Department will keep the entire force on duty during the holidays and hopes, Police Chief Reeves E. Johnson said, to be able to handle traffic as effectively as they did last year.

Casino Park, which will set off the largest display of fireworks to be seen during the summer, is the only establishment that has been issued a permit to handle fireworks, Chief Johnson said.

Five night clubs along Atlantic Avenue, and the Surf and Cavalier Beach Clubs will offer dance music ranging from pop to rumbas and fox trots. The Latin Quarter will bring in a new floor show to supplement an evening of dancing, while the Surf Club will feature Tex Beneke and his orchestra and the Cavalier will have Dick Jurgens and "that band again."

State Junior Chamber Commerce to Hold 1950 Convention Here

The State Junior Chamber of Commerce 1950 convention will be held at Virginia Beach next May, according to an announcement received here. The site was chosen at a meeting of the executive committee of the organization held Monday in Richmond.

Assignments to the Jaycee vice presidents were also made by the executive group as follows: public welfare, L. Lee Bean, Jr., Arlington; local service and awards, J. W. Turner, South Boston; state and local projects, C. Hill Swellings, Portsmouth; public relations, H. Thomas Martin, Roanoke; and public affairs, John H. Temple, Petersburg.

Psychiatrist At Beach Sanitarium

Dr. Vincent E. Lascara, who formerly practiced medicine in Norfolk, is now specializing in psychosomatic medicine at Witcomb Sanitarium, 35th Street and Pacific Avenue, according to an announcement from Mrs. Susan Zollicoffer White, owner and operator of the establishment.

Dr. Lascara was accepted as a Fellow of the American Psychiatric Association at the recent convention in Canada. Acceptance in this organization is considered by psychiatrists as an outstanding achievement. Dr. Lascara has also been affiliated with the Virginia Mental Hygiene System, and was assistant superintendent at Dix Hill Hospital, Raleigh, N. C.

Edward C. Lassiter, psychologist, who was graduated from the University of North Carolina, will act as Dr. Lascara's assistant, according to the statement.

In addition, Mrs. Sara Jane Beverly will be in charge of the physiotherapy department at Witcomb. Mrs. Beverly is also vice president of the Psychiatric Association of the State of Virginia.

Witcomb was recently licensed as a sanitarium for nervous diseases and rest under medical supervision. Mrs. White said the sanitarium would also handle delicate cases of alcoholism.

Baker Installed As New Head of Local Lions Club

Eugene C. Baker was installed as new president of the Virginia Beach Lions Club at ceremonies at the Piney Point Boat Club early this week. He takes over the position formerly held by Calude B. Bell.

In addition other newly elected officers of the club were installed at the ceremonies, which followed the annual dinner and dance. Sid Keller, of Portsmouth, district governor of Lions District 24-D, was on hand to congratulate the new officers.

Other officers taking their posts were: Richard A. Jones, first vice president; Charles H. Nelson, second vice president; Albert C. Roper, third vice president; William M. Snider, secretary and treasurer; William P. Kellam, tall twister; Leo E. Elley, lion tamer or custodian of property; Marvin H. Marshall, and E. W. Smith, directors. John U. Adenbrook is serving his second year as director.

The directors of the club are appointed for terms of two years. Another director will be selected to fill the unexpired term of Mr. Roper, who was elected third vice president, at the board of directors meeting during the second week in July.

'Common Glory' Begins Third Season Tonight

Drama to Include New Scenes and Lighting Effects

"The Common Glory," the drama which belongs to all Virginians from the mountains to the sea, and tells the story of the nation's founding, will open its third season tonight (July 1) and play nightly except Mondays until Labor Day.

In its cast of 150 actors, singers, dancers and technicians are numbered representatives from almost every city and town in the state, as well as from New York, New Jersey, Pennsylvania, Delaware, Maryland, Tennessee, Illinois, Texas, North Carolina and from far away England and France—each of these nations having sent one representative.

Entirely re-staged under the direction of John Baird, Broadway director and producer, and choreographed by Myra Kirch, featured dancer of stage and screen, the many new features for the 1949 season include an enlarged ballet which this season plays on important part in the drama, new scenes and new lighting effects and even a ship of war and Washington's horse have been added for interesting effects.

The opening scene for the 1949 presentation is laid on the lawn of Jefferson's own Monticello, then for brilliance and elegance the scene shifts to the ballroom of the Palace of the Royal Governors in Williamsburg, where Lord and Lady Dunmore are entertaining.

One of the more impressive of the new scenes is the reenactment of the St. John's Church scene with the words of Patrick Henry ringing out in "give me liberty or give me death."

Leading roles in the drama are played by Walter Brooke, one of Broadway's younger leading men, in the role of Jefferson; James Bray, drama veteran of three seasons as Patrick Henry; Warner Schreiner, Washington actor, as the Narrator; the role of the "lovely Eileen," played by Corinne Conley, of Pitman, N. J., formerly of Radford; her young lover, Hugh Taylor, as played by William H. Lacey, Jr., of New York; Patty Jefferson, by Virginia James, last year seen as "Eileen"; Martha Carr, Jefferson's sister, Betty Bowen, and the lovable n'er do well, Cephus Sicklemore, again portrayed by Joe Buchanan, Jr., of Newport News. These, and many more new characters will greet first nighters, and this occasion is sponsored by the American Legion, Department of Virginia, as the highlight of their program for Americanism.

Curtain time is 8:15 p.m. and tickets are available from the Jamestown Corporation, Williamsburg, Va. The 1949 season is July 1-September 4.

Beach Rotary Club Installs Officers at Dinner Meeting

Graydon K. Willis became president of the Virginia Beach Rotary Club at its annual installation dinner held last night at the Cavalier Beach Club. He succeeds Edward H. Church in the post.

In addition to Mr. Willis, officers and directors of the club for the coming year are: James G. Kontopoulos, vice president; William G. Thompson, Jr., secretary; Fred L. Wattle, treasurer; Harold B. Kellam, sergeant-at-arms, and Edward H. Church, G. Fred Cook, Jr., and Kermit S. Land, directors.

OCEANA METHODIST CHURCH PASTOR ON VACATION

The Rev. I. L. Llewellyn and Mrs. Llewellyn, of Oceana, are leaving this week for a ten days camping trip in the mountains of Virginia. Dr. W. L. Murphy will preach at the Oceana Methodist Church next Sunday morning.

Clinic Activities Heads P. A. Health Department Work

Dr. Garrett Reports To Supervisors on Work During May

Clinic activities headed up the list of accomplishments of the Health Department of Princess Anne County during the month of May, according to the report submitted to the Board of Supervisors by Dr. William Y. Garrett, health officer.

Clinic activities included visits by 203 mothers, infants and pre-school children; 488 X-rays taken; 26 visits by patients to venereal disease clinics; and immunization procedures as follows: 145 diphtheria, 124 smallpox, 7 whooping cough, and 1 tetanus.

The department made 514 visits in connection with its sanitation activities, inspected 63 septic tanks, and 12 water connections. Nineteen sanitation complaints were investigated during the month, and 73 laboratory examinations were made. Seventy-two restaurants were inspected.

A total of 131 nursing visits were made, and 21 venereal disease investigations conducted.

Communicable diseases reported in the county included: measles, 3; meningitis, 1; chickenpox, 2; mumps, 1; and influenza, 4.

Dr. Garrett's report to the supervisors concluded with a brief resume of activities among school and pre-school children. He said: "Seven pre-school clinics were held during May. At these clinics children who will be first graders in September were given physical examinations and were offered protective inoculations against smallpox, diphtheria, whooping cough, and tetanus. Attendance at these clinics was 185."

"The Health Department's program to improve the health of our school children is one of our major activities and aims mainly at improved sanitation, prevention of communicable diseases, the discovery of physical defects, and their correction."

"During the school year just passed personnel of the Princess Anne Health Department made 184 visits to the schools; 39 of these were by the sanitation officers. The nurses inspected 525 children and held 244 conferences with teachers concerning health problems of pupils. 180 home visits to school children were made by the nursing staff. Diphtheria toxoid was given to 475 and 400 were vaccinated against smallpox."

"Twenty-three children referred by teachers were given complete physical examinations at Creeds and Cooke Schools."

Traffic Violations Drop Sharply, Docket Reveals

The police drive on traffic offenders has resulted in a sharp drop in violations, according to the police court dockets of the past two weeks.

Only 27 cases for traffic violations were docketed during this week; considerably less than the 42 and 71 offenses reported the first two weeks of this month.

At the same time the total decline of cases placed before Judge E. V. Gresham at police court during the last half of June has fallen off forty per cent, which is an excellent record considering the large crowds that have visited the Beach.

Second to traffic cases this week were charges of vagrancy, followed by drunkenness. However, only a small number of these cases were brought before the court.

The drive against traffic violators this month was instigated by the police department to keep intact the excellent two-year record of no fatalities at Virginia Beach. Police Chief Reeves E. Johnson said.

Supervisors Give School Board Authority To Borrow $80,000 for Euclid School

Barter Theatre to Present "Ladies In Retirement"

Play to be Given At Cavalier Beach Club July 10

Virginia's Barter Theatre, the State theatre group which is world famous for its presentations, is coming to the Cavalier Beach and Cabana Club July 10, according to Sidney Banks, president of the Cavalier Hotel.

"Ladies in Retirement," the favorite murder mystery of a decade ago, will be presented for one performance only in the Panorama Room of the Beach Club. Barter officials have announced. This will mark the first appearance of the Barter Players at the Cavalier Club and the first time professional drama has been presented here.

Starting in the Barter presentation of the play laid in England will be Kaitia Humphreys, Efrida Derwent and Terry Bliss, all seasoned and well known actresses. Miss Humphreys and Miss Derwent come to Barter from Broadway productions, while Miss Bliss has been appearing in television drama for some time.

Miss Humphreys is no stranger to Barter, however. She first appeared with the traveling companies operating out of Abingdon during the period 1937-1940. She then went to Broadway and further successes. She was featured in 1947 with Brock Pemberton, Broadway producer and director, in the Barter presentation of "Harvey."

A veteran of many years on Broadway, Miss Derwent has enjoyed roles in such outstanding productions as "Nellie Bly," "Lilium," "Kind Lady," "Angel Street" and "Lady Precious Stream."

Miss Bliss, member of an old theatrical family, was a drama instructor at several colleges, going from that to Broadway and eventually television. She first appeared with Barter three seasons ago.

The appearance of the Barter troupe—one of three now operating through the State and nation—at Virginia Beach is part of the extensive summer program to bring the theatre to the masses.

Since its founding in depression days by Bob Fortfield, Barter has presented the best in theatre entertainment on a decentralized basis. Their engagement at Virginia Beach is part of this plan.

Tickets for the performance of "Ladies in Retirement" will be placed on sale within the next few days.

Board Also Moves to End Rent Control in County and Asks State's Assistance in Dealing with State Park Mosquito Problem

The County Board of Supervisors, in a busy session on Monday, moved to end rent control in Princess Anne County, granted the school board authority to borrow $80,000 for improvements to the Euclid Training School, and petitioned State assistance in ending a mosquito problem that has made life miserable for residents of North Virginia Beach and Bay Colony for weeks.

The board made a surprise move when it granted authority to F. W. Cox, county superintendent of schools, and the school board to effect a temporary loan in the amount of $80,000 to accomplish much needed enlargement of the Euclid Training School for Negroes, in anticipation of receiving that sum from the State Literary Fund, which passed favorably on an $80,000 loan application a year ago.

Mr. Cox appeared before the board "simply to consult with them," he said, since the school board had taken no positive action at this time along the lines he recommended. "However, it is the school board's belief that the situation at the Euclid school is getting worse instead of better," Mr. Cox said. Enrollment is on the increase, and the building is already too small, he said. He pointed to the fact that after the failure of two bond referenda for Negro school improvements that the supervisors had granted authority to the school board to make application for a loan from the State Literary Fund of $80,000 for a four-room addition to the present structure.

The loan was subsequently approved by the State, Mr. Cox said, but because of a backlog of some $8 million in loans already passed, the money has not yet been made available to the local school board. Recent discussions with the state superintendent of schools, Mr. Cox told the supervisors, indicated that the money from the literary fund would be released after the General Assembly meets in 1950.

Mr. Cox said that the Negro high school situation is acute. "We are faced with a problem of no small moment," he declared, and added that the need for the addition to the school is immediate and great. "That is why we want the $80,000 to make improvements before the September term begins."

Architectural plans for the school addition, approved at the time that the literary fund loan application was made, call for four class rooms, lavatory facilities, a lunchroom, and a boiler room. The application was approved more than a year ago.

Based on a public hearing held June 14 at Princess Anne Court House, the resolution stated "there no longer exists such a shortage in rental housing accommodations . . . as to require rent control in this county, and, therefore, (we) declare that rent control in Princess Anne County should be lifted and adopt this resolution to this effect for forwarding to Honorable William M. Tucker, Governor of Virginia, for his approval and transmission to the Housing Expediter of the United States."

According to Supervisor Walter Maher, the evidence is overwhelming there is no shortage of housing, especially low rental housing in the county.

The board's action, the first in Virginia under the new Housing Act of 1949, is in accordance with Section 264 of the act, which became effective in April of this year. The bill provides that the Housing Expediter shall terminate

LOCAL RIGHTS

Rennie L. Arnold, one of the Democratic candidates for Governor of Virginia, has incorporated in his election platform concerning the local rights of the counties that voters of Princess Anne County might well take to heart.

Mr. Arnold says: "The local rights of our counties, towns and cities must be respected by our State Government. . . . The key to good government is keeping it close to the people for they know what they want and will insist upon their rights."

A powerful force lies with the local government. It is the basis upon which rests the structure of the State. Proper integration of the force of local government will build a stronger State, a healthier State, and a richer State.

For a number of years, the trend in Virginia has been away from the local government with centralization of power in the State government. This has been fostered more and more by the "spoils" system of the typical political machine. So much so, that the strength of a locality is no longer measured by competence and strength at home, but by the degree of "friendship" the locality and its officials can demonstrate on the State level.

If one has one's "friends" at Richmond, one is assumed to be a "good" official of a county or a town, even though one gains such "friends" in Richmond by a system of "you pat my back and I'll pat yours."

This system is a far cry from real strength within the locality. It is a far cry from good government on any level. But it is the inevitable result of machine politics.

If only the "friend" on the State level and the "friend" on the local level had to be considered, it wouldn't be so bad. But that Boss Friend, unfortunately, has many other "friends" among the local officials, so a system of compromises has to be worked out. For the sake of the machine, and "friends" in the machine, the compromise very often is so weak that it does no one any good. It could get to the point eventually, if it were not checked, that only the "friends" would be served . . . the localities would have disappeared in a maze of friendship.

BE ALIVE ON THE FIFTH

Hundreds of people are killed every year by accidents during the Fourth of July holiday.

That plain fact is borne out year after year by figures from the National Safety Council.

Why are they killed?

It is easy to advance a lot of deeply philosophical reasons. The hurry-up world we live in. The adventurous, take-a-chance American spirit. The animalistic discourtesy of man to man.

But there is no need to do any heavy thinking on the reasons for the holiday death toll. The reasons are quite simple, really.

For one thing, more people are driving automobiles. When more cars are on the road and they are traveling farther, the chances for accident go up proportionately.

Pleasure-bent drivers usually are in a hurry. They want to get somewhere to start having fun, or they are pounding along on the first leg of a summer vacation trip. A lot of people are doing the same thing, and it becomes a sort of race. Driving too fast, passing when the view is obstructed, following other cars too closely—all seem important in the senseless race to save a minute.

Beaches are crowded, too. A lot of occasional swimmers overestimate their skill or their endurance. Children excited by holiday fever elude adult supervision. Amateur boat handlers find that small boats require a practiced hand and prudent conduct.

The tonic of celebration leads to excesses in exercise, eating, exposure to sun.

All of these things contribute to Fourth of July deaths. And it would be simple to prevent such accidents.

Don't take a trip just to be going somewhere. Drive slower. Don't become impatient at unimportant delays. Be courteous to other drivers and pedestrians.

These are the simple things that will ensure delight in a summer holiday—that will bring you home relaxed and refreshed, that will see your children safely in bed to dream of the day's pleasures. These are the simple things that will make this Fourth of July mean joy instead of tragedy.

Kipling said it: "Teach us delight in simple things and mirth that has no bitter springs."

Eleven Highway Construction Projects Underway in District

The end of the current fiscal year finds 11 highway construction projects underway on the primary highways of the Suffolk construction district. Fiscal 1949-50 begins July 1.

The projects, costing $2,479,950 include slightly more than 18 miles of new road construction and the long Elizabeth River bridge near Portsmouth. In addition to this work on the primary system, a full schedule of work is underway on the secondary highway system as the fiscal year comes to a close.

Projects currently underway on the primary highways of the Suffolk district include:

U. S. Route 13, three miles of divided highway construction on the Eastern Shore at Oak Hall, and nearly one mile of divided roadway by the City waterworks between Norfolk and Little Creek. U. S. Route 17, substructure for a 2035-foot Elizabeth River bridge at Churchland west of Portsmouth and 1.75 miles of new roadway between Tabbs and Route 108. U. S. 56, 1,607 miles of divided highway on the Virginia Beach Boulevard east of Norfolk. U. S. 60, 2,176 miles of four-lane divided roadway from Ocean View to Willoughby. Route 134, 2,017 miles divided construction from Hampton to Route 258.

Route 10, nearly one mile improved roadway west of Surry Court House where hills have been cut down for better sight distance. On Route 308, 3,708 miles from U. S. 58 into the Southampton County Prison Farm.

Local business men and others familiar with the resort in the past were said to have forecast the largest crowds ever seen here on the Fourth.

The Weekly with that issue also began a new feature—a series of related articles by nationally known figures. In the announcement on page one, a list of the famous contributors was given, along with the comment: "Ordinarily, these names are a promise of interesting reading, but in this case the subject guarantees it."

Is Thirty the Love Deathline? Can a man over 30 really be in love? The Weekly predicted that the series would be popular.

The feature picture at the Roland, "The Hawks Nest," starring Milton Sills, was described as depicting "a new kind of underworld—that of a city's populous and mysterious Chinatown."

Funeral services were held for Amlet Buchanan Williams, prominent resident of Virginia Beach.

Regular fogging with DDT by the Mosquito Control Commission affords only temporary relief from the swarms of mosquitoes that have migrated to these sections from the park.

Mr. Dorer said that Robert L. Vannote, of New Jersey, an expert on mosquito control, spent the last week-end making a study of the situation and will make his recommendations for elimination of the breed to the State Board.

The supervisors' resolution, which will go to Governor Tuck as well as to the Department of Conservation, pointed out that it was "not unkind of the fact that certain groups and interests in the State believe that the State Park should remain unchanged and in its natural state and that drainage of the swamp land will destroy the natural beauty of the park."

The residents of the county are taxed to support the 2000-acre Seashore State Park, the supervisors maintained, and "all it is good for in its present state is to breed mosquitoes," they said.

SUPERVISORS

the provisions (of rent control) in any incorporated city, town, or village, upon receipt of a resolution by its governing body adopted for that purpose in accordance with applicable local law and based upon a finding by such governing body reached as a result of a public hearing, and approved by the Governor of the State.

Action by the housing expediter is automatic after approval by the governor of the supervisors' recommendation.

Virginia Beach and its resort area, until the supervisors' action on Monday, was the only section of the county which had been "decontrolled." Residents of parts of the county, particularly East Ocean View and others nearby, felt that the continuation of control worked a hardship upon them.

Mosquito War Declared

War was declared by the supervisors on the particularly obnoxious mosquito known as the Mansonia perturbans when the board adopted a resolution calling on the Department of Conservation and Development to drain Seashore State Park to do away with their breeding places.

Described by R. E. Dorer, of the State Mosquito Control Department, as breeding only in the State Park in this area, the M. perturbans emerges in its adult state about the end of May and continues to make itself felt until the middle of July, or thereabouts.

Unique among mosquitoes, it cannot be destroyed in its larvae state by spraying oil on the water in which it breeds, since it receives oxygen to live by attaching itself to the roots of certain aquatic plants. This particular plant is found in abundance in the Seashore State Park, and only there in this vicinity, according to Mr. Dorer.

If the swampy sections of the park were drained regularly for some years, Mr. Dorer said, it would be possible to eliminate the M. perturbans which has made life so miserable for residents of North Virginia Beach, Bay Colony and Annapolis as well as other sections for the past month.

Speakers at Institute of Rural Affairs to Include Legislators

Five legislators and educators have been named to lecture at the "You and Your Government" sessions at Virginia's 16th Institute of Rural Affairs at V. P. I., August 3-5, and to take part in this program," H. W. O'Leary, county agent, declared today.

Speakers are Col. C. R. Fenwick, state senator from Arlington, who will discuss "Legislation of Interest to Rural People"; Dean Emeritus Robert H. Tucker, Washington & Lee University, who will discuss "Needs Affecting Rural Families"; Miss Mary Shadow, Decatur, Tenn., member of the Tennessee House of Representatives, all to speak at the Thursday morning sessions, August 4; and Dr. Roland Edgar, University of Virginia, to discuss "A Good Government's Responsibility to You"; and Dr. Robert Mead, Randolph Macon, Lynchburg, to discuss "Your Responsibility to Good Government," at the Friday morning, August 5, sessions.

Also scheduled for Thursday morning is a panel discussion, to be led by Dr. J. L. B. Buck, Richmond, State Department of Education. The discussion will center on the morning's topics.

Mr. Dietrich also said that Dr. Stanley Warren, Cornell University, has been named to complete the list of speakers for the concurrent sessions on "Economics." Dr. Warren's lecture on "To What Extent Should Farmers Mechanize?" is scheduled for Thursday morning.

Other events scheduled for the Institute include a meeting of the Virginia Agricultural Conference Board, Wednesday morning, August 3, at 10 a.m. Presiding will be W. L. Kirby, Richmond.

Departments which have planned programs include: agronomy, fruit, wildlife and dairy on Thursday afternoon, and ornamental horticulture, vegetable, poultry and animal husbandry on Friday afternoon. Exhibits in some of those departments, and in agricultural engineering, will be featured.

It is believed that a large number of farm men and women are planning to attend the institute this year, and if so, they are urged to contact their county or home agent immediately, as it is necessary that the number planning to attend from the county be reported to Blacksburg at once.

Mabel Frances Brumley Married
Friday to Harry Downs Church

The marriage of Miss Mabel Frances Brumley, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Elwood Roy Brumley, to Harry Downs Church, son of Mrs. Evis Church, of London Bridge, and the late Earl Walker Church, took place Friday afternoon at 5 o'clock in the Virginia Beach Methodist Church, with the Rev. Frank Van Dyck officiating. The church was decorated with palms, cibotium ferns, white flowers and lighted candles, and Mrs. Charles H. Hitchings played the wedding music. Joe White sang "Through the Years," "Because," and "The Lord's Prayer."

Given in marriage by her father, the bride wore a wedding gown of white satin, fashioned with yoke of illusion, off-shoulder neckline and flitted bodice. The full skirt of satin with Chantilly lace godets and train was worn over a hoop. Her finger-tip veil of imported illusion fell from a shirred Juliet cap edged with seed pearls, and she carried a powder puff bouquet of Canhamiana orchids and French carnations.

Mrs. Alfred U. Sturtevant, Jr., of Richmond, was her sister's matron of honor and only attendant. She wore a gown of pink satin, made with a flitted bodice, off-shoulder neckline and the full skirt draped in front worn over a hoop. Her hat was of matching net with pearlized orange blossom trim, and she carried a Colonial nosegay of blue delphinium and sweetheart roses.

John H. Barnes, Jr., was best man. The ushers were Thomas J. Geasley and Alfred U. Sturtevant, Jr.

The mother of the bride wore a dress of dusty rose crepe, navy blue accessories, and an orchid corsage. The mother of the bridegroom wore a dress of aqua crepe with black accessories, and a corsage of orchids.

There was a reception at the home of the bride on Laskin Road. Later the couple left for a motor trip to New York and Canada, and upon their return will reside at Virginia Beach. The bride wore for traveling a Palm Beach suit, natural straw hat, red lizard accessories, and a white orchid corsage.

The guests from out-of-town were Mr. and Mrs. Frank G. Parker and Mr. and Mrs. Alfred P. Sturtevant, Jr., of Richmond.

Mrs. W. J. Cowan will return Sunday to her home on 19th Street after spending a week in Harrisonburg, Va.

Mr. and Mrs. Willard Ashburn, Jr., who have been visiting Mr. Ashburn's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Willard Ashburn, on 52nd Street, moved Wednesday to the Jones cottage on Crystal Lake and 55th Street.

Mr. and Mrs. Rives Hitch returned yesterday to their cottage on 63rd Street after spending a few days at White Sulphur Springs, W. Va.

Lewis Rawlings has returned to Newport News, Va., after visiting his aunt, Mrs. Walter Miller, and Dr. Miller, at their home on 73rd Street.

Alice Brewer White To Stage Fashion Bazaar at Fair

Alice Brewer White, woman's director of Radio Station WTAR, will invite every merchant in Princess Anne County to participate in a Fashion Bazaar she will produce for the Princess Anne County Fair. The fair will be held September 23-24 at Casino Park, and is sponsored by the Woman's Club of Princess Anne County.

The event is scheduled for showing September 22, designated as Farm Bureau Day. Time will be from 3 until 4 p.m. Fashionists will be modeled by county residents, and six professional models. The latter will also model fashions throughout the fair in periodic showings embracing styles for matrons, tots and teen-agers.

Mrs. White will leave Virginia Beach July 5 for New York where she will attend an exhibit of fall fashions as presented by the New York Dress Institute, a semi-annual event held for fashion editors throughout the nation.

Named by the Woman's Club to assist Mrs. White are Mrs. W. G. Thompson, Jr., Mrs. Sidney Kellam, Mrs. Russell Hatchett, Mrs. W. B. Meredith, Mrs. Guy Capps, Mrs. B. M. Stanton, and Mrs. Harold Kellam.

Mr. and Mrs. Hugh Mayo and young son, Billy, have returned to their home in Salem, Va., after visiting Mrs. Mayo's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Jack Woodhouse, on the Lynnhaven River. Mr. and Mrs. Woodhouse now have as their guests another daughter, Mrs. Simmons Andrews, and her young daughter, Sarah, of Raleigh, N. C.

Ernest Byron Burt has returned to his home in Savannah, Ga., after visiting friends here. He is a former resident of the Beach.

James L. Bennett, Jr., and Peter M. Smith have left to spend seven weeks at Camp Shaw-mel-eca, Lewisburg, W. Va.

Admiral and Mrs. Jerauld Wright and two children, Marion and Billy, have moved from Avenue E to the Lankford cottage on 81st Street, where they will spend the summer.

Mr. and Mrs. William Mahone, Mr. and Mrs. Ben Kinsey, Mrs. Eloise Hinton Parks, and General J. C. Johnson, of Petersburg, will spend the Fourth of July holidays with Mrs. C. W. Bain and Miss Elizabeth Bain, on 81st Street.

'Sacks' Featured At Fashion Show By Woman's Club

Chesapeake Beach Ladies Show Wide Range of Fashions

From kitchen drudge to fashion queen was the interpretation of cotton bag styles presented in the fashion show "Cinderella Sacks," staged by the Woman's Club of Chesapeake Beach last week at the Chesapeake Beach Community House.

Twenty dresses, styled by McCall patterns in the newest manner, were modeled, and every dress was made from cotton feed and flour bags. There were prints, solid colors, and Rit-dyed fashions in the style show wardrobe, one of 30 prepared by the National Cotton Council for use at clubs and women's groups.

Mrs. L. L. Dillon, president of the club, acting as commentator, told many interesting facts about the demand for cotton bags as fashion material, home furnishing accents, and other sewing uses by thrifty homemakers.

Local models who participated in the show expressed delight at the fashionable frocks from feed and flour sacks, including day-time dresses, sportswear, evening attire, and even children's clothes. Models as they appeared were: Joan Ellen Loftin, a six-year-old, in an ensemble of polka-dot print; Miss Louise Bryant, in orchid and grey "round-the-clock" sun dress and bolero; Mrs. Henry Hedy, in "beautiful morning," a red and white print casual dress; and Mrs. D. J. Wilkins, in striped green and white junior dress, "neat and sweet." Jennifer Heepe, a four-year-old, and Helen Wilkins, a ten-year-old, modeled a "sister act" in companion jumpers of blue bordered cotton bags; "town bred," a geometric print suit was shown by Miss Peggy Harrell; and a smart navy and red print dress by Mrs. Hedy.

Mrs. J. R. Bryant modeled a green medallion junior dress of cotton bags; Miss Bryant, a white swim suit and striped beach coat called "Beach Beauty"; and Mrs. M. J. Spruill and Miss Harrell showed a mix match ensemble of blue, clay, and white striped skirt and Rit-dyed blue jacket, and striped bolero with dyed blue skirt.

Mrs. Curtis Hall showed a suit dress in smart new calico print cotton bags; Mrs. L. L. Dillon, an empire styled junior frock of yellow with blue roses; Mrs. W. J. Heepe, the "beautcatcher," a stunning striped afternoon frock of grey and tomato; and Mrs. Hall, a "P. M. portrait" in navy and white two piece afternoon dress.

This feature of the show closed with Miss Harrell in a young formal of green cotton bags with Rit-dyed orchid sash, and Mrs. W. B. Meekins in a bouffant formal of yellow cotton bag fabric with decollete neckline and graceful matching stole.

In the second half of the show, originality in home dressmaking was demonstrated by members and friends of the Chesapeake Beach Club. Clothes shown were: children's party dresses by Jennifer Heepe in a lavender sprigged sheer; Pat meekins in white or-gandy with lace insertion trim; and Helene Wilkins modeled a

President Sets July 24-30 As National Farm Safety Week

Widespread adoption of safer ways of working and living and a continuing drive against practices which endanger farm people in their homes, in the field, and on the highways were urged by President Truman in proclaiming the sixth observance of National Farm Safety Week, July 24-30, 1949.

"I request all organizations and persons interested in farm life and welfare to join in this continuing drive . . . and I also urge each member of every farm family to study the hazards associated with rural life with a view to performing all tasks in the safest manner possible," the President said.

Ned H. Dearborn, president of the National Safety Council, in discussing plans for the observance pointed out that George Washington, the first president of the United States, considered farming as a splendid vocation. He said, according to Mr. Dearborn, "agriculture is the most healthful, most useful, and most noble employment of man." "As a Pennsylvania farm boy, I agree thoroughly with our first president," Mr. Dearborn said. "But we must face the fact that farming in America today is more akin to industry than to the pastoral activities it was in Washington's day. For example, there are at least three million tractors on American farms, plus about thirty-five million other pieces of machinery."

"This increasing industrialization of farming calls for greater attention to safe practices on the farm. President Truman strikes a vital note when he urges the performance of all farm tasks in the safest manner possible. National Safety Council surveys show that the majority of accidents to farm people involve one or more unsafe acts."

The survey shows wrong use of equipment or failure to use proper equipment as the most common unsafe act for both farm work and other accidents.

"The elimination of unsafe practices would undoubtedly do away with the majority of accidents on American farms."

Maynard H. Coe, director of the Farm Division of the National Safety Council, said, "We believe yellow and pink dimity of evening length. Sun dresses were of Mrs. Bryant in blue and brown check with fitted jacket; Mrs. Spruill, in blue and white print with fitted bolero and big pockets; Mrs. Meekins in white linen; and Mrs. Dillon in jewel-tone green with bolero. Cocktail dresses were modeled by Mrs. Heepe in a cotton blaid strapless model with matching stole trimmed in fringe; and Mrs. H. T. Harrell in chausse and black pique with black bolero. Dresses for evening wear were modeled by Mrs. Hines, aqua shawlskin with beliboy jacket and corsage of roses and gardenias at the waistline, and Miss Bryant in a bouffant formal of white or-gandy with lace insertion trim worn over a hoop. She carried a fan made of gardenias and purple larkspur.

Music for the show was by Mrs. C. J. Parkerson and admission was by contribution to the Community House Fund.

Two County H. D. Members Judge At Dressa Revue

Two Princess Anne County Home Demonstration Club members, Mrs. E. W. Cobb, of Lynnhaven, and Mrs. C. G. Nichols, of Ocean Park, assisted Miss Jane Craig, home agent, in judging a dress revue on Wednesday. The event was the Henric County Better Dress Revue held in Suffolk. Thirty-four dresses and suits were modeled by club members who had constructed the garments.

Blue, red and white ribbons were awarded winners in the three groups: dresses, suits and ensembles.

4-H Clubs Working on Food Preparation Project

A total of 71 girls are signed up for the summer project "Food Preparation," with eight leaders in charge. The girls meet in small groups in the homes for demonstrations by the leaders or older club girls, then do their practice work in their own homes.

The six demonstrations making up the summer program are:

1. Plan and prepare breakfast.
2. How to get that quart of milk daily. (Prepare cheese soufflé and custard.)
3. Preparing vegetables.
4. Preparing salads.
5. Club refreshments (One bowl cake).
6. Tasty packed lunch (picnic lunch).

Exhibits at the county fair will also get attention.

Tips on Flower Arrangement

Cut the flowers in the late afternoon or early morning, and put them deep in water immediately.

Have a design in mind before you start arranging the flowers.

Be sure the flowers are one and a half times the height of the container, or one and a half times as wide as the bowl.

Avoid exact balance and lopsidedness. Small blooms on long stems can balance large blooms on short stems.

Use lighter flowers for height; with dark or heavy flowers at the base of the container.

Vary the length of the stems. Don't have two exactly the same length. Don't let flower holder show. Let part of the arrangement cover the edge of the container.

More detailed instructions are available from the home agent's office in a leaflet called "Flower Arrangements."

Cloth from the Cotton Seed

The cotton plant may in the future provide both synthetic and natural fibers for clothing and other textile uses, say chemists of the U. S. Department of Agriculture. A new synthetic fiber from the protein of cottonseed has been spun experimentally at the Southern Regional Research Laboratory in New Orleans, La. This new fiber is quite different from the familiar cotton fiber. Its natural tint is yellow or light orange but it takes dyes well and may be colored as desired. It feels smooth and soft to the hand and when dry is about three-fourths as strong as wool.

Cottonseed-protein fiber will not be a competitor of cotton, but it may find a number of special uses. The chemists suggest that it might be blended with cotton, but it may find a number of special uses. The chemists suggest that it might be blended with cotton, wool, rayon, or nylon to give mixed fabrics with more softness or elasticity, better ability to absorb moisture, or the added suppleness needed in some fabrics to make them drape well.

From where I sit... by Joe Marsh

Now I'm Going Back To High School!

When I saw lights burning in the High School auditorium last night, I looked in to see what was on. About twenty people were listening to Buzz Ellis, the electrician, talk about television.

I slipped into a back seat and asked Hap Thomas what was up. Hap told me it was the new Self-Improvement Club. I stayed to listen—and learned a lot. Buzz really knows his stuff.

Turns out this club meets every Friday night. Each member gives a talk on the subject he knows most about. I joined on the spot because learning new things is one of my favorite hobbies.

From where I sit, it's willingness to learn from the other person that makes Americans tolerant towards so many different viewpoints and tastes in things. Just because Buzz Ellis goes for chocolate malteds, while I prefer a mellow glass of beer, doesn't mean I'm right and he's wrong. Incidentally, next week I'm going to talk on how to run a newspaper.

Southern Dairies Associates With Seabrook Farms

The association of two companies well known in the frozen food industry was announced recently with a statement that the Seabrook Farms brand of quick-frozen vegetables and fruits will be distributed throughout the south-east by Southern Dairies, Inc., effective July 1.

George Smith, general sales manager for Southern Dairies, and C. Courtney Seabrook, vice president in charge of sales for Seabrook Farms Co., issued the statement jointly at a two-day orientation conference held in Philadelphia in which one hundred members of the Southern Dairies sales organization met with Seabrook personnel.

Seabrook Farms is unique in being the only operation of its kind in that it grows, processes, warehouses and transports frozen vegetables and fruits on a large scale. Annual production is 65 million pounds. Southern Dairies is the manufacturer and distributor of Sealtest ice cream and dairy products.

The territory of this distributorship covers the entire south-eastern area of the United States, touching all major markets from Maryland to Florida. Southern Dairies is one of the earliest frozen food distributors and pioneered in this field in the south. 4700 retail frosted food outlets are represented by them. These accounts will be served by 42 distributing points.

Chevrolet Dealers To Present Cars to Legion Executives

C. B. Robertson, president of the Virginia Chevrolet Dealers Association, Inc., has just announced that the Chevrolet dealers of Virginia will present new 1949 Chevrolets, four-door sedans, to both the Legion and Legion Auxiliary for the use of the Commander of the Legion and the President of the Auxiliary during their term of office, 1949-50.

Mr. Robertson also announced the appointment of W. Marshall Georgehan, president of Southside Chevrolet Co., Inc., Victoria, Va., as the committee to secure, prepare, and look after the details of the presentation of the new Chevrolets. Mr. Georgehan was the committee for the car now used by Commander Smithers which was presented to him February 26, 1949, at the Legion Home, Richmond.

It was also stated by Mr. Robertson that the Chevrolet dealers of Virginia were "glad to be of service to an organization whose members had served our country so well in time of war."

The new car will be presented after the election of the new officers at the Department Convention to be held in Danville, August 5, 6, and 7. The cars will be placed on display several days before the convention in the showroom of Wyatt-Buick Sales Company directly across the street from the Hotel Danville.

CHESAPEAKE BEACH LADIES ATTEND WORKSHOP

Three members of the Woman's Club of Chesapeake Beach, Mrs. G. T. Vellines, Mrs. R. W. Spruill, and Mrs. E. L. Cooper, attended the workshop conducted by the Sixth District of the Virginia Federation of Women's Clubs recently at the Norfolk Yacht and Country Club. Mrs. Vellines and Mrs. Cooper attended the class held for club officers and Mrs. Spruill the class on fine art.

From this famous restaurant comes a new taste thrill in SALAD DRESSINGS

MARZETTI'S

You'll want to try these two dressings that give any salad an extra lift. Both are different, unusual in taste—make those who are inclined to pick at salads, really enjoy them.

The FRENCH DRESSING is full-bodied; doesn't taste oily; mild, neither tart nor sweet, it blends equally well with any vegetable or fruit.

The SLAW DRESSING has converted thousands of our restaurant guests to cabbage slaw—even those who never before ate or liked it. Try it on your family—it's a life-saver in quick, easy to make salad they'll all like.

Outstanding favorites at our restaurant, now you can enjoy these two salad dressings on your own table.

Sir Francis Peck, of Nassau, Bahamas, and one of the top 15 men holding controlling interest in the Bahamas, was at the Princess Anne Hotel. Senator James Oliver Eastman (Dem.) of Louisiana, who has been in the Senate for 12 years stayed at the Tides Hotel, and Judge and Mrs. W. E. Queener, of Columbia, Tenn., are guests at the Martha Washington Hotel.

The man on the street can find at Virginia Beach a variety of entertainments. Night clubs with floor shows or dancing under the stars are ever popular spots. No matter what sort of club you come in contact with, though, you end up paying for it one way or another.

Probably the cheapest form of fun is a beach party. The only cover charge is one blanket. (Unless John Law catches you.)

Nevertheless, it is said that the man on the street comes here with the intention of spending money. He wants to have a good time, enjoy the beach and ocean, stay at a good hotel, and visit one or two night spots. For his money, all he expects is a nice time.

Lets see. Before he leaves here, the vacationer will be covered with sunburn. He gets it at no direct cost and is just as much a part of his dress as the clothes he wears. There really isn't much sense in getting a tan.

The sand is hard, it takes patience to get the burn evenly distributed, and the sun is hot. But he gets it.

Yet, all the while the little man in the street is spending his good American dollars, he is slyly getting something for nothing—a brown new suit.

Mr. and Mrs. Bruce Parlette, publicity-women and operators of the new Tides Hotel, started out on the right foot this season. A travel editor from one of the Northern newspapers recently wrote a short article on their hotel. Some fifteen papers picked up the story.

Guests of the Courtney Terrace can dance twice a week on the terrace or in the lobby of the hotel to the music of a Hammond organ.

Tom Feizer, All Southern Conference back at Wake Forest, is working this summer at Kitchin's Kitchen.

Doug Derringer, former sports writer for the Richmond News Leader, has resigned as publicity man for the Cavalier Resort Corporation. Derringer took over at the Cavalier early this summer. He filled the position formerly held by William Lashley, of Lawrenceville, who is now public relations director for the Virginia State Chamber of Commerce.

Derringer's successor has not been named.

Warm Weather Prospect For Holiday Weekend

Also Possibility Of Scattered Showers

There's good news today. Warmer weather, with rising temperatures is in prospect for this resort over the Fourth of July holidays, F. B. Whitney, of the Norfolk Weather Bureau, told the News today.

Although Whitney would not make any prediction as to weather conditions too far in advance, he did say that warmer weather was moving east and should hit this area over the week-end. According to the National Weather Chart westerly winds are prevailing, he said.

However, Whitney warned that there was always a possibility of occasional thunderstorms during July.

Average daily maximum temperature for the week-end would be around 89 degrees, while the average low would be about 69 degrees, he said.

Chamber Commerce Lists Ninety-Seven Hotels, Cottages

Ninety-seven hotels, cottages and tourist cabins are open at Virginia Beach this season, according to a list released by the Chamber of Commerce.

The list contains the location, rates and food plans offered by the hotels and cottages. It was prepared by the Chamber in order to fulfill the increased number of requests for information concerning hotels.

However, of the 97 listed only 18 give rates. Rates from the remainder of the hotels, according to the release, are given only upon request. This is due to the fluctuation of rates and the fact that the management prefers to give a prospective guest, through correspondence, more detailed data, one hotel official said.

Virginia has become the world center of rayon and cellophane production. The Old Dominion produces more synthetic fiber than any other state in the union, accounting for some 30 per cent of national production.

Texas Sub-Debs Take Time Out From Sight Seeing Jaunt to Play

The word moved fast. Before you could say Jim Dandy, several young men were calling on a party of Texas sub-debs staying at the Trafton-Chalfonte Hotel early this week.

The young girls were among a group of 14 who stopped at this resort for play before continuing a sight-seeing tour that has taken them around most of the country. The party, chaperoned by Miss Doris Dutton, of Oklahoma, and Mrs. C. D. Bowley, of Texas, spent two days at Virginia Beach.

"The 19-day trip," Mrs. Bowley said, "has been mostly just looking. We have visited Niagara Falls, Chicago, St. Louis, Toronto, Boston, New York, Philadelphia, Baltimore, and several other places, but Virginia Beach is the first place we have stopped that the girls have had an opportunity to play. They don't want to leave," she said.

Ranging from 14 to 17 years of age, several of the older girls had escorts at night and all spent most of their time during the day on the sand, according to Mrs. Bowley.

Commenting on the trip, Mrs. Bowley said the girls had been on the move from the word go, with most of their time taken up in viewing the sights. Despite the sweltering heat encountered on the east coast and the constant moving in order to see as much as possible, Mrs. Bowley added that the jaunt had been fun.

Smilingly she related the story of the time they stopped at the Canadian border to have their belongings checked by the customs officials. One of the inspectors, as the story goes, asked Jane Neely, of Dallas, if she had anything to declare. Jane held up five fingers, which to her meant five dollars. However, the customs agent didn't get the idea. Not to be outdone, though, he cracked: "I don't want your age little girl, just what you have to declare."

The girls, all from well-to-do families, left the Beach early Tuesday to visit historical Williamsburg. From there they planned to see the Nation's capital and afterwards to begin the long journey home.

Talent Loaded Latin Quarter Shows Promise

Frances Langford And Personality Man Give Top Performance

The grand opening of the Latin Quarter, Inc., at 16th Street and Atlantic Avenue, Monday night was a huge success, according to James Dietz, of New York, owner. Every table was taken, and the patrons were enthusiastic in their praise. The swank new club promises to become one of the leading night spots in the east.

Blonde vocalist Frances Langford climaxed a four-act floor show that moved swiftly despite the lack of time for rehearsal by the entertainers. Her soft, sentimental style brought forth sighs and on-in-lets from clubbers as she sang "I Don't Know Why I Love You Like I Do." No one seemed to mind that she dedicated the song to her husband in honor of their 11th wedding anniversary.

Except for Miss Langford and master of ceremonies George DeWitt, the show definitely manifested a little raggedness, but considering opening night jitters and the rush rehearsals it gave every indication of developing into a top flight entertainment program.

A somewhat skeptical crowd was on hand, maintaining a "show me" attitude; slightly unresponsive until DeWitt, Mr. Personality himself, eased the wondering throng back into their chairs with songs, impersonations and well-phrased jokes.

Don McGraw played a variety of danceable tunes, including rumbas and sambas from the combination bandstand and dance floor.

Comments on the handsome appearance of the club were heard from the moment guests walked into the club. The swank Latin Quarter was dressed with brilliant red curtains and beige colored drapes on the ceiling, with a white oval-shaped dance floor set up several feet off the main deck.

So You Are From Ohio or Maryland

This week the News welcomes vacationers from these two states. From this list, visitors from Ohio and Maryland might find a friend.

A spot check at the larger hotels revealed that very few vacationers from Ohio and Maryland will visit here over the holidays. However, several hotel managers did say that, during the season many visitors from these states come to Virginia Beach.

May your stay here be pleasant and without rain.

ODD MEN OUT ON A MUSICAL SPREE—Maestro Dick Jurgens (right) finds his guiding hand a futile gesture as this zany trio of Al Galante, Bob "Lungs" Henderson, and Jimmy Castle collar a mile and start rovin'. Al and Jimmy are the band's regular vocalists, while Bob handles the comedy.

Dick Jurgens and 'That Band Again' Next at Cavalier

It's holiday time again—and with holiday vacationers heading for the seashore, it's "that band again," as Dick Jurgens and his orchestra move into the showboat bandstand of the Cavalier Beach and Cabana Club for a week beginning July 1.

Jurgens, a favorite with Virginia Beach visitors and pleasure seekers, as well as the entire listening and dancing public over the nation, rides in on the crest of what is expected to be one of the biggest July Fourth celebrations in the history of the Old Dominion's No. 1 resort. He'll be right in character, too, for he already is established as the top favorite of fans here. Last year Jurgens set an all-time attendance record over the July Fourth holiday period, filling the Cavalier Beach Club's open deck to overflowing every night of his engagement.

Fans will need no introduction to the Dick Jurgens brand of dance and novelty music. The maestro from the West Coast, who, incidentally, has been an East Coast favorite since before the war, features a mixture of melody which is varied enough to suit every taste. Predominantly "sweet," the versatile group can and does go to town on a few jump and novelty entertainment numbers. The leader often joins in with a little trumpet work, but his forte is leading and directing his own arrangements and a number of his own compositions.

Formed in 1933 on the West Coast, the Jurgens band rode a series of hit tunes from the maestro's pen right to the top spots in the nation. "Elmer's Tune," "One Dozen Roses," "Cecelia," and many others took them on a coo's tour of the nation's night spots.

Pungorettes Added To Organized Girls Softball League

Ally Cohen has been made president of the newly-organized Girls Softball League. The league was reorganized early this week when a team dropped out of the league.

The Pungorettes have been added to the league. In their first game, the new team defeated Jards' 19 to 10, while Forbes' Sweeties edged Shelly's 8 to 6.

The games were the first to be played since the league change-over. The girls will play every Friday night at the Virginia Beach playground.

Members of the Board of Governors are J. E. Winalow, J. A. Carroll, R. (Duck) Reid, and E. W. Smith.

Cavalier Beach Club Inaugurates Dinner Service Tonight

The Cavalier Beach Club will begin serving dinner tonight on the open deck and in the Panorama Room. Dinners will be available through the remainder of the season. Burkes Hammer, manager of the club, said.

Smith, Fiveash Among Top Four In Jr. Golf Event

Two young Virginia Beach golfers, Frank Smith, Jr., and Joe Fiveash, were among the top four in the Junior Virginia Amateur Golf Tournament held at Lynnhurst this week. Both boys will be eligible to participate in the National Junior Tournament to be held in Houston, Texas, this summer.

Frank Smith, Jr., carded scores of 76 and 74 for a total of 150 to place second. He was six strokes off the winning score of 144 posted by Ernest Eanes, Jr., of Martinsville.

Eanes, who is seventeen years old and is No. 1 man on the Martinsville High School golf squad, has been playing golf only three years. This was his second try for tournament honors.

Joe Fiveash, Jr., blew up completely on the final nine holes to post an 80, after taking the lead in the first round of the tournament with a 73 on the par 66 course.

Craig Slinguff and Tommy Kernan, both of Virginia Beach, finished with a 154 and 164 respectively.

The nation's first plant for commercial production of streptomycin is located at Elkton, Virginia, in the Shenandoah Valley, operated by Merck and Company.

By Ted Keating

Sharks dangerous? Phooey! Everyone knows that if you splash a little water, they'll go away. Tourists who have watched native diving boys practically shoulder aside sharks know they aren't man-eating.

But debunkers notwithstanding, zoologist and writer Horace S. Maset, warns that sometimes the shark is a man-eater. He has for many years collected reports of shark attacks, and of these a representative score of well authenticated cases stand up under the most searching scrutiny.

During the war, harrowing tales of shark attacks on battle survivors came from the South Pacific. These accounts are so blood-curdling the recital of them makes your hair stand on end.

Here's a mild example, as reported by second Engineer John Lopipara of the SS Edward T. Meredith: "I saw sharks grab two Negroes from the Cape San Juan who were hanging onto life rafts, and bite off half their bodies. There were a few bubbles and the Negroes went down. They couldn't even put up a battle." No more dramatic or conclusive proof of the power of shark jaws can be offered.

Ship's Surgeon Lt. Comdr. John Bowers, USS Meredith, writes: "The statement that dark-colored objects are not attacked is not true, for we were covered with oil and yet attacked. Also, the men attacked were not bleeding."

There are, it is true, grounds for belief that sharks are cowardly, easily scared and usually timid creatures, under normal circumstances. This is admitted by all who are familiar with the big fish and their habits. But evidence indicates that sharks will snap at a tasty bit of human flesh if it is available.

THE RADIO ROGUES—Appearing at the Dunes Club through the holidays, the Radio Rogues do impersonations of some 28 of the country's past and present celebrities. There were three—now there are but two of the Rogues. The man pictured above at center is no longer with the team.

Yet this doesn't mean that all sharks are deadly, all latitudes and waters equally dangerous. The contrary is true. Of all the 200-odd species of true sharks in the seven seas, only the whaler, tiger shark, hammerhead shark, gray nurse, blue pointer and the great white shark are definitely known to be man-eating, and these are all tropical and sub-tropical fish. Add the blue shark and the brown shark, and you've about exhausted the list.

It is quite impossible, of course, to distinguish the species of shark which may be cruising along the surface. So it's a good idea to give the shark all the benefit of the doubt—avoid all contact. If a curious shark cannot be avoided, vigorous splashing and kicking may be sufficient to discourage closer investigation. It has done so on many a past occasion.

Virginia had the world's first large-scale nylon factory—it is located at Martinsville, Virginia and operated by the duPont Company.

CLOSED JULY 4th

State Highway Department to Restrict Additions to Secondary System Due
To Limitations of Available Funds

New policies, effective July 1, governing road additions to the secondary highway system were announced today by the State Highway Department.

The policies were adopted after a study of more than a year's duration, the department said, and after consultation with county boards of supervisors throughout the State.

The purpose of the new policies, a department spokesman said, is to restrict additions to those which can be maintained and improved with available funds.

A "dual limitation" is placed on mileage which can be added. The mileage added during any one year cannot exceed one per cent of each county's total secondary mileage. Further, the funds required to maintain and improve new mileage cannot exceed five per cent of each county's total secondary improvement fund.

(The improvement fund is that portion of each county's regular secondary allocation remaining after provision has been made for maintenance and maintenance replacements on the secondary roads of the county.)

The limitations are in line with those suggested by the supervisors, the department said. (The supervisors share a joint responsibility with the State for additions since under the law no road may be added unless recommended by the supervisors. Also, the supervisors must approve the county's secondary road budget when it is adopted at the beginning of each fiscal year.)

In another new policy, the department said new additions will be made effective only at the beginning of each fiscal year. It was explained that this will make it possible to set aside funds to maintain the new additions at the time when budgets are prepared for each fiscal year.

Of particular significance is a new policy concerning the addition of subdivision streets to the system. The department said these additions will be approved only when the streets are constructed to standards established by the Highway Commissioner.

The standards require that the streets be paved to a width of 20 feet, with a 40-foot right-of-way. Drainage, surface depth, and other technical features must meet department specifications.

This requirement, the department explained, will serve to protect the property owner who buys a home or lot in a subdivision before the streets are properly paved.

The department said its engineers have studied the development of these policies for more than a year. They were first discussed at a meeting of State engineers with officials from several counties. This meeting was followed with a letter to all boards of supervisors, in which the supervisors were invited to offer suggestions.

At the Virginia Highway Conference in Lexington last fall, the problem of additions was discussed by county and state representatives. The new policies, said the department, are in line with those presented by the county officials.

Good roads, fast pick-up by scheduled trucks and cooperation of farmers in building the dairy products industry into Virginia's most important outlet for farm products. According to the State Department of Agriculture, dairying has surpassed tobacco farming as a source of cash income for Virginians.

Police Chief Johnson Commends Record July Fourth Crowds on Orderliness

Restaurants and Hotels Pleased with Business Handled

It was a Glorious Fourth for everyone concerned at Virginia Beach.

Observers are unanimous in the opinion that the crowd was the largest in the history of the resort; some estimating it as high as 100,000 at the peak of the holiday. Moreover, according to Lawrence Lockwood, town manager, and Reeves E. Johnson, chief of police, it was an orderly crowd.

Arrests for boisterousness and disorderliness were at a minimum, with some 15 taken in on Saturday and another 20 or so during the balance of the holiday.

The greatest headache for the police department was traffic, for the majority of the Virginia Beach by motor car. At one time Saturday afternoon, 16 cars had to be towed off the Norfolk Southern tracks on Pacific Avenue to make way for the train.

Speeding on Atlantic Avenue became a virtual impossibility so dense was the traffic.

All night spots did a full house business, with the beach clubs playing to capacity crowds. All brands of entertainment were available to the pleasure seeking crowds, who entered into the spirit of the occasion to the fullest extent.

Hotels were booked to capacity for the long week-end, and the smaller cottages on the side streets enjoyed a land office business.

Restaurants also reported excellent business conditions prevailed throughout the three-day period. James Kontopant, of the Normandie Restaurant, said that business with the restaurants was better than during any previous holiday.

The fireworks display was an elaborate affair featuring among other sensations a new jet-propelled contraption that thrilled and chilled the spectators. Chief Johnson said that the crowd that witnessed the pyrotechnics was the largest he has seen at Virginia Beach.

The beach and the country were free of fatalities. Accidents were at a minimum, and while some swimmers were pulled out of the waves by alert Beach Patrolmen none was seriously affected.

The Virginia Beach Hospital was prepared for any emergency, and were relieved when the long week-end ended that none had developed. Miss Harriet Aylstock, superintendent of the hospital, said that several were treated for broken bones, bruises and cuts, all attributable to the holiday celebration, but that none was serious.

Fishermen were prominent in the holiday news, and the first bonita of the year was hooked off the Cape Henry wreck—a 60-pound fighter that took the combined efforts of the party to bring it into the boat. Flounder were also running in quantity. Small craft warnings displayed Saturday were taken down and the week-end provided good boating weather.

All in all, everyone seemed to be happy about the whole thing.

Bible Lectures Being Given at Oceana

A series of four Bible lectures are being given during the month of July at the home of Mrs. H. E. Mills, Michigan Ave., Oceana, on Sundays at 3 p.m.

Sunday, July 10, J. M. Mountford, Watchtower representative, will speak on "God's Day of Rest." "Can Religion Be Divided House United" will be answered by Milton H. Jones, July 17, and Nathan A. Hodges will tell "Why the Bible Has Endured" July 24.

State Postmasters To Convene At Natural Bridge

Largest Group Ever To Gather Expected At Two-Day Meet

Present information indicates that more postmasters will get together at Natural Bridge July 13-15 this year than have ever before assembled for any one meeting in Virginia, according to Virginia Beach Postmaster W. R. M. Moss. Mr. Moss is county director for Princess Anne County for the Virginia Chapter National Association of Postmasters. The occasion will be the annual chapter convention which includes postmasters from offices of every class from all over Virginia.

C. H. Drinkard, of Bristol, state president, has arranged a program of instruction and entertainment which he says should appeal to every postmaster who wants to be a better postmaster, as well as to those who are primarily interested in a few days of vacation and fun. Mr. Drinkard says the State Chapter has the largest membership. It has ever had, and should number at least 1,000 postmaster by convention time.

Among the speakers scheduled for the convention are Burris C. Jackson, of Hillsboro, Texas, president of the National Association of Postmasters; Miss Pearl Linville, of North Carolina, national vice president; Paul Alken, second assistant Postmaster General; William B. Allen, special assistant to the Postmaster General; M. J. McAuliffe, regional director Civil Service Commission; Senator Byrd; Congressman Burr F. Harrison; Central Accounting Postmaster Fergus McRae, of Richmond, member National Executive Committee, and A. S. Dinwiddie, superintendent of Postal Finance of the Central Accounting Office, Richmond, as well as several other officials of the post office department.

Judge Kellam Adds Support to Woman's Club County Fair

Judge Floyd E. Kellam has added his support to the Princess Anne County Fair which the Woman's Club is sponsoring in September.

In a letter to Mrs. James McMenamin, who is chairman of the ways and means committee planning the fair, Judge Kellam said that he was "delighted" to know that the Woman's Club was sponsoring the fair, and that he believed that the "project will be of untold benefit to the people of the county."

Mrs. McMenamin's committee will meet next week for further advancement of plans already far advanced for the fair.

NG Gives Notice of Anti-Aircraft Firing At Story, Pendleton

There will be anti-aircraft firing by the Virginia National Guard and the District of Columbia National Guard from Fort Story, Virginia, and Camp Pendleton, Virginia, from 8:00 a.m. to 5:00 p.m. (0800-1700 Hours) Eastern Standard Time on the following dates: July 13, 14, 15, 18, 20, and 21, 1949; August 3, 4, 5, 8, 9, 10, 11, and 12, 1949.

Danger Areas:

All of the sea surface and air to an altitude of 65,000 feet within the above described limits lies within the danger area.

All surface craft and air-craft are warned to remain outside of the two above described areas on the hours and dates shown above.

Capt. Black to Speak At Jaycee Meeting Tuesday Night

The Virginia Beach Junior Chamber of Commerce will hold a meeting at 8 o'clock Tuesday night at the National Bank of Commerce.

Captain Lex N. Black, USN, commanding officer at the Oceana Air Base, and his executive officer will be guest speakers, according to a spokesman from the Jaycees.

Pvt. Pritchard Completes Two Weeks Course At Firing Range in Japan

Pvt. Clinton J. Pritchard, Jr., son of Mr. and Mrs. Clinton J. Pritchard, of 318 29th Street, has completed two intensive weeks of machine-gun firing at the anti-aircraft firing range at Katsukai, Japan, after 13 weeks of preparation and training with the 665th AAA Automatic Weapons Battalion.

Opportunity Bond Drive in County Near $20,000 Goal

Only $200 Needed To Make Goal; July 18 Is End of Drive

Princess Anne County has a little more than two hundred dollars to go before it reaches the $20,000 goal set in the Opportunity Bond Drive, according to word received here.

Clairborne Bryant, chairman for the county drive, said that he was confident that Princess Anne County and Virginia Beach would experience no difficulty in achieving the goal.

Virginia's Savings Bonds sales to June 25 totaled $12,324,818, against a quota of $16,100,000. These figures have been released by the State Director's office. The accounting period for the drive ends July 18, it was pointed out by C. H. Edwards, state director. Reports of sales that reach the Federal Reserve on or before the close of business July 18 will be credited against county and city quotas.

According to official tabulations, fourteen Virginia counties are well over the top of their quota, with at least twenty-five other counties well within reach of their quota. Other areas may have made their quota that are not reflected in the official tabulation, due to the time consumed between sales and Federal Reserve reports. Committees of the following areas are officially over the top: Amelia, Bath, Bland, Buchanan, Buena Vista, Albemarle, Giles, Greene, Hopewell and Prince George; Isle of Wight, Mathews, Middlesex, Northampton, Portsmouth and Norfolk County.

"We confidently expect sales reports between now and the end of the accounting period, July 18, will narrow the gap between total sales and quotas in a large number of counties and cities, thus enabling Virginia to meet her E Bond quota for the drive of $16,100,000," said Director Edwards.

Three County Youths To Go To Boys State

Three Princess Anne County boys will go to Boys State at Blacksburg, sponsored by Post 113 of the American Legion. The young men, representatives of the three high schools in the county, are Richard Asolom, of London Bridge, from Oceana High School; Theodore Shreve, of Lynnhaven, from Kempsville High School; and Eugene Flemming, Creeds High School. Boys State is held annually. It begins July 17.

The boys were picked by the student body of the schools with the faculty assisting. They were judged for leadership and scholarship.

The American Legion pays all of the expenses of the trip.

Mobile X-Ray Unit To Be Set Up On Lot Of Colonial Stores

The mobile X-ray unit, of the American Red Cross, will be at the Colonial Store parking lot on 31st Street for X-rays next Wednesday, July 13. The public is urged to take advantage of the service and to assure themselves that they are free of tuberculosis.

The hours when X-rays are available are: 10:30 to 1 p.m. and 2 to 5 p.m., according to Mrs. Frances Brickhouse, who made the announcement. Mrs. Brickhouse said that she hoped guests at the hotels of the resort as well as local residents would visit the mobile unit.

Beaches and Travel Business Take Up Employment Slack

Loss of employment in Virginia industries has been more than offset during the last month by increased employment among those serving the vacation and travel business of the Old Dominion, the Virginia Travel Council reported today. Virginia's travel business during the first six months of 1949 has been approximately 10 per cent better than in any previous period in her history, the Council reported.

Factors involved include the addition of more than 4,000 seasonal employees in beach and mountain resorts and in industries first enjoying the travel dollar. In addition, the Council estimated that the increase in number of establishments has added several hundred permanent employees to travel supported businesses. The gross employment increase over a year ago is estimated "conservatively" at 6,000.

The Council explained that no consideration has been given to employment in the filling stations, groceries and similar industries only partially dependent on out-of-state travel. These figures are considered very conservative, the Council stated, but as much of the employment in the travel industry does not go through employment offices, accurate figures are hard to estimate.

A record flow of out-of-state travel has been enjoyed by Virginia during the first half of the year, despite heavy competition from other states. Private business in Virginia has expended more than 50 per cent more for advertising during this period than during a similar period last year.

Despite early season reports that travelers would have less to spend, early season indications are that while shopping for good values in vacation facilities is prevalent, the traveler still has as much if not more money for vacation purposes than a year ago. Few of the higher priced resorts have enjoyed less than last year's volume of business. A large increase in the middle and moderate priced facilities in the state has caused some "spottiness" in business, especially from Florida where $2,000,000 is being expended to attract summer business. has attracted much business away from Virginia. Virginia interests are working hard to replace it.

There are plenty of facilities for the vacationist still available, but there are good crowds in all of our recreational areas.

Steady Increase in Operating Expenses Year by Year Noted

Consideration of the town's budget, and its adoption, will be the principal order of business at the town council meeting Tuesday, July 12, according to Town Manager Lawrence Lockwood.

Tentative budgets were given members of the council at the last meeting, but were not made public at the time.

Although figures are not available, it is probable that a total of the budget will be more than last year's $683,350 estimated outlay. The budget has shown a steady growth over the years. In 1946-47, it was $415,050; in 1947-48, it jumped to $501,650. Last year's budget (the one the town is operating under at the present time) was a $102,000 jump.

Current taxes in the present operating year were estimated at $177,000. Because of the increased assessments in the town and because of new construction, it is anticipated that the current revenue figure for the next fiscal year will show a considerable increase over that figure, even though the promised tax rate decrease materializes.

Mr. Lockwood, in his pre-bond referendum addresses, stressed the fact that the increase in real property assessments was to enable the town to float the loan, since it was then at the legal limit of 18 per cent for bonded indebtedness. The tax rate, he declared, would be cut proportionately, so that dollar taxes to the individual taxpayer would not increase.

Another expected increase is in business licenses, which last year brought in an estimated $55,000, according to the budget anticipations. During the year business have been on the increase, and license ordinances augmented and added to.

The council meets in the Town Hall, at 4 p.m. the second Tuesday of each month.

THE REV. MR. FORRESTER TO BE GUEST MINISTER AT OCEANA METHODIST CHURCH

The Rev. G. T. Forrester will be guest minister for the Oceana Methodist Church next Sunday in the absence of the pastor, who is vacationing in the mountains of Virginia.

Suggestion Boxes Being Placed by Junior Women

Suggestion boxes, with the invitation "We Invite Your Suggestions for a Better Virginia Beach" this week were distributed by the Junior Women's Club of Princess Anne County, as a part of their community betterment campaign. The suggestion boxes are being placed by the Juniors in prominent spots about town where both tourists and local residents may take advantage of them. Pads and pencils accompany each box.

The Junior Women will work in cooperation with the Chamber of Commerce on the project.

The committee handling the boxes is headed by Mrs. R. Lynn Kennett and Mrs. W. A. Smith, Jr., co-chairmen. Their committee is composed of Mrs. E. L. Taylor, Mrs. E. W. Smith, Mrs. E. L. Simpson, Mrs. E. B. Ramey, Mrs. P. A. Croonenberghs, Mrs. W. H. Snider, Mrs. J. T. Kopp, and Mrs. T. B. Ayers, Jr.

Mrs. Kennett said that any hotel or restaurant desiring a suggestion box might obtain one by calling her or a member of the committee.

BUTTON, BUTTON, WHO'S SEEN A REPUBLICAN?

An interesting light was thrown on local political tactics recently by the appointment of clerks and judges for the Republican primary, to be held the same day as the Democratic primary and in the same room.

Letters of appointment for the post in the Virginia Beach precinct arrived as a surprise last week to two citizens who had previously run for office in opposition to the Inc. and to a third citizen suspected of being opposed to the group in power. The funny part is that all three are out-spoken, lifelong Democrats . . . born, 'ris, and hope-to-die Democrats.

The letters, from the head of the county's electoral board, stated in effect that when insufficient Republicans are available to serve in the post of clerk (or judge) at the primary, that the electoral board may at its discretion appoint Democrats, and that the appointed Democrats are liable to a fine of $100 if they do not appear (unless, of course, there is some good reason).

Now this is all very fine, and very legal. And if there really were no Republicans in the Virginia Beach precinct, it would be according to Hoyte.

Where the question arises as to the motive of the local politicians' appointment of two avowed opponents is that there are Republicans aplenty in the precinct.

Lets take a look at last year's voting results in the National election, held November 3, 1948. In the County of Princess Anne, there were 1339 votes cast for Governor Dewey. Say that a third of these were anti-Truman, that would still leave around 900 county Republicans. Now lets look at the result in the Virginia Beach precinct. There were 486 Dewey votes. Apply the third for disgruntled anti-Trumanites and you still have approximately 350 Republicans in Virginia Beach.

So it follows by logical reasoning that there are many who would be eligible to serve as clerks and judges, without the need to call in Democrats.

As to the motive in naming these men, it would appear to be an attempt to convince the electorate, who would see them serving as Republicans, that they were just fooling when they represented themselves as Democrats in previous elections.

Could it be that they fear them for their strength?

Personally, the News thinks highly of Republicans, and does not believe that it would affect our feelings for these men. Nevertheless, one's political views are much like one's own name—it is a personal thing and one does not want any other person making a mistake about it.

WHA' HOPPIN'

The News, like most of the citizens of Virginia Beach and Princess Anne County, was aware that things were wide open everywhere last week-end. Mixed drinks were being sold at boardwalk spots; slot machines were placed advantageously at almost every available spot; the race-horse boys played to full houses; the night club gambling casinos were packed.

None seemed to be bothered at all by threats of law enforcement. The spirit of leniency on the part of law enforcement agencies seemed to be transcending in the town and in the county.

Only one unfortunate spot got taken over for the cops for being naughty . . . a raid suddenly materialized, and the owner held for violation of the ABC laws because two or three customers had brought in a bottle and placed it under the table in approved fashion. It was just a little establishment, doesn't even have a beer license.

Incidentally, the arresting officers allegedly enjoyed themselves playing the slot machines, even sending out for a new supply of nickels before making their arrest for an ABC violation.

LOOKING BACK

TWENTY-ONE YEARS AGO — JULY 6, 1928

Like all editions following the Fourth of July, the Virginia Beach Weekly's July 6, 1928, issue played up the big celebration at the Beach. Their headline, however, was different. It read "Police Entertain Many Guests for Glorious Fourth in Local Jail." The story continued that accommodations were taxed to the limit, and that the local judge was on duty at the jail all night to allow those out on bail who deserved it.

The incident creating most excitement, however, at the busy police department, was the loss of the court docket. Police deduced that a holiday celebrant with a souvenir complex might have added it to his collection.

C. Wade Kornegay was installed as second president of the Virginia Beach Rotary Club to succeed R. E. Barco, vice president; C. J. Curtis, treasurer; and Arthur Massey, sergeant-at-arms. The board of directors consisted of J. B. Day, F. H. Scattergood, R. B. Taylor, and C. E. Winn.

At the Roland Theatre, "The Student Prince," with Norma Shearer and Ramon Navarro was playing. The publicity blurb characterized the movie as "one of the world's simplest and most appealing love stories," and added that it required one of the most lavish and expensive settings ever built for a film.

Behind the Scenes in American Business

By Reynolds Knight

New York—One of the great classics of economic literature is a book called "Extraordinary Popular Delusions and the Madness of Crowds."

It contains fascinating accounts of such hysterical booms as the Tulip Mania in Holland, the South Sea Bubble in England, and that great inflation in France known as the Mississippi Bubble.

The stern moral to be drawn from the book is that mass opinion on the future course of anything economic is almost invariably wrong. Now the Federal Reserve has come along with a lesser, though just as impressive proof of the errors of popular, temporary judgments. In early 1948, the survey shows, the great percentage of people thought that prices would continue to rise. One year later there was the price break of early 1947. This time the great percentage of people, when asked their opinion of the future, thought prices would fall. Instead, prices rose, so that a year later the majority was, once again assuming the title only direction was up. Now, in the midst of falling prices, 55 per cent of the people think prices will continue to decline; only eight per cent expect a rise. So, if past experience is any guide, you can look for a reversal of the present trend and merchants will experience a revival of buying.

Co-Pilot—There will be a lot of fuss and feathers—and rightly so—this summer over TWA's twentieth anniversary of its transcontinental service. In 1928, Transcontinental Air Transport, daddy of Trans World Airline, hooked up with Pennsylvania Railroad to make it possible to travel days in the air and nights on the rails to cross the continent in the then incredible time of 48 hours! But we wonder how many know that perhaps the single most important personal factor in the line's development has been a former co-pilot of its competitor, American Airlines. That would be Howard Hughes, who became interested in commercial aviation in 1932. Under the assumed name of Charles Howard he talked himself into a job with American to learn the business from the ground up. In 1939, he bought a controlling interest in TWA, personally guaranteeing payment for the line's new Stratoliners, first four-engine transports in commercial aviation. Since then the fabulous financier has made tens of millions available to help TWA over the rough spots. And it was largely he who conceived the giant, 300-mile-a-hour Constellation which has enabled TWA to shave that 48-hour transcontinental journey of 30 years ago to less than 10 hours today.

THINGS TO COME—To gladden the housewife's heart, here's a miniature, old-fashioned coffee mill that grinds pepper coarsely or fine . . . and new salad bowls made of birchwood that are washable and liquid proof, and will not stain from oils, alcohol or water . . . also, the device for which millions have yearned: a ketchup bottle out of which you can get ketchup; a sardine ration out just the right amount, no more nor less . . . And if you're going prospectively while on vacation, there's a Geiger counter no larger than a camera that will show you if you are near atomic material and a fortune . . . More practical, perhaps, is the new Westinghouse waffle-baker with a built-in rim to catch the overflow . . . If you own a railroad or only cross the tracks you'll be glad to know there's a new sytating warning light for speedy Diesel locomotives that flashes red automatically when the train stops . . . By using plastic for the handles, a manufacturer is able to offer new plinking shears at half the weight of all-metal ones.

TAX POLI—Newspaper reports quote Congressional leaders as being convinced that there must not only be no increase in taxes, but that numerous wartime excise levies must be reduced or eliminated in order to stimulate consumer buying. Consumers apparently feel the same way judging from results of a recent poll taken among labor union members at Cleveland by Schenley Industries, Inc. An overwhelming percentage of those casting "tax ballots"—91 per cent to be exact—favored immediate reduction of so-called "luxury" taxes on such items as cosmetics, alcoholic beverages, movie admissions, rail and airplane tickets and cabaret checks. Union members gathered in the poll, many of whom are employed in consumer goods industries, said lowering the war-emergency taxes would increase their own buying power and at the same time make their jobs more secure. The taxes, which take from 15 to 48 per cent of the price of the various items and services, were favored by only 15 per cent of the men and women who cast ballots. Since both Congress and consumers appear to be in accord we may soon see a reduction in such levies—especially since revenues on nearly all of them have fallen off sharply, indicating a growing reluctance to pay on the part of the buying public.

RITS O' BUSINESS—Maybe it's a cloud no bigger than a man's hand, but there are signs that industry is stepping up its hiring. Even from Bridgeport, Conn., which was hard hit employment-wise, comes word that this fall will see an upturn in industrial activity and jobs . . . Despite a probable surplus in tin, the government is going to continue to give foreign producers a high price for the metal, says Washington . . . Truman is now studying the mid-year report of his economists. Last time they told him inflation was the problem, now it's deflation . . . Employment in the aircraft manufacturing industry is rising as military plans move to the plant level . . . Lower prices have spurred consumption of canned fruits . . . Railroads may lower their freight charges on Florida citrus fruits to meet competition of trucks.

Many Virginian manufacturing enterprises are built on Virginia's agriculture. Among these are vegetable canneries, container factories, peanut confections, tobacco manufacturing machinery, fertilizer plants, flour mills, poultry processing and meat processing plants.

WRONG ONE SKINNED

The wife's new fur coat had just been delivered, and she was in ecstasies of delight admiring it. But suddenly a look of sadness replaced her happy expression. "What's the matter?" asked her husband, "Aren't you satisfied with it?" "Oh, yes," she replied, "but I just can't help feeling sorry for the poor creature that was skinned." "Thanks!" replied hubby.

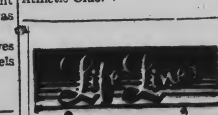

W. T. Jarvis was appointed one of six general agents in the State of Virginia for the Yorkshire Indemnity Company of New York. The Weekly reported that the county had just about completed its roads program. More than $38,227 was spent in a month.

The second regatta of the season was scheduled for July 15.

A report of the Mosquito Control Board said that cost to residents was $5,000 for the season. W. J. Murphy, in charge of the work, reported he was confident that the group would continue to give satisfactory freedom from mosquitoes.

Grocery stores were advertising a hard at two pounds for 35 cents; popular brand cigarettes, two packs for 25 cents; and new potatoes, 15 pounds for 15 cents.

The Charity Ball Team was defeated 11-4 by the Virginia Beach Athletic Club.

Recent Ruling of Supreme Court of Appeals Does Not Curtail Discretionary Powers of State's Commissioner of Division of Motor Vehicles

Richmond, Va.—The Division of Motor Vehicles calls to the attention of motorists a recent decision of the Virginia Supreme Court of Appeals in the case of "C. F. Joyner, Commissioner, vs. Butler."

which appears to have been misinterpreted by a number of people, in that they have received the impression the Butler decision greatly curtails the discretionary powers of the Commissioner of the Division of Motor Vehicles with reference to the suspension of the privilege to register motor vehicles in Virginia, and the right to operate a motor vehicle over the highways of this State.

The decision in question does not in fact disturb the powers of the Commissioner. It merely laid down a rule that convictions for the violation of the motor vehicle laws do not necessarily constitute sufficient grounds for suspension; if the convictions were for violations which in their nature made of the violator a hazard to other people on the highways, a suspension is justified.

Section 19 of the Motor Vehicle Safety Responsibility Act reads in part as follows:

"Upon any reasonable ground appearing in the records of the Division, the Commissioner may, when he deems it necessary for the safety of the public on the highways of this State, and after notice and hearing . . . suspend or revoke the operator's or chauffeur's license of any person who is a violator of the provisions of the Motor Vehicle Code . . ."

In the Butler case, Mr. Butler's operator's license and registration privileges were suspended for one year by the Commissioner following a hearing before one of the Hearing Officers of the Division of Motor Vehicles. Butler then filed a petition in the Circuit Court of Mecklenburg County for a "Review" of the Commissioner's action. The Trial Judge held that the matter should be tried de novo, and before a jury. After the evidence was in the jury retired and brought in a verdict sustaining the action of the Commissioner. Mr. Butler then appealed to the Supreme Court of Appeals.

The opinion of the case was written by Mr. Justice Staples, in which the constitutionality of the Act was upheld. The case was however remanded for a new trial with the statement that the trial court erred in trying the case de novo and with a jury; the opinion holding that a trial court in such a case is limited to "reviewing" the action of the Commissioner, with the court having the right to hear such additional evidence as it considers necessary. The opinion held, in effect, that the purpose of the Safety Responsibility Act is to protect the public, and therefore violations of the motor vehicle laws are not per se a ground for suspension; if however such violations are of the sort that were dangerous, and constituted a hazard to other users of the highways, then such violations justify a suspension.

The question, "When is the Commissioner of the Division of Motor Vehicles justified in entering a suspension order?" was recently considered and answered by Honorable Richard T. Wilson, sitting in the Circuit Court of Chesterfield County, where he reviewed the action of the Commissioner in the case of C. J. Joyner, Jr., vs. George Hulon Dempsey, growing out of the suspension of Dempsey's operating license by the Commissioner. That opinion reads verbatim as follows:

"It must be borne in mind what this proceeding is, and also what it is not. This is not a criminal proceeding under which the petitioner could be fined. It is, as stated by section of the Code 2154(a2), a review of the order or act of the Commissioner; that is what it is, and that is all it is. Now, if you will look back at section 2154(a19) which states that 'upon any reasonable ground appearing in the records of the Division, the Commissioner may, when he deems it necessary for the safety of the public on the highways of this State, and after notice, etc., suspend or revoke for a period not to exceed five years . . . the operator's or chauffeur's license of any person'; etc.

"That section gives to the Commissioner a certain discretion. It says the Commissioner may—it does not say he has to for any particular reason—but when in the opinion of the Commissioner, the records of his office cause the Commissioner to think that for the safety of the people a person's license should be revoked, then the Commissioner may act.

"The evidence in this case does not impress me that the Commissioner was arbitrary at all in his action. On the contrary, I feel that the evidence amply justified the Commissioner in the action he took. I might add this, that I think the Commissioner would have been justified in suspending the license of the petitioner upon one act, that of going through the Belt Boulevard at sixty miles per hour. If anyone knows that intersection as I do, they are bound to conclude that anybody who went through that intersection at sixty miles per hour had a reckless disregard for human life. If a car was coming on Belt Boulevard either way, it couldn't stop unless he commenced to put on brakes right far up the road. In reviewing this case, I think the Commissioner has been very lenient with this man in not suspending for more than three months. I think he should consider himself fortunate in that the Commissioner was rather lenient with him.

"The Commissioner, as well as the Courts, should give every man a fair hearing, but when the evidence justifies it, it is the duty of the Commissioner and the Courts, to try to protect the people of the State of Virginia from people who drive in such a way as might hurt, injure or kill them. This is not a question of how many times a man was convicted. The evidence indicates that whenever this man had an accident he goes to his insurance company and says 'here is an accident I had; settle it' and goes on and maybe has another one. This is the very type of man who should be taught a lesson, not only for his own sake, but for the sake and protection of other people who drive and the pedestrians as well. I confirm the action of the Commissioner and suspend his license for a period of three months, effective as of today."

The gist of the two opinions mentioned above, and of opinions in similar cases, according to DMV legal authorities, in no way curtail the powers of the Commissioner where his action was not arbitrary; on the contrary, they seem to indicate clearly that if a man's driving methods are such as to constitute a hazard to other people, a suspension is justified and should be resorted to by the Commissioner of the Division of Motor Vehicles.

A STORY ABOUT LOCOMOTIVES

POWER

FOR TODAY AND TOMORROW!

The Norfolk and Western's main line crosses three steep ranges of the Blue Ridge and Allegheny Mountains. Scores of heavy tonnage freight trains and passenger trains are moving over these mountains day and night with clock-like regularity. It's a job that requires powerful, modern locomotives.

The N. & W. has that power today, and will have more tomorrow. Last year, the railroad built ten new, coal-burning steam freight locomotives; this year, twelve more are being built; next year, thirteen more freight and passenger locomotives will be completed — all designed and constructed from the ground up by N. & W. craftsmen in the railroad's Roanoke, Va., shops, where all of the road's locomotives have been built for the past twenty-two years.

Each of the small drawings above represents a locomotive now in service on this railroad — 528, including all types, less than half the number owned twenty-seven years ago. But this smaller number of locomotives is handling today more than twice the volume of freight (measured by ton miles) than was handled twenty-seven years ago. The answer . . . is better locomotives — painstaking research, better designs, greater power, greater availability, greater efficiency, plus constantly improved operating methods.

The Norfolk and Western is proud of its modern, coal-burning steam locomotives. Their record speaks for itself. For example, in 1948, the railroad handled more ton-miles of freight per train hour than any American railroad one thousand miles or more in length. In 1948, N. & W.'s fast Class A freight locomotives handled more than twice the gross ton miles of freight per train hour than the average of the road freight Diesels of all Class I railroads in America. In 1948, the N. & W.'s streamlined Class J passenger locomotives averaged more mileage per engine per day than the passenger Diesels of all Class I railroads in the country.

The job of building N. & W. locomotives is large in scope and exacting in detail, requiring constant research, the efforts of many trained minds and hands, and the finest machines and materials.

The Norfolk and Western's continuing program of locomotive construction reflects the will of this railroad to provide constantly improved service in moving freight and passengers swiftly and safely. And it reflects the railroad's confidence in the continued development and progress of the territory it is privileged to serve.

Elizabeth Mary Smith to Wed G. B. Smith, Jr., in August

Mr. and Mrs. Roy Smith, of Virginia Beach, announce the engagement of their daughter, Miss Elizabeth Mary Smith, to George Bernard Smith, Jr., son of Mr. and Mrs. George Bernard Smith, of Lynnhaven.

Miss Smith is a graduate of Randolph Macon Woman's College, Lynchburg, where she was a member of Kappa Delta sorority.

Mr. Smith, who served as a second lieutenant in the United States Army during World War II, has resumed his studies at the Virginia Military Institute.

The wedding will take place in August.

Here's how to revive appetites wilted by weather. Serve a surprise dish—a real "paleo panperer" at every meal. Want to try some of my ideas? They're all taste-ticklers. And they'll save you time and money too!

EASY WAY TO PLEASE

During warm weather sandwiches are "king"—and I always keep a supply of MEL-O-BIT CHEESE on hand, so I can concoct all kinds of tempting sandwiches at a moment's notice. Mel-O-Bit is, nourishing and thrifty—it's an A&P exclusive. Try it sliced or grated and mixed with Ann Page Prepared Mustard and Ann Page Salad Dressing or Mayonnaise. Add chopped, hard-cooked eggs if you like, or Ann Page Olives. It's wonderful how A&P skin's dress up your lunches and they're all so very thrifty, too!

CHILLS 'N THRILLS

When the heat's getting everyone down, that's your cue to come up with a JANE PARKER ANGEL FOOD RING from A&P. It's fluffy, fresh, snowy-light—delicious. And doubly refreshing when you fill the center with sliced fresh fruit or ice cream.

DREAM ICE CREAM

When the sun is hot, ice cream hits the spot! For tempting, creamy-smooth ice cream, use ANY PAGE SPARKLE MIXTURE for ICE CREAM DESSERTS. For example, make fruit ice cream with the Vanilla Mix: Add sugar to taste to berries or peaches. Force through sieve. Use 1/4 cup fruit to replace 1/4 cup milk in recipe on package. Yummy!

TALL AND TINKLING

Dropping spirits pick up fast when you serve frosty glasses of Iced Tea. For deep-down refreshment, I use NECTAR or OUR OWN TEA or TEA BAGS. Melting ice can't dull the exhilarating flavor of these quality famous A&P Teas because they're Flavor Tested. Ever try Ginger Iced Tea made with Nectar or Our Own? Use 2 cups of Tea to 1 cup of gingerale. Sweeten to taste. There's real enjoyment in each sparkling glass!

the Ocean Breeze

By J. J. Lee

As the Fourth of July week-end opened, the breeze blew strongly and the ocean was in close to the boardwalk. The beach concessionaires worried. Except for a very few spots along the boardwalk, sand space was scarce. At the south end of the beach the water pounded the ancient walk.

But just as the weatherman had promised the winds died and by Sunday the beach began to appear. More than a 100 thousand people quickly sprawled out on the sands.

Last year almost 100 thousand spent their holiday here. These estimates, which were reported all over the state, were strictly from hunger. The eye is a wonderful thing. Next year look for almost 150 thousand.

Serious thought is being given to returning the old time pusher type carriages to the boardwalk by bicycle concessionaires, G. M. Strange and D. R. Meeks.

As yet the carriages have not been obtained but the operators hope to be able to try a few on the boardwalk next summer, as numerous requests have been received for their return.

A decade ago the carriages were tried. However they were too expensive and the walk too narrow. After one year they disappeared for good.

The chief vexations of the Beach Patrol are: dirty beaches, lost children, broken bones, and, of all things—men dressed in French bathing suits.

Unnoticed by many is a 25-foot dip in the boardwalk. The cement walk curves sharply inward at 28th Street for a block leaving the widest expanse of sand along the boardwalk.

Seafood at Charlie's, located near Lynnhaven Inlet on Route 60, and Hurd's, located on the Lynnhaven River, is exceptionally tasty this season. Also, the prices are right.

The Marshall Hotel has pictures of some 75 or more guests lining the walls in front of the desk. The idea is attractive. The new Sea Horse Cottage, which has each room done in a different color scheme, has its lobby on the second floor where guests may enjoy gazing out into the ocean and enjoy the ocean breeze.

As the saying goes, it's not what you know but who you know. An establishment at the Beach was raised last week because liquor was found under one of the tables; yet other places that serve liquor across the bar are not touched. Names Make the "News"

Mr. and Mrs. Frank Mann, of Washington, are staying at the Courtney Terrace Hotel. He is one of the potato chip kings. . . The Senoritas Salsina Lequerica and Tera Baraiba and their escorts stopped at the Sea Horse Cottage during the holidays. They are the niece and daughter of the Spanish Ambassador. . . Juan B. Paz Cevalenzuela, of Washington, D. C., was also at the Sea Horse. He is with the Argentine Embassy, and is expected to return with a party this week-end.

You'll Look Sweet On A Barber's Bicycle Built For Two

"It won't be a stylish marriage, but we'll honeymoon at the beach, and you'll look sweet on a bicycle built for two," might well be the words this summer to grandma's sons.

Tandems once again are gliding up and down the boardwalk. Seven, to be exact, have been rigged by G. M. Strange and D. R. Meeks, of Oceana, operators of the beach bicycle rental concession.

"We can't keep them in the racks," Mrs. Strange, who runs the main stand at 24th Street, said. "People are crazy about them."

Last summer "buddy bikes," which are regular bikes with a seat and foot rest added, were installed by the operators. They caught on fast, but were only made for the lighter youngsters. "We still use them, Mrs. Strange remarked; "but they will never take the place of the bicycles built for two. We built the tandems ourselves. We couldn't buy them. They are scarce and too expensive. A tandem costs four times that of a regular bike," she said.

Meeks, Strange and Meeks, who are barbers in Oceana, spend a good deal of time thinking of new bicycle inventions.

Mrs. Strange heaved a sigh. "Right now they are trying to rig a three seater. I'll pedal and the other two will go along for the ride—like a sight-seeing bus," she added.

A bicycle with a side car is another invention that the bicycle barbers are building. However, it is uncertain whether these new contraptions will be ready until late this summer, if then.

Mrs. Strange, who operates the concession while her husband and Mr. Meeks are barbering, said that there are enough bikes on hand to meet the demand. While the owners are away she controls the stands at the Pinewood, Warner and Cavalier Hotels, and on 17th, 24th and 28th Streets.

She said she would like to remind bicycle riders to stay on the side of the boardwalk nearest the hotels. A white line down the middle of the walk is the dividing line for cyclists.

The idea of renting bicycles here was hit upon near Labor Day in the summer of 1933 by M. P. Braithwaite. The following year he was in the bicycle business, despite discouragements by the police department.

Justice Hugo L. Black Spends Vacation At Gay Manor

A quick interview, sandwiched between lunch and checking out of his hotel was only long enough to produce one or two short comments from Supreme Court Justice Hugo L. Black, of Alexandria, Tuesday.

"I had a lovely time. No, we didn't go in for any night life but spent most of our time on the beach and playing tennis," he said.

Justice Black, an ardent tennis enthusiast, was out on the Cavalier courts playing with Colonel and Mrs. M. H. Vessing and Colonel W. A. Kelley, of Washington, several hours a day.

Justice and Mrs. Black, who were at this resort for their first time, spent five days at the Gay Manor Hotel. They motored back to Alexandria early Tuesday afternoon.

WALTER BROOKE, star of stage and screen, who last season was seen in the role of Thomas Jefferson in Virginia's historical drama, "The Common Glory," has been engaged for a second season with the drama and now heads a cast of 150 experienced actors, singers and dancers. The opening night for the drama's third season was July 1 and record crowds are again witnessing the pageant at the lake-side amphitheatre in Williamsburg.

American Legion Wins Invitational Softball Tourney

Two Beach Clubs In Finals of Sixteen Team Tournament

The Virginia Beach American Legion softball nine swept through four games to win the Softball Invitational tournament at the Playground this week, defeating Pyrofax Gas, of Virginia Beach, 7 to 5 in the finals.

Errors and the steady pitching of Robert (Jeep) Allen led to the downfall of the Pyrofax squad.

Some 2,000 spectators were on hand for the finals of the 16-team tournament. The two Beach teams defeated some of the top softball nines in this area to gain the right to participate in the finals.

The Lions Club, the only other Beach entry, in the three-day tournament was eliminated in the second round 7 to 6 by Mary Jane, of Norfolk. The Lions ousted the Pepsi-Cola team, leaders on the Major Softball League of Norfolk, in the first round.

The American Legion Club beat NAS Operation, Central Baptist, A. J. Legum and Pyrofax to win the Playground Trophy.

In the Virginia Beach Softball League, the Legionnaires have won the first two rounds of play, capturing a total of nine games, while losing only one.

The third round began Monday night with Oceana Air Station defeating Fuel and Feed and the Lions Club edging a 2 to 1 victory from Pyrofax Gas.

Jimmy Carroll Now Feature Attraction At Piney Point Club

Jimmy Carroll, popular singer of the stage and radio, opened Wednesday night at Piney Point. Carroll, who is a romantic tenor, has had his own radio shows and appeared as guest artist on many others. He recently has appeared at the Mount Royal Hotel in Quebec, the Copa Cabana, in New York, and the Copley-Plaza in Boston, where he received popular acclaim.

He was "discovered" when he was a member of the James Melton choir, and was called on to pinch hit for the star who had been stricken ill. Later, he was selected to replace Morton Downey on his program when Downey went overseas on a USO tour.

Dolphin Caught As Game Fish Begin Running

CATCHING UP—Pictured above are Capt. E. Y. Roberson, skipper, Commander Ken Strickler, Jack Simmons, Ben Brooker, mate, an unidentified fisherman, and H. F. Baughman. Fishing out of the Cavalier Yacht and Country Club aboard the "Commodore," the group was the first from the Beach to land dolphin. The dolphin were caught in the Gulf Stream about 50 miles off shore.

So You Are From New York

This week the News welcomes vacationers from New York State. Hundreds of guests from New York come to this resort every week. The list that follows might enable New Yorkers as well as others to find a friend that is staying here.

Due to the short week, there was not enough time to get names from all hotels here.

The Bagley Cottage: The Misses Nan Betty, Beverly Kircher, Sandi Leggett and Lucille Manner, all of Mount Vernon, and Miss Elaine Ott, Long Island.

The Martha Washington: Mr. and Mrs. T. Gallese, Long Island; Mr. and Mrs. James Kearney, New York City; Mr. and Mrs. S. J. Nardone, New York City; Miss Betty Green, Brooklyn; Miss Marie Hoyer and Doris Kretz, Newburg; Mr. and Mrs. L. Seymour, Brooklyn; Mr. and Mrs. Edward H. Adolph and son, Suffern.

Cavalier Yacht Club Boats Take Cruise To Irvington, Va

Five yachts from the Cavalier Yacht Club this week went on the first of a series of cruises to be taken this summer by the yachting division of the club. Led by Commodore Pat F. Murray in his 40-foot Matthews, "Pammy II," the group went on a three-day cruise to Irvington, Va., docking at the Tides Inn.

Included in the party were the "Claudia," owned by C. S. McCullum; "Lady Linkhorn," owned by E. L. Posey; "Hasty Lady,"

Welcome Mat Not Out For Fido, Landlords Say

Far back in the sand dunes at the northern end of the beach it is said that dogs roam wild. Down below the dunes, down where people dwell, Fido lives with his master in practically every house. But crossing from the top end of the beach into Virginia Beach proper, the story changes.

Fido ain't wanted. "We take them but we had rather not have them," or "no pets allowed," were the two chief answers given by many hotel owners at this resort this week.

When Towser isn't under foot bothering the guests, he is running around tearing rugs, tapestries or knocking over ornaments they claim.

A few hotels, and particularly the cottages, stretch the rules on occasions and allow the canine. All the same, in the main Fido is not wanted.

Naturally, the landlord has a preference for the smaller, quieter and less conspicuous members of the dog family and owners of St. Bernards or Great Danes, unless good friends of the landlord, are politely asked to try some other place.

"During the busy vacation season hotelmen expect owners to exercise and care for their own dogs because the demands on their own personnel won't permit turning big boys into kennelmen. Owners of canines should also bring their own pillows and blankets, where needed, for hotel owners are not enthusiastic about dogs sleeping on the towels, pillows or bed linen," according to a national survey made by the American Automobile Association.

In the main, landlords here expressed the same wishes.

Three Parties Aboard "Commodore" Hit In Gulf Stream

Game fish are running in the Gulf Stream off the shores of Virginia Beach, according to reports received from E. Y. Roberson, skipper of the "Commodore" out of the Cavalier Yacht Club.

Capt. Roberson has taken three successful parties out this week to fish for marlin and dolphin.

Mrs. William Casperis, of Virginia Beach, made the biggest catch of the season when she landed four dolphin, while other members of her party were catching five others weighing from 10 to 20 pounds.

The party struck a school soon after reaching the fishing grounds, some 50 miles off the cape, and all four lines were down from the outriggers at one time.

The previous day a group on the "Commodore" caught three dolphin, the largest of which weighed 18 pounds.

Wednesday, according to a member of another party, one marlin and one polar bear were raised. At the time, presumably, it could not be told whether the bear was swimming or flying. Nevertheless, three dolphin were hauled in.

The "Commodore," up from Florida, will continue taking parties out to the Gulf Stream. Capt. Roberson, commenting on the stream, said there was a definite color line separating the stream from the ocean. Along the line is a grass rip where the fish have been hiding and feeding, he added.

Annual Pony Penning Day at Chincoteague Set for July 27

Tourist interest across the country is being focused again on Chincoteague Island, where on July 28 sturdy native fishermen who ply their business in the water 364 days a year will take to the saddle in the annual Pony Penning Day celebration. An estimated 13,000 visitors will be on hand to witness the roundup and bid on the wild horses put up for auction, according to the Virginia Travel Council. Clad in rubber hip boots instead of chaps and southwester for ten gallon hats, old salts will swim their herd across the channel from neighboring Assateague, an island three quarters of a mile away, on July 27, and sell the colts and brand those not sold the following day.

The mystery that surrounds the origin of these horses on the coastal islands is of particular interest to pony penning spectators. The Travel Council says, Legend has it that a Spanish galleon was wrecked off Assateague centuries ago and that the Arabian horses that were a part of the cargo swam ashore and have roamed wild over the swamp land and morasses ever since.

The pony penning event is the culmination of a week-long carnival staged by the volunteer fire department of Chincoteague. The scheduled events include fireworks, a parade, pony races and band concerts every night, and boat races in Chincoteague channel will be a special feature of the final day.

Proceeds from the festival and sale of horses goes to finance the fire department.

George W. Dean, state forester, announced that 232 people in Virginia were found responsible for carelessly starting forest fires during the past spring season and were required to reimburse the State and the various counties for the costs of suppressing the fires. These fires represented approximately 51 per cent of the 923 fires burned during the season.

CONNIE BOSWELL, who will be starred at the Latin Quarter, will entertain through July 13, along with Dan McGrane and his orchestra and a floor show.

Town Officials, Army Engineers Study Plan to Sink Surplus Navy Ships as Jetty off South Beach

Cost Would Be Little Compared to Cost Of Building Jetties

The feasibility of sinking several surplus Navy LST ships in the ocean off the south end of the beach to prevent sand erosion is being studied by Virginia Beach town officials and Army Engineers, Town Manager Lawrence Lockwood said this week.

The LSTs would take the place of expensive jetty construction. If considered desirable, the new plan would cost "little or nothing," Mr. Lockwood declared.

Army engineers, he said, would work in conjunction with Virginia Beach in providing such a makeshift jetty. Similar ships to that of the LSTs might be obtained if the landing craft are not available.

Although there is no absolute assurance that the ships will prevent the water from washing away the beach, Mr. Lockwood revealed that the cost of the project would be low and would be well worth a trial.

However, he expressed the belief that it would offer some protection against erosion.

He said that the plan is still being studied and it would probably be ninety days before any move is made—if then.

Meanwhile, work on the sea wall at the south end of the beach has been progressing slowly due to high water and the delay in shipment of steel, according to W. A. Wilcox, superintendent of construction.

He said, however, that they hope to have the repairs up to the Pinewood Hotel completed by the end of the month. The project is the outcome of erosion caused by the ocean.

The repairs, which will extend to 17th Street, include a steel bulkhead reinforced by cement and sand.

Mr. Wilcox said that the men had been working in water as high as four feet. "When we started the job we could stand on dry ground, but ever since the recent northeaster the ocean has been in close to the walk," he said.

Work Started on Euclid Training School for Negroes

New Class Rooms, Other Facilities Are Being Added

Work has begun on the $60,000 improvement program at the Training School for Negroes at Euclid, according to word received early this week from F. W. Cox, superintendent of schools for Princess Anne County. Four new class rooms are being added, a new lunch room is being built, and lavatory facilities expanded.

The school, the only high school for Negro pupils in the county, was too small for the enrollment and in need of repair. However, two bond referenda in the past 18 months had failed to pass. Finally, the board of supervisors approved the borrowing of $60,000 from the State Literary Fund for the purpose of improving the school. Here again a snag was encountered, for the fund was depleted and a backlog of some $3,000,000 of approved loans were on the books when the Princess Anne County loan was added.

The supervisors at their June meeting authorized Mr. Cox and the school board to borrow the amount needed on a temporary basis. The loan has been negotiated, and while final signing is still pending, it is expected to be completed soon.

The new additions are expected to be well under way by the beginning of the school term in September, according to Mr. Cox, and should be finished soon after.

Rent Decontrol In County Seems To Be Assured

Supervisors Acted According to Rights Under Housing Act

Fears that the Princess Anne County move to decontrol rental would run into legal snags appears to be unfounded.

Recent speculation as to the authority of the board of supervisors to decontrol an entire county gave rise to stories that the United States Housing Expeditor could turn down the board's resolution forwarded to him by Governor William M. Tucker, recommending that controls be removed.

P. W. Ackles, commonwealth's attorney, declared that the authority of the supervisors is clear according to the wording of the Housing Act of 1949, Section 204. The bill provides that the provisions (for rent control) in any incorporated city, town, or village upon receipt of a resolution by its governing body, adopted for that purpose in accordance with applicable law and based upon a finding by such governing body reached as a result of a public hearing.

Mr. Ackles pointed out that the board of supervisors action was in accordance with the act in every respect, and that to his mind there is no doubt whatever that the decontrol will be forthcoming.

Walter P. Glover, Sr., Dies Thursday

Walter Parrish Glover, Sr., 63 years old, died Thursday night, July 7, at the Fitzhugh cottage, which he owned.

Born in Buckingham County, Mr. Glover has been a longtime resident of Virginia Beach. He formerly ran the Arlington Hotel.

He is survived by his wife, Lucy Singleton Glover, one son, Lt. Col. Walter Parrish Glover, Jr., USA, and two grandsons.

District Guard Group Training at Camp Pendleton

Pennsylvania Group Also Slated for Training Period

Some 1,100 District of Columbia National Guardsmen of the 200th Anti-Aircraft Artillery group are beginning their second week of training at Camp Pendleton under the command of Col. Leroy S. Mann. They arrived here early this week.

Training for the group will consist of instruction and practice in firing at towed targets over Fort Story and Camp Pendleton, located at the south end of the Beach.

The group's gun battalion and automatic weapons battalion will fire their 90mm, "40's" and "60's" at towed targets in accordance with arrangements set up in cooperation with the Second Army and National Guard Bureau.

The Second Army has provided instructors for the training period as well as a seven-man photo team. Camp Lee is furnishing food for the men under the supervision of Major Raymond O. Watson, supply officer of the group.

Battalions are commanded by Lt. Col. Glen Clegg, Lt. Col. George W. Selwyn and Major Richard H. Stephens.

County Goes Over Bond Drive Goal by Huge Margin

Princess Anne County has reached its $20,000 quota in the Opportunity Bond Drive two-and-a-half times over, and more are coming in, according to C. R. Bryant, chairman of the drive.

Between April 1 and July 2, the county has chalked up $550,000.25 sales of E Bonds. The drive does not end until July 16.

The county is the only one in the State that has such an impressive record, a survey of bond sales indicates. Although more than a quarter of the 100 counties in Virginia has reached the quota, none has more than doubled it.

The local Lions Club float is the only club float to be entered so far, a spokesman for the Lions said.

Virginia, as well as other states, will have floats in the gala parade, which will wind through the streets of New York.

It is anticipated that over 30,000 people, including Lions and their families, from the 48 states and 13 foreign countries will attend the convention.

Virginia Lions will maintain a booth in Madison Square Garden for the purpose of distributing literature and descriptive literature of the Old Dominion.

A large delegation from Virginia, sporting purple and gold coats and hats, will march down

"News" Wins Two VPA Awards

The Virginia Beach News was the winner of two awards in the Virginia Press Association's annual Better Newspaper Contest, according to an Associated Press dispatch yesterday.

The awards are: second place for Class A weekly newspapers for excellent front page; and honorable mention for Class A weeklies for excellence of handling of display advertising.

The awards are to be made at the banquet, closing session of the sixty-seventh annual meeting of the Virginia Press Association at the Chamberlin Hotel, Old Point Comfort, on Saturday night.

Also to be awarded at tomorrow's banquet will be the annual W. S. Copeland Award for community service, given this year for the first time to a Virginia newspaper for outstanding service to the community it serves.

CHESAPEAKE BEACH WOMAN'S CLUB DIRECTORS TO MEET

The Board of Directors of the Woman's Club of Chesapeake Beach will meet at the home of the president, Mrs. L. L. Dillon, Tuesday, July 19, at 10:30 a.m.

Plans for the coming season will be discussed and a birthday celebration arranged.

Also to be awarded at tomorrow's banquet will be the annual W. S. Copeland Award for community service, given this year for the first time to a Virginia newspaper for outstanding service to the community it serves.

Town Council Approves School Budget for 1949-50; Defers Action on Operating Budget

Final Government 1949 Wheat Loan Rate Announced

County Farmers Eligible to Receive $2.17 Per Bushel

Final loan rates in support of the 1949-crop wheat were released this week by R. B. Bridgforth, chairman of the State FMA Committee. These rates vary in Virginia by counties and are based on 90 per cent of parity as of July 1, 1949, the beginning of the marketing year.

The 1949 loan rate for wheat in Princess Anne County is $2.17 per bushel, according to R. W. Lane, chairman of the County Agricultural Conservation Committee which administers government loan programs. This is three cents a bushel above the "interim," or temporary loan rate announced in May for the protection of growers of early harvested wheat, he said.

The terminal loan rates for 1949 wheat stored in eligible warehouse out of Virginia is $2.37 per bushel at Philadelphia and Baltimore. The same terminal rate applies at Norfolk.

All loan rates are based on wheat grading U. S. No. 1, with certain discounts for other grades. For the past several weeks a substantial quantity of Virginia wheat has been placed under government loan due to the unfavorable market conditions.

Youth Drowns at Lynnhaven Inlet; Brother Overcome

The treacherous waters at Lynnhaven Inlet, near the Lesner Bridge, on Tuesday took the life of 16-year-old Ernest Miller, and endangered that of his brother, El Miller, 14.

The two boys, sons of V. E. Miller, milk dairyman of Rosemont, were on a beach outing with 25 other persons. Neither could swim, but were wading on the sandbar about 500 feet from the bridge when they slipped down the sides of the steep bar into deep water.

The father raced to the scene and succeeded in bringing in the younger, who was unconscious. He was revived after nearly an hour of artificial respiration.

The body of Ernest, who was a Kemperville High School student, had not been recovered, although a Coast Guard "duck" was brought to the scene and dragging operations continued throughout the night and the following day.

The body was finally recovered Thursday. Funeral services are being conducted today from the Amish Mennonite Church with burial in the church cemetery.

Star of Sea Parish House to Open Sunday Afternoon

The Star of the Sea Parish House will be formally opened Sunday, July 17, at 5 o'clock in the afternoon when Most. Joseph F. Govaert, of Norfolk, will conduct the ceremony of blessing and dedicating the new building. The new hall was built at a cost of $30,000, and is being used to accommodate the large crowds of summer tourists for Sunday Mass as well as other church activities.

Immediately following the ceremony until 7 o'clock there will be an "open house" at which the ladies of the Star of the Sea Women's Circle will serve refreshments.

The public is cordially invited to attend.

Mayor Asks Study Of Sewerage Treatment Rate

The Virginia Beach Town Council approved a school budget for the 1949-50 fiscal year at its meeting on Tuesday, but deferred for further study the town's operating budget.

The school budget, which lists anticipated receipts for school purposes at $87,400, is some $8,000 more than last year's estimated $81,800. However, it contained an estimated balance of receipts not appropriated of $5,835.

The school tax levy of 75 cents per $100 is applied against an assessed valuation of $8,800,000. State aid to schools would bring in $19,000 and payments by Princess Anne County another $9,000. (The discrepancy in the total is accounted for by the fact that in estimating the income for school purposes, 10 per cent is deducted for taxes not collected during the fiscal year.)

The breakdown of disbursements is as follows: teachers' salaries, $43,750; high school tuition and Virginia Beach share of administrative costs, $26,200; transportation, high school students, $2,400; repairs and improvements, $3,000; janitor service, $2,840; fuel, $1,860; electricity, telephone, insurance, and supplies, $1,975; balance of receipts not appropriated, $5,835.

Comparison with last year's budget shows that teachers' salaries are up from $39,908 to $43,750; and janitor service from an estimated $1,820 to $2,840. Last year's budget also contained an item of $7,500 for repairs and improvements.

Town's Operating Budget

The operating budget for the town, due to have been up for consideration, was deferred until further study can be made of it by a special committee named by Mayor W. F. Patton. Mayor Patton's committee is composed of Town Manager Lawrence Lockwood, Henry Grogan, R. G. Barr, Jr., and H. E. Halstead.

A special meeting to consider and adopt the budget will be called at an early date to be announced later.

Sewerage Treatment Rate

Mayor Patton asked for special study also of the rate charged for sewerage treatment which he characterized as being "out of line." The rate, he said, should be in proportion to usage and not a flat rate, and he suggested that 10 cents per thousand gallons of water consumed be charged for sewerage treatment. The matter will be brought up at a later meeting of the council.

Chesapeake Beach Club Raises $60 For TB Fund

The Woman's Club of Chesapeake Beach has raised $60 for the benefit of the Princess Anne Chapter of the Tuberculosis Association. The sum was raised through the generosity and cooperation of the residents of the Chesapeake Beach area, and the expert salesmanship of the children.

Mrs. D. J. Wilkins, chairman of the public welfare and citizenship department, was in charge of the Fourth of July balloon sale in this area. The following children participated: Karen Causby, Bobby Causby, Helene Wilkins, Patty Carter, Michael Carter, Linda Harrell, Suzanne Harrell, Fay Mite, Kilgore Hodges, Iris Tarkington, Nancy Goode, and Marsha Spruell.

The Woman's Club also sponsored a benefit party at the Community House Saturday, July 1, under the chairmanship of Mrs. J. B. Lottin, Jr. Admission was by voluntary contribution to the tuberculosis fund.

ROCK-A-BYE BABY, BATTLE IS NEAR

Senator John Battle's promise to turn back to the counties certain surplus that exist in the State Treasury looks from this point to be an effort to throw a sop to the voters who might otherwise be a little thinking on their own.

By Senator Battle's calculations, Princess Anne County would, as nearly as we have been able to find out, receive a direct grant of $200,000 for school purposes from the surplus fund, that is, of course, after the General Assembly acted to make good on the Senator's promise. In addition, certain other portions of the surplus would, as we understand it, be made available to the counties for borrowing, also for school purposes.

But this will not fill the bill, nor will it obviate the need to either raise property taxes once more or obtain the necessary funds through means not yet advocated by the Senator.

We believe that the good Senator should give a little more concentrated thought to the proposition. Or if he doesn't do his own thinking, as we have heard implied, that Senator Byrd should help him give more thought to the proposition.

Take Princess Anne County for example. The white school situation is, well, "adequate" might be a bit too strong a word. The colored school situation is a danger point that is in a position to threaten the good of all of us, not in the future, but right now. At any rate, $200,000 is a drop in the bucket to a county which has never at any time built a single school for any age of Negro children. Those it has on the primary level are a disgrace—old church buildings that have been purchased by the Negroes themselves, or outgrown white schools; no sanitary facilities, no play facilities.

Moreover, at the request of the State Board of Education the Governor appointed a commission to study the Negro school situation in Princess Anne County. The recommendations of that fact finding board called for a program for Negro educational facilities that would cost, not in the thousands or the hundred thousands, but in the millions.

The white school situation is far from satisfactory, all along the line. There has been a lot of talk, but nothing concrete done. The school plant is reasonably good, but the standards of the schools sadly inadequate. It would cost money, and lots of it, to bring these schools up to first-class standard, and by that we mean a standard that would allow the graduates of the various high schools to enter college or be prepared to pass college board examinations without having first the expense and loss of time of going to a preparatory school.

Since it is apparent that the $200,000 pacifier would be a drop in the bucket, it follows in Senator Battle's program that if the county is to do something about its schools, it will have to make application to the fund the Senator proposes to set up from other surplus funds. And that in turn means added taxation to property owners in Princess Anne County. It cannot mean any other thing but taxes—maybe not on the State level, but taxes just the same.

The News believes that an alternative, which would encompass a real solution to the problem that faces us, is the sales tax for school purposes. It would not necessarily mean a continuing program of sales taxation, for the gubernatorial candidate sponsoring the proposal limits it to a term of years that would bring in the money needed to put the schools of the State in first-class condition, both as to plant and scholastic standing.

The sales tax would tax the people using the facilities its income would provide, and would not be burdensome. Real estate and property have been taxed just about as much as it can stand. Property owners are right when they object to further taxation, and maintain that a more equitable means of raising school money would be a general sales tax.

THE LIONS CLUB FLOAT

The Virginia Beach Lions Club is in there boosting for Virginia Beach, and their float which is being entered in the big International Lions Club parade in New York City next week, is just another example of the forward thinking of the club members.

The float, which will advertise Virginia Beach in New York as nothing else can, will be the only one entered in the parade from a single Virginia club, although the State organization will also enter one.

A tip of the hat to you men. You are helping your home town get acquainted with the world, and the world with your home town.

INCIDENTAL INTELLIGENCE

Not only is Princess Anne County helping the Battle-Byrd Machine campaign by lending our county treasurer to head up the fight to make Battle governor, but it is also lending its police force.

According to reliable information received, it seems that the county police spent a lot of time last week tacking up Battle-for-Governor posters around the county on telephone poles, trucks, and other prominent places. They used county police cars, so we assume they used county gasoline, and were on county pay.

Behind the Scenes in American Business

By Reynolds Knight

The American market is changing and by 1960 should differ radically from the market of today. This is the conclusion reached by a market study made recently by H. M. Merrill, Jr., research director of the National Broadcasting Company.

The study has some findings of significance to every manufacturer and to every storekeeper. Broadly speaking, the study shows that the American market is becoming more standardized in tastes and behavior. This could mean an even greater acceptance of nationally advertised brands. Population is also moving westward. Increasing the importance of those markets as compared to eastern trade centers. Most dramatic of all is the steady increase in leisure time. The work week averaged 52 hours in 1926, will be down to 37.7 hours in 1960. So those people who sell the goods and services for recreation should be able to look forward to a growing market. Though the American family is growing smaller, there is a steady increase in the number of family units. This should provide an increasing demand for small homes and the furnishings necessary to make those homes livable and attractive.

Fire-Resistant Gas Tank—During the war many Navy planes, damaged and after, managed to make emergency landings on carrier flight decks or landing strips only to have their loads of high-octane fuel ignite and explode, destroying craft that otherwise would have survived. The Navy sought development of a gas tank that could resist flame and heat long enough to give fire-fighting crews a real chance to save such casualties. The other day the Navy and B. F. Goodrich conducted a joint demonstration of a new fire-resistant fuel cell. Technicians squirted an 1800-degree flame on a conventional tank and it ignited within two minutes, spilling its burning high-octane gas on the ground. A similar flame directed against the new container for 10 minutes caused no damage. The secret, explained MFG, lies in a special flexible coating developed by the company's aeronautical engineers. It can be applied with a brush to practically any type of container. Other applications foreseen for this secret coating include automobile, truck and bus fuel tanks, storage containers for volatile liquids and, of course, fuel cells for commercial aircraft.

Things to Come—For small families, there's a new portable dishwasher that will wash, rinse and dry a complete service for four within five minutes. . . . Two manufacturing companies last week announced fluorescent lights with substantially increased life spans. These new long-life lamps are now good for 7500 hours. It is claimed. . . . The Underwriters' Laboratories has just approved a light switch with a glowing bulb attached. Purpose of bulb is to mark position of switch so you can find it in the dark, though makers also suggest it can serve as a night light. . . . Neither wind nor rain nor snow will extinguish the flame from a petroleum-base product being marketed as an emergency signal for motorists stalled on a dark road. . . . The old-fashioned wooden Coca-Cola cases are soon to be replaced by lighter cases made from a combination of aluminum and magnesium. The new container has definite merchandising advantages, it is said. . . . Now comes the safety eyeglasses for children. The new spectacles were tested by a steel BB fired at a distance of 35 feet. The lens cracked under the test, but did not shatter.

Project for Youth—This year's crop of engineering graduates who yearn to build towering skyscrapers or other giant structures may find a smoother path to fame and fortune in developing instruments for measuring ultra-line dimensions. This is the suggestion of Dr. Haakon Styr, director of research for ESKT Industries, Inc., who points out that precision manufacturers are intensely interested in developing super-sensitive differences down to and even active gauges capable of measuring below a millionth of an inch.

TWENTY-ONE YEARS AGO — JULY 13, 1928

Looking back to the July 13, 1928 issue of the Virginia Beach Weekly, the big headline for the week was "U. S. Engineer Officially Authorizes Survey of Linkhorn Bay Channel." The article explained that the improvement of the channel leading to Virginia Beach would make the Beach accessible for water-borne commerce, and the swifter current would restore the oyster industry to its former proportions.

The aurora Borealis was visible several hours on Saturday evening.

T. P. Holland, local Chrysler dealer, displayed the new Chrysler-built Plymouth, latest addition in the low priced field. Cost $670.

The Virginia Beach Athletic Club continued its winning streak by defeating Codd Clubs of Norfolk 7-4.

Three citizenship medals were awarded to high school graduates in Princess Anne County by the Norfolk Chapter of the Sons of the American Revolution. Those receiving medals were: Mildred Eytton, Creeds High School; Delvan Montague, Kempville High School, and Frances Morrison, Oceana High School.

Mrs. R. B. Taylor was named president of the Princess Anne County Woman's Club to succeed Mrs. A. E. Ewell. Miss Ruth Gorn, of Oceana, was chosen secretary.

"Irritable Lover" was the main attraction of the week at the Roland Theatre, with Lola Moran as its star. On the bill for the week was also "Circus Rookies," with Karl Dane and George K. Arthur, and "12th Juror," with Francis X. Bushman and Anna Q. Nilsson.

HOME DEMONSTRATION NEWS

Meetings This Week

Wednesday, July 15: Blackwater Home Demonstration Club, at 2 p.m. Mrs. Sadie Storey, hostess. Judge Floyd E. Kellam to Speak To Blackwater Club.

At the July meeting of the Blackwater Home Demonstration Club Judge Floyd E. Kellam will speak to the club on legal matters pertaining to the home. All club members are urged to be present.

District Meeting Held at Court House

At the recent district meeting of the Princess Anne County

Home Demonstration Clubs, the purchase of a pressure cooker checker gauge was voted on. The gauge will check any make of pressure cooker.

Each club will have the checker to use at a specified time so that club members may have the opportunity of using it to check their cookers. Ladies of the community are also welcome to use it.

On August 12, Miss Iva Byrd Johnson will hold a clothing leaders training class at Ocean Park. This will be an open meeting. Those attending are asked to bring their lunch. The Ocean Park Club will furnish beverages.

The clubs of the county will hold an all-day picnic at Camp Farrar, Virginia Beach, with a schedule of games, swimming and entertainment.

Cold for Safety

A cake box is not the place to keep any cake or pastry with a custard or cream filling, especially in warm summer weather. Custards and cream fillings are among the foods that need cold keeping for safety against spoilage. Though a cake or pie takes up considerable space in the refrigerator, that is the safest place for it if it must be kept more than four hours before serving.

The so-called "cream-filled" or custard filled pastries, and such pork products as mild-cured ham have caused frequent cases of food poisoning in summer. Soft protein foods, especially those that are handled in preparation, are especially subject to fast and dangerous spoilage at warm temperatures. The spoilage may cause illness even when the food shows no sign of spoiled odor, taste or appearance.

Dishes containing eggs, milk, meat, gelatin, poultry or fish all need cold keeping.

Chicken Every Sunday—and Several Times in Between

That's the advice to homemakers while chicken prices are at the lowest point since 1941.

Millions of plump broilers and fryers are being marketed from the Delmarva Peninsula a.e.s. and prices are where every family can afford to buy an extra chicken or two to fry, broil, or barbecue for picnic and home use.

Prices are expected to remain at a low level for several weeks, so serve them often. Reason for the extremely low prices, which have been declining steadily since March, is the all-time record

2,535,385 Veterans Enrolled in Schools And Job Training

A recent study by the Veterans Administration disclosed that the 2,535,385 veterans enrolled in schools and job training establishments under the G-I Bill and Public Law 16 are working toward a wide variety of employment objectives.

In the on-the-job training field, more World War II veterans are learning to be mechanics and repairmen than any other single category of occupations. Of 85,348 veterans in this type of training, 55,766 were learning automobile repairing, 1,644 were studying to be airplane mechanics and 1,135 were learning other types of mechanics and repair work.

Thirteen per cent of all veterans training in schools and on-the-job, a total of 340,876 were taking institutional on-farm training and other agricultural courses. Twelve per cent, or 322,264, were taking business and financial training.

Nearly 100,000 veterans, at the time of VA's survey, were studying advertising, selling and related subjects. Another 100,000 were preparing for teaching careers.

number of chickens being raised in principal producing areas.

County Home Demonstration Committee in Quarterly Meeting

At the quarterly meeting of the County Home Demonstration Committee at the Court House Tuesday at 9:30 a.m. the possibility of establishing library service for the county highlighted the discussion. Since the clubs have taken "Library" as their Federation goal, they have contacted Miss Ernestine Grafton of the State Extension Library in an effort to secure state aid for this library service.

Other items of county interest discussed were, plans for exhibits at the Princess Anne County Fair, September 22-24, and the forthcoming home demonstration club picnic, August 31, at 4-H Camp Farrar. Those present were Mrs. Charles F. Thompson, committee chairman; Mrs. C. E. Upton, Jr., secretary; Miss Lois Allen, reporter; and the following committee members: Mrs. Walter Munden, Mrs. Fleet McClanahan, Mrs. E. W. Cate, Mrs. Annie Lewis, Mrs. Charles W. Lewis, Mrs. J. B. Yon, Mrs. R. W. Snowdon, and Mrs. Everett Sawyer.

STUDEBAKER'S REALLY ROLLING! 1949 IS A STUDEBAKER YEAR!

A LOCAL TAX INCREASE OF

PER HUNDRED

OR

A TWO PER CENT SCHOOL TAX ON RETAIL SALES YIELDING

IN FOUR YEARS FOR SCHOOL NEEDS AND NO INCREASE IN LOCAL TAXES

WHICH

Do YOU Want?

School authorities of Princess Anne County have reported that they need $3,096,750 to provide adequate schools for the children of the county. If this money is raised by borrowing on a ten year amortization, the average total tax rate for the county will have to be increased by $2.67 per hundred to pay off the loan.

ON THE OTHER HAND, a two per cent school tax on retail sales, if distributed on the basis of school population, will provide $1,049,760 for our school needs over a four year period with NO INCREASE in other taxes.

The sales tax means "pay-as-you-go" financing and no burdensome tax increases. This is the way Horace H. Edwards will provide for our school needs if he is elected. This is the ONLY feasible, equitable and effective plan advanced by any of the candidates. This is concrete evidence that Horace H. Edwards, with his wide experience in government, his youth, his courage and his forthrightness, is the ONLY man for governor.

A vote for HORACE H. EDWARDS is a vote for the only realistic way of meeting our needs

Lions Club Takes Over Softball Lead As Legion Slips

The American Legion softball club has finally taken a back seat after winning both the first and second rounds in the Virginia Beach Softball League.

On the strength of Mel Good's pitching arm, the Lions Club has captured three straight games in the third round. The victories have put the club on top of the league, where, according to the team, they intend to stay.

The Lions turned back the American Legion team, winners of the Virginia Beach Invitational Tournament, by a score of 6 to 1, Monday night. It was the second loss for the Legionnaires, one more than they lost in both the first and second rounds.

Pyrofax Gas trounced Oceana 6 to 1 the same night to tie them for second place.

HENRY TATKA, JR. VISITS ISLAND OF CRETE

Henry Tatka, Jr., chief gunner's mate, USN, husband of Mrs. Regina Tatka, of 29th Street, is scheduled to arrive at the Island of Crete July 16 as a crew member aboard the light cruiser USS Juneau for a five-day visit.

In his peaceful "invasion" of the island, whose history is traced to 2000 B.C., he follows in the footsteps of Greek, Roman, Byzantine and Turkish invaders of old.

More recent history found Crete the scene of paratroop landings in the last war that made airborne invasion history. It was there that ex-heavyweight champion Max Schmeling was injured during a jump with Nazi paratroopers.

State Highway Department Lists Projects Now Underway in Virginia; Adds 112 Miles of Hard Surface

Ten highway construction projects currently underway in Virginia will serve to close long, unpaved gaps on the primary road system and will add 112 hard-surfaced miles to the system. State Highway Department figures showed today.

Most of the "gap closing" projects are on roads which serve chiefly as farm-to-market and connecting routes for local rural traffic, a department spokesman said.

Among the gap-closing projects are these:

U. S. 58—State forces are working a long section between Volney and Damascus to hard-surface the last unpaved section on the longest route in the State. Already the macadam surface has been completed through Grayson County and forces are continuing the construction in Washington County toward Damascus. When completed, this section will include nearly 35 miles of new construction.

U. S. 15—Work commenced early this year to surface an unpaved six mile gap between Buckland and Aldie. Temporary U. S. 15 has been routed through Middleburg to Warrenton for some years', pending completion of this last gap.

Route 154—Nearly three miles from U. S. 301 toward Hopewell. When the dirt gap is closed, other construction is scheduled to eliminate obsolete sections on the remainder of the route.

Route 130—A 1.5 mile project is completing the final section of what will be the most direct and level route between Lynchburg and the Valley Pike.

Route 230—Nearly 23 miles of highway with a dozen bridges are under construction between Crozet and Barboursville to provide a good farm-to-market highway for upper Albemarle and lower Greene counties.

Route 218—Between Fredericksburg and the Potomac River bridge near Dahlgren. State forces are closing an unpaved gap of nearly eight miles.

Route 42—State forces are putting finishing touches on more than eight miles between New Castle and Newport. This is the final unimproved section on a long stretch of Route 42. It will provide a good market center highway for the Sinking Creek section of Craig County.

Route 46—Two convict camps are building road and bridges to close a 16-mile gap between Woolwint and Rocky Mount.

Route 234—A 4.5 mile gap is being closed between the Manassas Battlefield Park and Woolsey. This road connects U. S. 29 and U. S. 15.

Route 268—A project north of Falling Springs, together with a new bridge over Cascades Creek, will close a seven mile unpaved gap in Alleghany and Bath counties. Forces are scheduled to continue the improvement north on Secondary Route 621 in Bath County to extend the hard surface through to Route 39.

Recently completed between Roanoke and Concord was a 7.3 mile section which closed the last unpaved gap on Route 24.

Bits O' Business—That wonderful fireworks display you saw last week probably cost $500 for each 15 minutes, more if the display was especially elaborate . . . 1950 models of Chevrolet will feature the automatic transmission . . . England and other countries make much of the "dollar shortage," but as on official put it, most American citizens are suffering from the same ailment too, particularly after paying their taxes . . . New York City department stores were packed with people after the Fourth. Clearance sales were the attraction, with men's shirts and women's bathing suits being in particular demand . . . Pre-peeled potatoes, treated so they won't spoil, have been test-marketed in Chicago, will go national before the end of the year

Tonight "General Assembly Night" at "Common Glory"

Governor Tuck to Head Distinguished Group Attending

Members of the General Assembly of Virginia led by Governor William M. Tuck, will gather tonight in Williamsburg for the annual observance of the anniversary of the first meeting of the first freely elected legislative assembly in the New World at Jamestown in 1619.

Governor Tuck has designated the occasion as "General Assembly Night" and the observance will be in the nature of a double celebration since services will first be held in the old church at Jamestown Island at 8 o'clock and later, following a picnic supper on the island, the Assemblymen and their guests will attend the performance of "The Common Glory," which tells the story of the early days of the nation's founding. Here, too, they will see their predecessors of 1776 in action on the broad stage beside Williamsburg's Matoka Lake.

The speaker at Jamestown Island will be General Alexander A. Vandergrift, former Marine Corps Commandant, who will be introduced by Governor Tuck. William A. Wright, director of the Department of Conservation and Development and president of the producing unit, the Jamestown Corporation, will introduce the Governor and preside at the services.

A special feature of the commemorative services in the old church will be the singing of "The Common Glory" Choir, composed of thirty-three matched voices and headed by Brooks Atkinson, New York Times critic, as Williamsburg's crowning glory.

The 1942 descendants of these early legislators will later witness history come to life on the broad stage beside Matoka Lake where Playwright Paul Green has revised the drama of colonial days and introduced a number of new features including Patrick Henry's famous words of "liberty or death."

"General Assembly Night" is one of a series of special nights scheduled at the drama this week including Virginia Federation of Women's Clubs night on Thursday and on Saturday Mary Washington College of the University of Virginia will have a special night honoring the four graduates or students of the college who are members of the cast. Alumni, students and faculty will attend the drama in a group. Those in the cast from the college are Corinne Conley, Ann Buckles and two members of the enlarged ballet, Sally Jean Holroyd and Elizabeth Shaffer.

Curtain time is 8-15 and seats are available from the Jamestown Corporation Box Office in Williamsburg.

Scientists Search For Tomato that is Blight-Immune

Spinal-fruited South American strains are being crossed with the Southland variety in a search for a tomato immune to late blight—the disease that plagues tomato growers when the weather turns cool and damp—say researchers at Virginia Experiment Station.

Plant Pathologists S. A. Wingard and R. G. Henderson say second generation progenies of the crosses are being grown at V. P. I. this season; and they hope that some of the selections will be immune to the blight and will also produce large, good-quality tomatoes.

The researchers explain that, although Southland is not immune to late blight, it is somewhat resistant and may withstand an attack of late blight when, under the same conditions, other varieties might be ruined. Some of the Southland's sister strains also have shown resistance to the disease, and are being tested further at the station.

ORDER EASTERN STAR TO SERVE SUPPER THURSDAY, JULY 21; PUBLIC INVITED

Virginia Beach Chapter No. 75 Order of the Eastern Star will serve a fried chicken and deviled crab supper Thursday, July 21, from 5:30 to 8:00 p.m. at the Masonic Temple, 20th Street and Arctic Avenue. Price $1.25. Public is invited.

County Agent H. W. Ozlin Advises Farmers to Cull Non-Layers from Flocks for Efficient Egg Production

Hens that don't pay their board have no place in a laying flock, County Agent H. W. Ozlin told Princess Anne County farmers this week.

He urged flock owners to cull all early moulters and broody hens as a means of insuring the most efficient egg production and curbing feed costs.

County Agent Ozlin explained that the peak of the egg production season is now past, and that broody hens will consume almost as much feed as producing hens. Moreover, he added, early moulters are notoriously poor egg producers, since they take longer to moult than those that start late, and are non-producers for longer periods than late summer and early fall moulters.

Meanwhile, in Atlanta, Harry Wise, poultry marketing specialist of the Production and Marketing Administration's Poultry Branch, gave strong backing to the county agent's advice.

"It's just plain good business," Wise declared, "to stop keeping the hens that aren't keeping you. The markets are short on good fat hens, and prices are fairly good. All two-year-old hens should be culled and their places in the farm flock given to young birds. It's an accepted fact that pullets are more profitable layers than hens. Now that hot weather is here, extra care should be taken to insure that eggs are gathered frequently, properly stored, and marketed under the best possible conditions. Better eggs will mean better prices."

Of the two-year-old hens, County Agent Ozlin said, "such birds are probably producing so few eggs now that the weather has turned hot that they are not paying their feed bill."

He advised flock owners to look for the birds whose beaks and shanks have begun turning yellow, and whose combs are turning pale and smaller.

The marriage of "Al" and "Polly Ethyl"

We're speaking of the "Al" (short for Aluminum) and "Polly Ethyl" (a nickname for polyethylene) which have been joined to make the new "Alpoth" sheath for telephone cable. Gradually, this durable cover is replacing hard-to-get lead sheathing. Another development of Bell System research, it is helping us bring better telephone service to more people sooner.

Need new parts in a hurry?

When equipment breaks down and time is money, there's a good chance you can locate new parts quickly by calling Long Distance. The service is fast, personal, dependable. Most Long Distance telephone calls go through while you hold the line. Some typical low rates are listed on the inside front cover of your telephone directory.

Proper spacing pays dividends

If you've ever packed eggs, you know that spacing is important. The same is true of telephone calls on a party line. By allowing an interval between calls, you give your party-line neighbors a chance to use the line. And well-spaced calls also make it easier for your friends to reach you by telephone. "Spacing" means better telephone service for everyone. The Chesapeake & Potomac Telephone Company of Virginia.

Gonzmart, Glen Gray, Louis Prima and Jerry Wayne Head Entertainers This Week

Just Another Recording
Catapults Wayne To Fame

Jerry Wayne, singing star who began an engagement at the Latin Quarter yesterday, can thank his hit recording of "You Can't Be True, Dear," for placing him in the higher brackets. This disk reached the top on all juke box and record sales listings early in 1948 at a time when Jerry was finding the going a little rough.

Instantaneously, radio and personal appearance plums fell his way, leaving Jerry not only dazed, but still wondering how the record, made on a minor league label, ever reached such dizzy sales heights.

A Chicago organist, Ken Griffin, heard someone humming the tune, a rather ripe ditty that was first published in Cologne, Germany, back in 1938, under the title "Du Kannst Nicht Treu Sein," worked it into a straight organ number, and made a recording. Later, in 1948, a New York music publisher acquired rights to the song and made a recording with Jerry Wayne singing new lyrics.

By that time, the Petrillo ban on instrumental recordings was in effect, so the platter was made by dubbing Wayne's voice against the original organ number. Jerry sang it and improvised a few bars of whistling to fill in a dead spot. After the record clicked, eighteen other licensed recordings, all remarkably similar, were made.

The amusing part about it is

400-Foot "Slide for Life" Climaxes Act

The Xcellos, two young aerial acrobats, began a two-week engagement at the Seaside Park Monday. The aerialists will perform 125 feet above the ground, climaxing their act with a daring slide for life by the girl down a 400-foot cable.

They will entertain park patrons twice daily, at 4 and 9 p.m. through Sunday. Following the Xcellos the park will let loose a dazzling array of fireworks Thursday night. The next act to appear at Seaside Park will open July 25.

that Jerry had to get permission from the large Recording Company, his disk sponsors, in order to do the dub-in job. They gave him an okay and watched the record cut into their sales.

Pioneer Orchestra
Of Swing Next
At Cavalier Club

Glen Gray and his Casa Loma orchestra will take over on the open deck of the Cavalier Beach Club tonight.

Casa Loma, as the band and Gray prefer to be billed, was the pioneer band in the swing trend some years back. Glen and his boys did for the dance and listen rage in popular music what Paul Whiteman did for jazz in earlier days. The Casa Loma men were three years ahead of Benny Goodman in picking up the new musical style and have led the trend ever since.

Gray himself is the most important member of the crew, doubling as leader, arranger, sax soloist and president of the unique organization. The Casa Loma men are an incorporated business group, with each member of the group owning stock and a voice in the management of the unit.

In 1934, Gray joined Joan Goldkette's Orange Blossoms as lead saxophonist. In 1939, the Orange Blossoms became the Casa Loma orchestra, with Glen elected president and leader. The band went to New York, weathering the depression to emerge one of the top outfits in the nation, musically speaking. The Casa Loma men have maintained that position since.

Featured with the band besides Gray are Fats Daniels, clarinet playing vocalist; Morgan Miller, also a reedman-vocalist; and Julie O'Brien, girl singer who has appeared with some of the best bands in the nation. In all, the Casa Loma men number sixteen, with every member a specialist in novelty and straight numbers.

Reynard, Tarrah
Ceded First In Tennis TourneyTwo Divisions Open To Net Men At Beach Playground

Billy Tarrah and Allan Reynard have been placed in the Number One slots for the Virginia Beach Tennis Tournament beginning on Tuesday.

Besides Reynard, nine other boys have entered the six-day tournament, while 10 players in the men's division have signed to play. Boys not over 17 years of age are eligible to participate in the tournament.

Drawings for the pairings will take place Monday and the juniors will start play the following day. The men will begin play this week-end.

The tournament, the first to be held at the playground in several years, will be under the supervision of Mrs. Orlan Avett. Officials for the event have not yet been named.

Players who are interested in entering the tournament are advised to sign up at the playground immediately.

Those who have already signed in the junior division are: Buddy Leatherwood, ceded Number Two; Bobby Woodhouse, Number Three; and Jack Cole, "Buddy Brooks, Clyde Bonney, Bob Senter, Leon Salsburg, Barry Specter, and Whitehead.

Players scheduled to participate in the men's division are: Tex Cauffman, ceded Number Two; Wells, Charlie Richards, Lawrence Lockwood, Bob Halestead, B. C. McCleskey, M. T. Holland, and M. R. Mathias.

Trophies for the winners are on display in the shack at the playground.

Band and Dance
Team Take Over
At Piney Point

The Kings and Their Ladies, something new and unusual on the dance horizon, will appear at Piney Point Boat Club beginning Wednesday.

These seven lovely girls and one handsome gentleman perform the most complicated of dance routines with ease. And this magic in terpsichore is set against a backdrop of multi-colored costumes.

Highlighting this group are two versatile and fascinating dancers, Candace and King, who weave their choreographic routine against the setting of the others.

The group has appeared at such night spots as the Lido Club in San Francisco, the Mayfair Club in Hollywood, Florida, and the Carousel in Montreal.

Beside the dance group Cesar Gonzmart and his band will open Wednesday in place of Don Grimes.

Gonzmart, who believes that music should be played for listening as well as dancing pleasure, pays as much attention to Latin melodies as he does the strong and sensuous rhythms. He sings many of his numbers in English and Spanish.

Plans Elaborate
Party at Yacht Club

The Norfolk Southern Railway Company will hold its annual "President's Party" for some 450 shippers and receivers at the Cavalier Yacht and Country Club Saturday.

A crab feast will be the main attraction for the large party. Preparations for the celebration have been going on for the past month. Rufus Knight, manager of the club, said, "A 160-foot tent will be set up on the lawn of the club overlooking Lynnhorn Bay. Extensive preparations for equipment, food and entertainment are being made. A hand will be obtained to play for the group."

Is Thirty
the Love
Deadline?

WHEN DOES A MAN STOP LOVING? Back in 1938 Dr. Will C. Durant, author of "The Story of Philosophy" stated that a man past thirty was incapable of love. The statement, so the story goes, threatened to break up innumerable happy households and also brought forth a storm of criticism.

A galaxy of literary and artistic stars answered his statement in a series of articles published in 1938.

Just for kicks, the NEWS dips back to reprint a few of the loving articles—love being love in any era. Comments are invited.

By Bud Fisher
Dear John:

You sent me a quotation from a so-called is, maybe, or what have you, a Dr. Will C. Durant. "A man past thirty is incapable of love."

Personally, I have never had the displeasure of meeting the doc and the displeasure is no doubt mutual, but with one peek at the doc's pan I can easily understand that the doctor looks like more or less of a sedate, quiet sort of gent and could easily be credited with assuming the aforesaid attitude. I naturally assume that the doc passed the thirtieth year of his life and might be even now on the home stretch. The older they are the harder they fall for the bunk—that there is any age limit on love.

In these days the doc can't be "ruled off for trying." It wouldn't be necessary to stop at a filling station to see that the doc is running on a flat tire. In fact it would be easily noticed by a quick peek at the picture of his philosophical bean that the doctor nurses a neatly clipped clod of flea ladders on the only motive portion of the human skull—the jaw.

If the doc can prescribe human activity in a couple of lines then I can diagnose his own statement by a slant at his map.

One can also notice, even two could notice, that the doc filters the fresh air to his bellows via the hedge route under his back designed by nature for the sense of smelling, not blockading one of the five senses—if any.

All of which makes it necessary for a chaste salute, generally known as a kiss, to be passed to the kisser's facial gap by means of a pea-shooter—especially if the kisser's skin is a bit sensitive if she or it had not gone through a course of intensive training, using a coil of barbed wire as a sparring partner.

Perhaps this self-inflicted idea of mainly beauty—covering a chin with a set of bristles—may have caused many a fair damsel or damsel to break slow at the barrier.

This handicap might possibly have made the doc sour on the weaker or in this case of synthetic love diagnosis, stronger sex. The good doc's own actions tell his own words as they have been quoted to me that "A man past thirty is incapable of love." The unnecessary packing of chin germ catchers might show that dignified doctors are in love—in love with themselves.

But why dignified mental perspiration? When the skull is dead, the brush frequently still grows—ask any undertaker, take my word for it. This might be circumstantial evidence in the case in hand. How do I know?

Don't feed the trained seals as you pass out on the left. Jim, bring the mop.

BUD FISHER

LOVELY CONNIE BOSWELL—Popular singer, Connie Boswell, who appeared at the Latin Quarter last week, gave freely of her time to the local press. Here she talks with Grace Jordan, of the Virginia Beach News, in a frank interview. (Simmons Photo)

Golden Voice Connie Boswell
Considers Herself Very Lucky

Connie Boswell considers herself a lucky person.

Why not? She has a golden voice—has enjoyed continued popularity for many years in radio, on the stage, in movies, and now in television. She is an accomplished cellist. She has gone places and done things—has won fame and fortune.

She also has been paralyzed from infantile paralysis since babyhood.

Petite, husky-voiced, she is a sunny person, filled with vitality. She speaks of her youthful illness with the utmost candor.

"We were living in New Orleans, where I was born. I guess I wasn't quite three when I contracted polio. For four or five months she was paralyzed from the top of my head to my toes." In four or five months some muscular use of her arms was gained and henceforth improvement came—tediously and slow.

She never regained use of her legs, and still must depend on a wheeled chair to get around, but she can move about quickly and gracefully from wheelchair to chair.

The best thing for her recovery, she believes, was when her mother, herself a musician, set her to train the infant Connie to play the cello. "It was wonderful exercise for my arms," Connie says. "Besides I loved music, so I enjoyed it."

One regret is that during the war, the USO wouldn't let her go overseas, according to Connie. "I even went to work and begged them to let me go overseas, but they said they were afraid to let me go." She made up for the disappointment by entertaining the troops at home.

While she studied the cello Connie taught herself to play the piano, which she still does for her own amusement. She never had formal singing lessons, either, but she has been singing "for as long as I can remember."

She learned old Negro spirituals from the New Orleans servants, and the blues songs of the levees. From her mother's copious record library she learned something of opera.

This latter was instrumental in her decision to make one of her records that has remained perennially popular through the years—"Martha." Among the old recordings (Connie still treasures them) was one of Caruso's records from the opera "Martha." She sang it along with the great tenor's recorded voice when she was a youngster, and when it was suggested that she make a "jazzy-up" arrangement of the song she threw her whole heart into it.

She does all of her own arranging and has added to her repertoire several tunes from the current Broadway hit "South Pacific."

The Ocean Breeze

By J. J. Lee

Early Monday morning we waded through paper rolls and trash, slid around ancient presses and finally squeezed out the back door of the shop to our resting jeep. We shifted gears faster than a bartender can switch from an ordered scotch and soda to water and Old Gluckheimer and beat it down the beach to gather a bit of this and that.

We soon bounced to a halt beside a fellow whose face was as long as the arm of the law. Business, which he preferred not mentioned, looked bad. Too much competition—too many tables, in fact too much of everything on that resort. Something, he said, is going to break—and soon. We moved on.

The plan to sink two or three LST's in the waters off the south end of the beach, which is now being studied by the town, might well serve instead of an expensive jetty.

There seems to be, however, little assurance at this time that the LST's will offer adequate protection against erosion. Nevertheless, we overheard a conversation by a man who claims that a long-since sunken ship lies very close to the shore at 83rd St. He says he can remember walking out to it when he was a kid.

There is no marking of the ship on any chart and it is not mentioned anywhere in Coast Guard records, he declared. But the fact remains that the section of the beach north of where the ship lies is the widest part of the beach.

There is no verification to this story nor is there any reason to believe, if the story is true, that the sunken ship is the sole cause of the wide beach.

Something, though, must be done about the sand erosion and the plan to sink several ships seems well worth a trial.

Hot wotting to the burlesque show at the old Roland Theatre, which was supposed to open near July 1. Construction on the theatre has stopped and owner Ned Crane has not been seen in the past week.

Supreme Court Justice Hugo Black must have enjoyed his first stay at the Gay Manor—and the Beach. He has made reservations for later in the season.

Not too many porpoises have been seen off the shores of Virginia Beach this season. The water has been too rough. As a rule they glide by in the morning when the wind is west and the water calm.

Doc Edilton, manager of the concessions at Seaside Park for the past six years, was taken to the hospital recently. What was thought to be a cancer turned out to be a hemorrhage. Ransy, grey-haired Doc is expected to return to the park before the summer is out.

Bill Snider, local reporter for the Norfolk Ledger-Dispatch, is now acting, on a part-time basis, as publicity agent for the Cavalier Hotel.

E. B. (Bubba) Bayne, Fire Chief, and Mrs. Orlan Avett, playground superintendent, should be congratulated for the splendid work they have been doing in promoting sports activities at Virginia Beach. Both have spent considerable time in planning programs and setting up tournaments for the home folk and guests at the resort.

Bubba promoted the recent football tournament. Crowds packed the playground to watch the event. It was the first Beach sponsored tournament and Bubba received several congratulations from club officials of the out-of-town entries on the smoothness in which the tournament was handled.

Mrs. Avett has worked out a tennis tournament for this week. It will be the first to be held here in several years. The tennis backstops have been repaired and new nets bought. Players may still enter the six-day tournament, she said.

Remmie Arnold Is 'Horatio Alger' Candidate for Governorship

By Ernest C. Feltner

When one reads the life story of Remmie L. Arnold he feels he is turning the pages of "Do or Die," "Bound to Win," or other books with which Horatio Alger inspired boys of yesterday. Few characters created by this writer of bygone days had more obstacles to overcome than did the Petersburg candidate for the gubernatorial nomination.

Remmie Arnold's story is that of a 6-year-old boy selling papers on the streets of his native city—a boy forced to leave school in order to help support his family, but a boy with an indomitable spirit that moved him upward to proprietorship of the second largest pen and pencil manufacturing plant in the world.

In spite of his only five years of schooling, Remmie Arnold cannot be sold short on education.

As soon as he could accumulate enough money he started buying correspondence courses and burning the midnight oil. After he was married and through the years he has continued his studies which even include reading law.

Mill Worker

When forced to leave school at the age of 12 he started his career as a 33-a-week planing mill worker. Subsequently he held jobs as riveter, stock room clerk in a shoe factory, jewelry repairman, benchman in a trunk factory, and railway clerk. At 19 Arnold bought his first piece of real estate—three acres of land and a two-room house in Chesterfield County.

After working hard he added two more rooms to the cottage. The urge to get into business on his own took shape when he was 20. While still holding down his job in the city he built his own grocery store at St. 46 on the old Richmond-Petersburg car line. His father looked after the business in the daytime and he took over in the evening and on Saturdays. People began to notice his amazing energy. Long hours and hard work meant nothing to him, for he seldom finished his labors before 1 or 2 o'clock in the morning, only to have to make an early car for his day's work. In 1915 he became connected with the Edison Pen Company, later serving as president and general manager.

In 1935 he founded the R. L. Arnold Pen Company, and in 14 years has developed it into a manufacturing plant whose products are found in every country in the world. Because of his struggles to attain the position he now occupies he has been a crusader for the "little man," feeling that every one should have an opportunity to make good. He has been especially helpful to young men, and he has given many of them their start in the business world. His consideration for his workers is one of the most outstanding traits in the character of Remmie Arnold, and it has paid off in cooperation.

Many Friends

Arnold's charm, the fact that he brings with him an aura of gentility and friendship, has brought him thousands of friends in his swing around the state in his campaign for Governor.

His reputation for work is not confined to the borders of his State. As national president of the American War Dads his service during the last world war and after cessation of hostilities were well known throughout the nation, and on the battlefronts and in hospitals in England, France, Italy, Belgium and Africa.

In recognition of his efforts as head of the War Dads after he had been turned down for active military duty, Lord Halifax, then British ambassador to the United States, extended Arnold an invitation for a six week's tour of England. As guest of the British government he visited American hospitals and camps in England and inspected British war plants. He was presented to Parliament and held conferences with Prime Minister Winston Churchill and other top British officials. While in England he was invited by General Eisenhower to Allied headquarters and later was given opportunity to visit front lines of all the American theaters to be able to tell people in the United States what was happening on the battlefronts.

He reported his observations following his return, traveling more than 100,000 miles at his own expense to plead for more nurses, more guns and ammunition, and other necessities, that the enemy might be conquered as quickly as possible. Back in the States he personally wrote more than 5,000 letters to mothers and fathers of the boys and girls with whom he had talked in the hospitals, camps and battlefronts.

As president of the American War Dads he took part in obtaining the "armistice" by Congress of the GI Bill of Rights.

Remmie Arnold was born in Petersburg on Jan. 25, 1894, the son of Andrew Alexander Arnold and Mary Virginia Arnold, and was christened Remmie LeRoy.

His father died in 1928, and his 20-year-old mother resides in Petersburg.

Mrs. Arnold

In 1918, he was married to Charline Lawrence Sears, of Charlottesville, S. C. She shared with him his struggles of early manhood and has played an important role in his climb to success. During his campaign for Governor she accompanies him on his tours to hear him expound his theories as to how Virginia may keep in the march of progress through businesslike administration.

Mr. and Mrs. Arnold have two children—Remmie L. Arnold, Jr., and Dorothy Lawrence. Remmie, Jr., 29, was educated in the public schools and later received a BS degree in industrial engineering from the University of Virginia. He participated in most of the major engagements. On January 29 of this year he was wed to Miss Mildred Ann Spain, and at present is vice-president of his father's pen company.

Miss Dorothy Arnold was educated in the public schools of Petersburg and later attended Sweet Briar College. She was married to Robert John Waite in 1944, and they have a 2-year-old son, Robert, Jr. Waite is now comptroller of the R. L. Arnold Pen Company.

Aside from his wife, possibly the proudest person in Petersburg of Remmie L. Arnold is his mother. When informed that he was going to be a candidate for Governor she said, as on previous occasions, that Remmie "just had too much to do" and she was afraid a campaign would overtake him, but now that she is reconciled to the fact that he is in the race she believes he will win.

"Remmie always was a good boy," she says. "He is a hard worker and had more energy than any boy I have known. He read everything he could lay his hands on and had a craving for knowledge. It almost broke our hearts when circumstances forced him to leave school. Remmie has made a success of every job he tackled. I am confident he is going to be a big success as Governor of Virginia."

Life-long Democrat

During his boyhood days he attended the Episcopal church, to which his parents belonged. Later he joined the West End Baptist Church of Petersburg, of which he now is a member. He has been a lifelong Democrat.

Although Remmie Arnold finds little time during his campaigning for recreation, in normal times he spends as many hours as he can find from his business and other activities, on his 700-acre farm, "Arnolds," near Disputanta. He is a lover of animals and often one finds him strolling over his estate with his German shepherd dog, inspecting his Aberdeen-Angus cattle or stroking the heads of his thoroughbred horses. His stable ranks high in the Palmetto Horse Association and the Tennessee Walking Horse Breeders of America.

In addition to his fine stables and herd of cattle, he also raises pigs and chickens.

While Remmie Arnold is first a businessman, he does not regard "Arnolds" farm as a hobby. He is a practical farmer and has worked toward the furthering of agriculture, particularly in cattle breeding, marketing, and in soil fertility. While specializing in cattle raising, he raises diversified crops, and this year he received a certificate from the One Hundred Bushels an Acre Corn Club of Virginia for having harvested 108 bushels per acre on his farm.

During harvest season you may find him in the fields pulling corn, and he is as much at home on a tractor as any farm hand.

Aside from his activities in the business world, most of Arnold's recognition has come from civic and fraternal organizations. He has been at one time or another a member of virtually every type of organization in the country. Among his achievements in this line are the Shrine which ranks him as one of the most outstanding members in the country.

He also has served as national president of the Circus Saints and Sinners Club, national counselor of the United States Chamber of Commerce, and president of the Southern State Industrial Council. Last year he was appointed a member of the advisory board of President Truman's National Security Committee and is now a member of the Industry Committee of the United States Department of Labor.

In its May issue, Look Magazine applauded him, saying, "Remmie LeRoy Arnold has one of the South's most outstanding records for good citizenship. . . ."

Aside from being a Shriner, his other Masonic connections are Samis Grotto, of Richmond, Royal Order of Jesters, Royal Order of Scotland, Wayfarers Masonic Club, Spots of Club of Richmond, Clifton Forge-Covington Shrine Club, Alexandria Shrine Club. Other fraternal connections are the Elks, Eagles, Knights of Pythias, Dramatic Order Knight of Khorassan, Improved Order of Red Men, and T. F. A.

His civic and public service activities include Petersburg Chamber of Commerce, Virginia State Chamber of Commerce, United States Chamber of Commerce, Virginia Manufacturers' Association, National Association of Manufacturers, Virginia Travel Council, and Fourth District Conference of Social Work. His social clubs include the Petersburg Country Club, Princess Anne Country Club, Commonwealth Club of Richmond, Indian Swamp Fishing Club, Virginia Fox Hunters' Association, Deep Run Hunt Club, and Adventurers Club.

Council Member

Although Remmie Arnold makes no claims to being a politician, he did serve Petersburg in the City Council from 1936 to 1944. He is proud of the fact he reduced taxes and at the same time increased salaries. During his administration he was instrumental in getting two raises for school teachers, personal property and auto taxes lowered.

The fact that he found ways and means of reducing taxes and at the same giving two boosts in salary to the city employees is one reason he is waging an extensive campaign in the race for the governorship against the proposed sales tax and their additional levies. He believes that as a businessman he can find means of meeting Virginia's needs under the present structure.

He feels that the people of Virginia are already taxed to death, and he is making this issue one of the most important in his campaign platform. He has told his hearers all over the State this: if a sales tax is placed on the shoulders of the people it will affect every man, woman and child in the Old Dominion and will work a hardship on those who can least afford to dig into their budgets. It has been estimated that a sales tax would mean a reduction of from 2 to 3 per cent in their pay.

Remmie Arnold, the man who has had to come up the hard way, feels confident that with a capable business management, yes, if not all of the pressing needs of Virginia can be met without the imposition of additional taxes.

Those of us who have watched his rise in the world of business are confident he can accomplish it, if and when he becomes the next Governor.

Princess Anne County's Home Owners Have Huge Repair Job

Repair expenditures on Princess Anne County's non-farm homes will total an estimated $485,000 during 1949 and will serve as an important factor in keeping both labor and business activity at high levels, according to a report just released by the Title Council of America.

"Practically every trade in the community will benefit this year from home repair expenditures," declared A. T. Wintersgill, chairman of the council's residential construction committee. Such repair work, he pointed out, is a vital stabilizing influence throughout the building trades.

Painting and redecorating will account for about $39 of every $100 to be spent here on home repairs, the report revealed. Roofing repairs will take $25 to $30, and work with stone, glass and clay tile about $6.

Carpentry repairs will require approximately $5 of the theoretic $100, and installation of showers, tiling of bathrooms and replacement of plumbing will account for another $4. Miscellaneous work will take the balance of the $100, according to the report.

"Production of such materials as finished hardwood flooring, clay tile for baths and kitchens, and cement reached all-time high in 1948, and 1949 output of products for construction promises to be more than ample for both home building and repair," Mr. Wintersgill declared.

Most materials are available today in a much wider range than at any time since the war, he pointed out. Clay tile manufacturers, for instance, have added scores of new hues to color lines in recent months, he said.

Vacation Bible School Holds Commencement

The Vacation Bible School held by the First Baptist Church, which began June 13, held its commencement last week. The enrollment was 163 with an average attendance of 82. The school was very successful in every way, said a church spokesman, and much credit is due the faithful members of the faculty, numbering 16. The commencement program was well attended.

Refreshments were served every day and also at the close of the commencement. Dr. Ira D. S. Knight is pastor of the church.

Henrico, Chesterfield and Norfolk counties had the highest number of forest fires during the past spring season, according to the Virginia Forest Service. 63 fires burned 142 acres in Henrico, 60 fires burned 138 acres in Chesterfield and 48 fires burned 397 acres in Norfolk county.

Do You Know ?

There is a place next to the Hotel Martha Washington at 7th Street, Atlantic Avenue, that has successfully operated for 8 years called CHIX. They specialize and produce something that you can eat there, take out in a box or they will deliver it. Every year someone tries to produce it with no success. To produce it you must have the best and there is no other place on Virginia Beach that has made a success of producing it. What is it? Delicious Southern Fried Chicken Dinner for 25c.

Beauty by Chrysler

The Beautiful Chrysler | Silver Anniversary Model

Beauty In Appearance! Every clean, lovely line has purpose and meaning. Beauty that is useful is the Chrysler idea. A striking line of chrome along the fenders may please your eye, but it's there to act as a rub rail. Behind each detail of Chrysler design there's a story of common sense and imagination in engineering.

Beauty In Comfort! A chair at home is beautiful if fine design gives it grace and comfort. Chrysler chair-height seats have this kind of beauty, too. Perfectly proportioned for comfort, they seat you at the proper height to see the road and to enjoy your drive. Comfort that has beauty through fine design—that's the secret of Chrysler engineering and the relaxing pleasure of driving a Chrysler.

Beauty In Performance! You know what we mean the moment you feel the smooth response of the great Spitfire High Compression engine. With Prestomatic Fluid Drive Transmission, driving is wonderfully easy. Start in third, a slight lift of your toe takes you into cruising range. You rarely touch the gear shift lever. A few minutes in this car give you pleasure it would take a book to describe. Phone for a demonstration today.

Windy fixed it all right. He "stopped the show" for us, and Buzz Ellis had to come over and do a $20 repair job. I understand

Resident Engineer Hubbard Has Many Problems in Road Drainage

Many problems are involved in maintaining Virginia's roads, and E. D. Hubbard, highway department resident engineer for Norfolk and Princess Anne counties, has his share of them.

"Many persons don't understand the limited responsibility of the highway department in doing drainage work. The highway department drains only the roads—not adjoining fields and residential locations," he stated. Dumping of garbage and trash along the roadside is another problem in this section, according to Mr. Hubbard. The cleaning up of this debris is becoming so expensive that it is seriously cutting into funds needed for other work. State and county police have been alerted to look out for violators of the law against dumping.

Mr. Hubbard says that right of way encroachment is a great handicap in maintenance and construction work. In cleaning ditches, workers can often work from only one side because of fences being too close. The widening of some roads is prohibited by encroachments of all kinds—fences, retaining walls, buildings, and entrances. Funds are inadequate to both clear the right of way and do construction work.

If you are planning to do any work on land which may be on the right of way, Mr. Hubbard urges that you see him in his office in Norfolk before work is begun.

A Friend Suffers Pulled Ligament at "Athletic Event"

A friend of ours has a pulled ligament in his back as a result of too much strenuous exercise over the July 4 holiday.

It's not that he is the athletic type, but he likes a "game" now and then. Seems that he was indulging at one of the well-known night spots in a game that involves counters and small cubes with dots. Purpose of the game, we have been told, is to avoid throwing a seven, unless you can do it the first time.

Anyway, in the heat of the athletic event, our friend leaned over to make a more vigorous toss of the little cubes. He tore that ligament.

One should be careful not to exercise too strenuously.

Johnson Warns Business Firms And Hotels that Cashing Checks Without Identification Is Risky

Hotel Personnel Should Be Alerted, Says Police Chief

A warning went out this week from Police Chief Reeves E. Johnson to merchants and hotelmen to beware of cashing checks for strangers unless identification is positive.

The warning followed on the heels of the apprehension in New Jersey of a "hot check" artist who billed a hotel and several merchants at Virginia Beach during the first two weeks of July. After leaving Virginia Beach, he repeated his performance in Lynchburg, before heading for New Jersey. Extradition papers for the man have been prepared and sent to Governor Tuck for action.

When taken into custody in New Jersey on July 16 on the basis of information furnished by the Virginia Beach police department, it was discovered that the impressive limousine in which he and his companion had visited Virginia Beach was a car reported stolen in West Newark, N. J., on June 9.

The man had passed himself off at the Beach as the Eastern representative of a well known Hollywood modelling school, a fact that was subsequently found false on investigation by Beach police.

Chief Johnson said that this was not the first instance of bad check passing at Virginia Beach this summer, and that merchants and hotelmen should demand full identification when cashing checks for strangers. He added that the carelessness of one of the employees of a firm cashing checks for the man taken into custody in New Jersey had helped materially in identifying and apprehending him.

Chief Johnson suggested that when driver's licenses are used for identification, not only the license number but also the home address of the check casher might be noted down.

There is not an unusual number of bad checks being passed this year, Chief Johnson said, but he indicated that the beginning of a trend might be seen in the number coming at once. He believed that merchants should be on the alert.

Employees should be trained to recognize proper identification, the chief said. He gave as an amusing example of what one "trained" employee believed to be "proper identification" the young lady who refused a bona fide police identification (complete with signature, thumb print, and other data) and accepted a beach club membership card, on which the name of the person being identified had been written in by another.

Bounds Speaker at Rotary Meeting Thursday Night

Carroll Bounds, supervising engineer of the Town of Virginia Beach, was the principal speaker at the weekly meeting of the Virginia Beach Rotary Club held Thursday night at the Pine Tree Inn.

Mr. Bounds spoke of the work being done in the town and the problems that confront his office from day to day.

Mr. Bounds was introduced by The Rev. Frank H. Van Dyck, Jr., chairman of the club's community service committee and program chairman for the month of July. The Rev. Edmund Berkeley, of the Galilee Episcopal Church, addressed the club the previous week.

The Rev. Mr. Van Dyck announced that Trafton Robertson, of radio station WTAR in Norfolk, would be the guest speaker next week.

County Farmers Get Aid from Forest Service

Many Services Are Available to Timber Owners in Area

The headquarters office of the Virginia Forest Service in Portsmouth has announced that during the fiscal year July 1, 1948, to June 30, 1949, in the counties comprising District No. 8, which include Princess Anne, Accomac, Isle of Wight, Nansemond, Norfolk and Northampton, a total of 80 land owners were given woodland management assistance. This assistance included marking and estimating trees to be cut for lumber, pulpwood and/or fuel, the marking of seed trees, and recommendations for planting tree seedlings.

This service is available to any woodland owner of Virginia. At the request of a land owner a forester will examine the owner's property and make recommendations for its best forest use. There is no charge for this preliminary service. Also, for a nominal fee a forester will mark and give to the owner a volume estimate of the trees to be removed. Seed trees can also be marked by the Virginia Forest Service for a charge of 8 cents per tree in compliance with the recently enacted Pine Seed Tree Act, which requires a seed source be left at the time of cutting timber on any area in which pine makes up 50 per cent or more of the total volume.

Requests for this service or questions concerning any phase of forestry or the Pine Seed Tree Act may be addressed to Box 266 Portsmouth, Virginia, or telephone Portsmouth 75991.

Short Course for Gardeners at VPI August 8-12

A short course for Virginia's gardeners will be held at V. P. I., Blacksburg, Va., August 8-12, according to A. G. Smith, Jr., horticulturist at the college.

Mr. Smith, who is general chairman of the school, says the event is open to anyone interested in gardening.

Topics to be discussed by V. P. I. staff members include: landscaping the home grounds, by A. S. Beecher; propagation of plants, by J. O. Nicholson; study of native plants, by A. B. Maasey; the vegetable garden, by F. S. Andrews; small fruits for home use, by H. Bruce Arnold; and pest control, by J. O. Howell.

Mr. Smith explains that all lecture classes are scheduled in the morning, and are arranged so students may take all six subjects.

Tours, field trips and demonstrations are being planned for afternoon sessions.

Registrations for the school should be made through Mr. Smith, department of horticulture, V. P. I., Blacksburg, Virginia. A fee of $150 is being charged.

Sorority Planning Fall Fashion Revue

A fall fashion review is being planned by the Alpha Chi Chapter of Beta Sigma Phi sorority at the Panorama Room of the Cavalier Beach Club on Friday, August 26.

Clothes will be shown from Mecca's, of Norfolk, and will include custom-made clothes, suitable for all ages and types. Special emphasis will be placed on colors for fall and special figure problems.

ART BY THE SEA—Mrs. Christine Walker's class of youngsters spent a profitable morning studying by the ocean, where they painted and sketched water and sand dunes. ### County and Town Police Raid Three Local Night Clubs

Three local night clubs, the Latin Quarter, the Dunes Club, and Piney Point, were raided on Wednesday night, and men in charge of the gaming rooms of the three clubs were held by police charged with possession of gambling paraphernalia.

The men, H. P. Etheridge, Latin Quarter, Robert L. Sumner, Piney Point, and Joseph Gorman, Dunes Club, are out on $250 bond pending their appearance before Police Court Justice E. V. Gresham on July 26.

Confiscated in the raid, which took place at 9:30 p.m. simultaneously at the three clubs, were three crap tables, a blackjack table, slot machines, dice and chips.

Officers of the Princess Anne County Police and the Virginia Beach Police, headed up by the two police chiefs, conducted the raids.

Chief Reeves E. Johnson said that the raids came about as the result of warrants drawn against the three places after reliable information had been secured from a survey.

Four Portsmouth Youths Fined $25 and Costs for Vandalism

Culprits Charged With Destroying Jaycee Benches

Four Portsmouth youths, ranging in age from 18 to 20 years, were fined $25 and costs and given 60 days in jail for the malicious breaking up of benches on the boardwalk, placed there by the Junior Chamber of Commerce. The vandalism took place over the Memorial Day week-end.

The case was heard by Judge E. V. Gresham, police justice, on Tuesday. Judge Gresham, in imposing sentence, suspended the jail term with the warning that the boys are to stay away from Virginia Beach. He added that "this is just a taste of what you will get if you are caught at it again."

The young men were apprehended on July 14 around midnight on the sand beach by Officers Walter Taylor and C. E. McClesney.

Beach police had been seeking the offenders since the first of June, after they had been partially identified by eye-witnesses.

The boys were accused of having smashed completely seven of the Jaycee benches, which are made of wood and concrete, and partially destroying six others. They maintained, after their apprehension that the breakage was due to the benches accidentally overturning.

Plans Progressing Well for Princess Anne County Fair

Plans of the Program Committee for the Princess Anne County Fair, sponsored by the Woman's Club, are well underway, according to the chairman, Mrs. Aubrey N. Holmes. The fair is scheduled for September 22 through 24 at the Casino Park.

Additional names have also been added to the roster of those who will assist the club in putting on the affair. They are: Claude Bell, retiring president of the Lions Club, and John Addenbrook and Leo Biley, Lions Club; and from the American Legion, Walter G. Holland and Samuel C. Foote.

The program committee, in addition to Chairman Holmes, consists of Mrs. Frank Kellam, Mrs. Leo Biley, Mrs. Lewis Thromm, Mrs. Delmas Jester, Mrs. Bryan Dudley, Mrs. Carleton Etheridge, Mrs. Vernon Watts, Mrs. J. C. Brady, Mrs. Champe Hearne, Mrs. George E. Snell, Mrs. Walter Gresham, Mrs. J. D. W. Casada, Mrs. Earl Duval, Mrs. Kenned

Jard, and Mrs. James Darden.

Correction - But We're Still Good

In reporting the Princess Anne County results in the Opportunity Bond Drive, we inadvertently said that between April 1 and July 2, the county had chalked up $550,000 sales of Series E bonds.

This was a typographical error. It should have read $50,000.25. Nevertheless, we still did exceptionally well in the bond drive, for the county's quota was just $30,000.

A more recent release, just received, puts the total on July 9 (a week before the closing date of the drive) at $52,556.25, which is still better.

Next week, the News will report the final results, which advance information indicates will be more of a jump.

Willis, Thompson Rotary Delegates To Convention

President Grayson K. Willis and Secretary William G. Thompson, Jr., of the Virginia Beach Rotary Club, will attend the 27th District Assembly of Rotary International to be held July 28-29 at the Hotel Chamberlin, Old Point Comfort, Virginia.

Willis and Thompson were recently elected to their respective offices by the membership of the local club and they will be attending their first district meeting.

"Bubba Bayne Night" To Be Observed At Beach Playground Saturday, August 6

"Buddy" Green Wins "Y" Honor Camper Award

Candlelight Award Ceremony Held At Boys' Camp

The third period of the Norfolk Central Y. M. C. A. Boys' Camp came to a close Saturday night with a candlelight ceremony. This ceremony was highlighted by the presentation of the Honor Camper Award to Robert "Buddy" Green, son of Mr. and Mrs. R. J. Green, Jr., 530 24th Street, Virginia Beach.

The Honor Camper emblem is the highest award given at the camp, and is given at the close of each camping period to the boy who has most distinguished himself by his spirit, prowess, and participation in camp life for the preceding two weeks. Besides the emblem, "Buddy" was presented with a white lanyard, thus becoming a member of the White Lanyard Club. This club is an organization composed of all former Honor Campers, present counselors at the camp, and the camp director, John "Doc" Kerr.

Runner-up for the Honor Camper award, Seaton Smith, of Petersburg, was also presented with a white lanyard.

Frankie Shotton, Jr., son of Mr. and Mrs. Fran Shotton, of Suffolk, was chosen for third honors; Bo Price, son of Harry Price, II, president of the Y. M. C. A. of Norfolk, ran fourth; and J. O. Bunting "Pumpkin" Brown, Jr., son of Mr. and Mrs. J. O. B. Brown, 405 32nd Street, Virginia Beach, took fifth honors.

Chesapeake Beach Woman's Club Directors Meet

The Board of Directors of the Woman's Club of Chesapeake Beach met at the home of the president, Mrs. L. L. Dillon, Tuesday, July 19, at 10:30 a.m.

Monthly programs for the coming year were planned and proposed activities listed.

The group decided on October 11, 1949, as the date for the birthday luncheon to celebrate the tenth anniversary of the club. The following committee will be in charge: Mrs. Lewis Causey, chairman; Mrs. R. M. Clifton, Mrs. C. G. Clough, and Mrs. E. L. Cooper.

Mrs. D. J. Wilkins, chairman of public welfare and citizenship department, was authorized to arrange for a typhoid clinic at the Community House, notice of the date and time to be announced as soon as arrangements are completed.

A committee was appointed from the board of directors to meet at the Community House Tuesday, July 26, at 10:30 a.m. to inventory the club's adult and children's libraries and formulate plans for obtaining new books.

A visitation campaign will be carried out during the remainder of the summer, and new members will be presented at the October meeting.

The resignation of Mrs. J. R. Bryant, youth chairman, was read and accepted.

ORDER EASTERN STAR TO HOLD ANNUAL FISH FEY MEET MONDAY, JULY 25

Members of Virginia Beach Chapter No. 75, Order of the Eastern Star, will hold their annual Fish Fry Picnic Monday, July 25, at 5:30 p.m. at Mr. and Mrs. John Marr's cottage, "Marr-Jon", at Chesapeake Beach. Members and their guests are asked to bring a covered dish.

Suggestion Box Poll Points to Need Of Beach Cleanup

One Person Also Suggests Check on Jail Conditions

Judging from a preliminary survey of the results of the Junior Woman's Club's suggestion-box poll of Virginia Beach, half of our visitors would like to see the Beach cleaned up.

Mrs. R. Lynn Kennett, who is chairman of the committee putting out the suggestion boxes for the Junior Club, said that one box was opened and found to contain 27 suggestions. Of these there were 13 asking that the Beach start a cleanup campaign, and complained of debris, empty bottles, beer cans, and trash in the streets and on the sand beach. Others objected to trash pick-ups on Atlantic Avenue, and the presence of open garbage containers set out for collection; and still others to untidy stores.

Runner-up to unsanitary conditions along the streets and on the beach was parking trouble. Visitors objected to having to lug suitcases and other traveling paraphernalia from parking places several blocks from their hotels.

Still another suggestion had to do with lessening rudeness and carelessness among those meeting the public.

The surprise suggestion was to the effect: "Have you been in jail recently? Would suggest you check conditions there!"

Mrs. Kennett expressed particular pleasure at the cooperative spirit shown by the hotel people who are asking their guests to share in the Suggestion Campaign. All merchants and citizens of Virginia Beach are urged by Mrs. Kennett to participate in the drive—to make their own suggestions and pass along those of their friends.

Police Chief Johnson Gets Recognition in FBI Bulletin

Police Chief Reeves E. Johnson was singled out for recognition in the July issue of the Federal Bureau of Investigation's Law Enforcement Bulletin.

The Bulletin, which is published by the Federal agency for law enforcement officers throughout the nation, described in some detail the problems, headaches, and techniques of a resort police department. It also went into some detail as to the supervision and training of the augmented summer force.

Jaycees Backing Garden Club's Cleanup Campaign

The Junior Chamber of Commerce of Virginia Beach and Princess Anne County announced its support of the Princess Anne Garden Club's cleanup campaign and drive for "A More Beautiful Princess Anne."

The announcement was made in a letter to Miss Elizabeth Gregory Hill, president of the Garden Club. The Jaycees will also get in touch with county and town officials to inform them of their participation in the campaign to do away with unsightly dumps, trash piles, uncovered garbage cans, picnic refuse, and other eyesores in the county and Virginia Beach.

The Garden Club instigated its drive some months ago. Members have appeared before the Board of Supervisors, the members of the town council, and before civic and fraternal clubs to solicit their aid.

Residents to Honor Beach Fire Chief for Untiring Efforts

Saturday, August 6, at the Virginia Beach Playground, will be "Bubba Bayne Night" to honor the man who has been instrumental in making the playground a reality.

"Bubba" will be the star attraction. Instead of the lights focusing on the work that he and his firemen have done on the playground, the lights will shine directly on him.

"Bubba," who is the Beach Fire Chief, has gone all out to improve the playground so that children could play in the park and Virginia Beach residents and guests could enjoy various sports events, ever since the land was donated to the town for a playground by the Norfolk Southern several years ago.

With the help of the firemen, "Bubba" has done such things as clearing the field, building the shack, installing lights, raising donations for an electric scoreboard, building bleachers and flagging and working out the recent Virginia Beach Invitational Football Tournament, to mention but a few.

Beach residents, in appreciation for the splendid work that "Bubba" has done, will sponsor the event, under the chairmanship of Alger Cohen, and a committee composed of the managers of the men's football league.

Three football teams will play during "Bubba Bayne Night," beginning at 8:30. Teams from the boys', girls' and men's leagues will play.

Contributions for "Bubba Bayne Night" may be sent to the News.

Livestock School To Be Held At 4-H Camp Farrar

Southeastern Virginia Farmers to Meet Here July 25-29

A livestock school for farmers in southeastern Virginia counties has been scheduled for July 25-29 at 4-H Camp Farrar, Virginia Beach, the animal husbandry department at V. P. I., has announced.

The school, first of its kind to be held in the state, will be open to farmers in the Extension Service southeastern district, which includes counties south of the James river and from Mechanicsburg east.

Although the agriculture in these counties is chiefly devoted to crops, department officials explained, there is much interest in livestock there and a need for a livestock program.

The school will cover best cattle, hogs, and dairies.

The program calls for a three-hour class each morning, and a three-hour on-the-farm demonstration each afternoon. The demonstrations will be held on the farms of Russell Davis and Jack Exkridge, both in Princess Anne. Instructors for the classes will include M. L. Dalton, D. E. Sumner, Jr., George C. Herring, and A. T. Lassiter, all of the animal husbandry staff.

On the closing day, there will be a discussion of pasture and forage crops by F. H. Eshard, agronomist; one on supplemental feeds to correct mineral deficiencies, by George Litton, animal husbandman, of V. P. I.; and one on animal diseases by a veterinarian not yet named.

The only cost to farmers attending the school will be board and room. Farmers interested in enrolling are asked to contact their county agent (H. W. Collins in Princess Anne) as soon as possible.

LET US MAKE OURSELVES CLEAR

To those of our "fans" who insist that the News is bringing bad publicity to Virginia Beach by its airing of certain flagrant disregard of the law on the part of both the violators and the law makers, we want to point out that the News is not the reason for the bad publicity. It is the law breaking and the turning of the official back to the law breaking that brings the bad publicity.

We do not make the news; we report it. In these columns, we comment on it. In these columns we point out what in our opinion the countenancing of double standards before the law will mean to the community in the long run.

We are not responsible for the bad publicity—those responsible are those who allow the conditions to exist and contempt for law and order to develop.

We base our comments when we make them in this column on fact or on wide-spread acceptance of existing conditions. But for the most part, we have the actual facts before we comment. We are most reluctant to use anything that we do not have backed up with fact, regardless of the reliability of the sources.

Our main effort in this small-scale campaign of ours is to do away with what we called above "double standards before the law." If it is to be a wide-open Virginia Beach, then let the same leniency apply to all and sundry—no one should be the goat, no one should be forced to be the subject of a token cleanup.

For the respect of our governing body and police officers, we want to see that talk of "pay-offs" and "protection" can no longer be bandied about.

As a bit of incidental information to those who brand us unfairly for bringing to the printed page these things that are a common topic of conversation, we want to refer them to reports from other sections of the country where the papers are taking the liberty of mentioning Virginia Beach as a wide-open gambling haven.

For example, Jack Lait, in his syndicated column Broadway and Elsewhere, of July 20, said, in effect, that Manhattan is pretty "open" for the first time since 1912 and the Becker-Rosenthal scandal. But, he continues, Manhattan isn't an isolated instance of the awakening of gambling. A considerable sprinkling of the country, he says, seems to have "let down the bars," with "hot spots in Virginia Beach" and other cities.

LOCAL OPTION

It seems that one of the gubernatorial candidates has had the courage to come out favoring local option. In an interview with Stanley Hodges, who is on the Rennie L. Arnold-for-Governor staff, Mr. Hodges explained that Arnold's championship of "Town, city and county rights" includes local option for the community.

LOOKING BACK

TWENTY-ONE YEARS AGO — JULY 13, 1928

Construction of the Cayce Hospital was begun during the week of July 20, 1928, and made the headlines of the Virginia Beach Weekly of that date. Cost of the program, including the grounds, was set at $100,000.

A special election to be held for a decision on the issuance of town bonds was set for August 21. Two issues of $25,000 each were proposed, one for water bonds, the other general improvement bonds. Partly because of recent annexation of property into the town was the bond issue required. The Weekly stated: "At least $25,000 must be spent in the annexed territory before the tax rates can be equalized."

At the movies for the week were: "Wickedness Preferred," with Lew Cody and Allen Pringle; "The Gaucho," with Douglas Fairbanks, and "The Devil Dancer," with Gilda Gray. Miss Pringle was given a change of pace in "Wickedness Preferred," according to the advertising blurb. Heretofore she had played in what the Weekly described as "dramas of the Elmer Glyn type."

The State Department of Motor Vehicles warned that it would enforce laws concerning drunken driving.

Six Florida speed boats arrived for the regatta scheduled for the 15th of July, but they arrived one day late. The regatta was pronounced a success. Joe Deal, at the tiller of "Majo, Jr.," was a consistent winner in the events, and captured four firsts.

Behind the Scenes in American Business

By Reynolds Knight

New York—Free trade, that once-bright world ideal, is just about dead. Its death knell was sounded last week by Sir Stafford Cripps in announcing England's plans for meeting another one of its economic crises.

Under the Marshall Plan, the ideal of free trade was promoted. Consistent with this ideal, the U. S. recently lowered the tariffs on some 3,500 items for foreign nations to markets on these shores. But the actions that England must take, as described by Cripps, are diametrically opposed to free trade. England, in Sir Stafford's opinion can sell its goods and buy its food only through big barter deals. So it will get its meat from Argentina in exchange for the Argentine's shutting out all machinery except that made in England; a deal is now pending with Russia to trade English machinery for Russian wheat. With free trade goes also the principle of mutual aid as originally visualized under the Marshall Plan.

Sir Stafford's actions, as described in newspaper headlines, seem very remote to the average American. But they are not remote or meaningless. They are as grim realities as a drought or a flood to the American taxpayers whose labor, goods and services are being given so bountifully to the citizens of other nations.

What's Your Pleasure?—Sharp revision of popular concepts about America's drinking habits are indicated by an American Can Company review of reports about favorite beverages. The mildest of beverages are America's most popular drinks. Milk, beer, soft drinks, coffee and canned fruit and vegetable juices lead the list.

On a per capita basis, the average American last year consumed some 180.5 quarts of milk, 71.3 quarts of beer and 48 quarts of soft or carbonated drinks, compared with 4.7 quarts of hard liquors. Cans are used in some form in the packing and distribution of all five favorites, the study showed.

An almost five-fold increase in per capita consumption of canned fruit and vegetable juices during the past 10 years was noted in the analysis. New methods and processes for canning fresh-flavored orange, tomato and grapefruit juices were given credit for a major part of the increase.

Things to Come—Corned beef hash, packaged in a 7½-ounce tin and designed as the proper amount for a family of two, is being test-marketed in metropolitan New York. In contrast, the conventional, familiar "No. 2" can holds 16 ounces. . . . A cartridge, built into the handle of a tooth brush, will feed paste automatically to the brush while in use. . . . Now they're speeding up the oil draining process. The new gadget, made for filling stations, operates by compressed air, has a hose that can be connected to the crank case. . . . Miniatures: a 40-pound motor scooter designed primarily for private plane owners. Scooter collapses into a handy package for storing in the plane, can then be re-assembled for a 20-mile-an-hour speed from air.

HOME DEMONSTRATION NEWS

Judge Reed to Address Clubs

Judge J. Davis Reed, Princess Anne County Trial Justice, will address the Home Demonstration Clubs of Princess Anne County at 10 a.m., July 27, at Princess Anne Courthouse.

Judge Reed's speech will be a part of the clubs' planned program of instruction concerning legal matters pertaining to the home.

Pressure Cooker Gauge Arrives

The pressure-cooker gauge ordered by the county home demonstration clubs to check pressure cookers for canning has been received in the office of the home demonstration agent, Miss Jane Craig, and is ready for use by the clubs.

Those wishing to make use of it are asked to call Mrs. Charles F. Thomson or the home agent's office, at the Courthouse.

4-H Camp A Success

Thirty-three Princess Anne County boys and girls are attending Camp Farrar this week, and have pronounced it the "best we ever had."

The Princess Anne youngsters are a part of the total enrollment of 114 from Nansemond, Norfolk, and Princess Anne counties. In addition, there are eleven adult leaders present, and eleven extension workers.

Their planned program consists of games, recreation and instruction. The handcraft lessons in glass etching and birdhouse building have proved popular, as has the swimming and athletic events scheduled for the campers.

Evening programs call for dramatics, talent events, and skits put on by the 4-H'ers themselves.

Meetings to be Scheduled—Miss Jane Craig, home demonstration agent, announces that meetings will be scheduled next week, and will appear in the Home Demonstration Column of next week's News.

On Cooking Vegetables

Let water boil before putting vegetables in it to cook. That's the advice of Miss Jane Craig, home agent, who says that in recent research, turnip greens, put in to cook in about their own weight of cold water and cooked 30 minutes from time boiling began, held only about a third of their original vitamin C. Those put into boiling water and boiled the same length of time held three-fourths of their C. Likewise, asparagus and green beans, cooked by these two methods, retained more C when started in boiling water.

Mend Bedding Without Delay

You may be able to store some of your clothes from one season to the next, but bedding is one family item that gets a year-round workout, reminds Miss Jane Craig, home agent.

When you see a weak spot in a sheet, mend it before it rips beyond repair. Remove stains on bedding instantly, and don't use strong bleaches when you launder sheets. Don't use pillow cases as laundry bags. They weren't made for that, and they can't stand the strain.

Home Demonstration Clubs Plan Exhibits For County Fair

Princess Anne County Home Demonstration Clubs held a district meeting at Princess Anne Court House recently to plan for the County Fair, to be held September 22, 23 and 24.

Exhibits planned include arts, rugs, quilts, clothing, canning, frozen foods, mixes, flowers, and others. Persons interested in exhibiting are asked to get in touch with the leader of the particular group in which they are interested or with a member of the exhibit committee.

Leaders are: clothing, Mrs. E. W. Calk; home arts, Mrs. C. S. Mocks; frozen foods, Mrs. C. E. Upton; mixes, Mrs. J. L. Torbert; canning, Mrs. R. Brubecker; and flowers, Mrs. W. H. Smith.

The exhibit committee is composed of Mrs. R. M. Malbon, chairman, Nimmoo Club; Mrs. C. W. Lewis, Blackwater Club; Mrs. D. J. Vaughn, Princess Anne Club.

A ways and means committee was also selected at the district meeting, and is composed of Mrs. C. W. Lewis, Mrs. C. E. Upton, Mrs. E. W. Calk, Mrs. C. C. Nuckols, and Mrs. W. Munden.

FOR QUICKER CLEANING

Galvanized twin pall sets now are available at most hardware stores throughout the city. They consist of two palls fastened together by an easy-to-hold handle. The sets are a boon to busy householders. One pall may be filled with soapy water and the other with rinse water to facilitate routine cleaning chores.

Tour of Duty Cut for Medical Officers in Reserve Corps

To help relieve the shortage of medical officers, a special new regulation makes it possible for physicians, dentists and veterinarians who are members of the Officers Reserve Corps to serve active duty tours of less than 30 days at stations near their homes, the Army Reserve office announced today.

Such tours of duty are limited to 29 days, but an officer may serve on several tours up to a total of 90 days during each year.

Those eligible to apply for active duty are physicians, dentists and veterinarians who hold a commission in the Officers Reserve Corps, dated after June 20, 1945, and who are in the active Reserve. Those desiring to participate who are not commissioned, may apply for appointment.

Officers selected for active duty will serve in the grade in which they are currently commissioned. The new regulation helps Reserve officers accumulate necessary points for retention in the active Reserve and retirement credits.

WATERING POTTED PLANTS

Potted plants need frequent watering during the summer months. A simple way to water several plants at one time is to place them in a galvanized steel laundry tub. Then spray them with a galvanized steel sprinkling can. The tub catches all excess water and the soft spray of the sprinkler will wash plant leaves while providing water for the roots.

Summer's the time to make each day long on fun and short on kitchen chores. So add to everybody's holiday spirit--plan light meals for both indoor and outdoor eating! A&P is full of delicious, quick-to-fix, easy-to-eat treats at prices that will really surprise you.

PICNIC-PERFECT IN EVERY WAY

Planning a picnic at home or away means catering to king-sized appetites. And JANE PARKER SANDWICH ROLLS do just that. They're fresh . . . delicious . . . light, and so good you'll be amazed how many disappear at one sitting. Perfect for any filling . . . your thrifty A&P has them in packages of 6 and 12.

EAT WITH RELISH

Hamburgers taste twice as good when you top them with ANN PAGE SWEET GARDEN RELISH . . . a tempting blend of finely chopped mushrooms, pickled in choice spices and vinegar. And do include a jar of imported, plain or stuffed ANN PAGE OLIVES in your picnic plans. Choose Ann Page at your A&P, and you're sure of fine quality.

FRESH AND-THIRSTY

When you fix any kind of picnic lunch, be sure you remember IONA TOMATO JUICE--chilled. Rich with the mellow tang of fresh, red-ripe tomatoes and packed with vitamins, it's packed with vitamins too. Get several cases at A&P--Iona is A&P's own thrifty, flavor-packed quality brand.

TEMPTING SALAD

Serve refreshing fruit salad instead of dessert. Delicious-tasting, smooth-whipped ANN PAGE MAYONNAISE is the dressing to make it taste wonderful. Buy Ann Page Mayonnaise at your A&P. Try pear-frappe salad: Frost fresh or canned pear halves with thick layer of whipped cream cheese, thinned with milk. Cover with halved grapes or maraschino cherries. Serve icy cold on lettuce with Ann Page Mayonnaise, and garnish with watercress.

Mrs. Whitehead Married Here Saturday to J. S. Barron, Jr.

The marriage of Mrs. Charlton Leitch Whitehead, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John David Leitch, of "Wyeherley," Lynnhaven, to James Smith Barron, Jr., son of Mr. James Smith Barron, of "Upper Wolfanare," Princess Anne County, took place Saturday afternoon at 5 o'clock at the bride's summer home, 87th Street.

The ceremony was performed by the Rt. Rev. George Funnell Gunn, Bishop Coadjutor of the Diocese of Southern Virginia, before an improvised altar of white gladioli, white delphinium, California daisies and lighted candles. The bride was giving in marriage by her father. She wore a Meeta—original of imported organdy over daffodil yellow taffeta, fashioned with fitted bodice, low square neckline outlined in bands of embroidered organdy, bracelet length sleeves and full skirt finished with two panels of embroidered organdy from the waistline spiraling to a deep V in the back. She wore a yellow picture hat, and carried an old-fashioned bouquet of yellow roses and stephanotis.

The bride had as her matron of honor and only attendant her sister, Mrs. Charlton Lewis Murphy, Jr. She wore a gown of blue marquisette over blue taffeta, made with tight bodice, high neckline with tiny rolled collar, long sleeves and a full skirt. She wore a picture hat of pink horsehair braid, and carried a bouquet of California daisies.

S. Barron Segar, cousin of the bridegroom, was best man.

The bride's mother wore a dress of blue and white print and a corsage of gardenias. The mother of the bridegroom wore a dress of blue crepe and a corsage of gardenias.

There was a reception, and later the couple left for a wedding trip to New England and Canada. The bride wore for traveling a brown batik print with natural linen trim, a hat of natural straw trimmed with dusty pink velvet, natural linen accessories, and a corsage of roses.

They will be at home after August 15 at 87th Street, and in the Autumn will reside in the York Apartments.

The out-of-town guests were Mrs. William R. Tins, Miss Sally Chilton Burton, Miss Florence Franklin, of Richmond; Mrs. George W. Simpson, Miss Louise Lee Simpson, of Annapolis; Mr. and Mrs. W. A. Simpson, of Washington; Miss Sally H. Barron, of Warsaw; Mr. and Mrs. John Beattie and Mr. and Mrs. Hugh Tun-

BIRTH ANNOUNCEMENT

The CS Rooster Looks at Piggy Banking

Said the CS Rooster to the piggy bank,
Shop Colonial Stores and it's me you'll thank.
If you want to save, there's no better way
Than to shop at Colonial Stores every day.

Real thrift is not a some-time thing. Nobody knows this better than the homemaker who shops week in and week out. She realizes that it isn't the occasional saving on a few items but regular savings every day that count.

Colonial's policy is to offer all items at low prices, and to offer them all week long. Prices you see on Friday or Saturday are still in effect the following Wednesday.

In addition to regular low prices, you'll find frequent "bonus specials" at your Colonial Store—extra savings resulting from advantageous purchases and lower market conditions which we always pass on to you.

Start, today, to notice the difference. Your penny-banking becomes big saving when you shop Colonial.

Shop the CS Rooster way.

SUN NO CURE-ALL

What you don't know can hurt you says Cosmopolitan magazine in reporting that strong sunlight is not only no cure for a cold, as is commonly believed, but it is likely to make you feel worse, particularly in the early stages. The exposure tends to increase the feeling of "stiffness"—and can cause a slight rise in temperature.

New Plymouth Suburban Announced

The new Plymouth Suburban, above, a completely new combination passenger and utility vehicle of all-metal construction, was announced today by R. C. Somerville, general sales manager of Plymouth Motor Corp. With 111-inch wheelbase, the Suburban has the same 97 horsepower engine as the DeLuxe and Special DeLuxe Plymouths on the 118½-inch wheelbase. Unusually large luggage space and washable trim and upholstery give car a variety of uses. Factory retail price at factory, Detroit, Michigan, is $1,740.

All-Metal Car Is Combined Passenger and Utility Vehicle

A completely new type of automobile, a combination passenger and utility vehicle of all-metal construction, was announced today by R. C. Somerville, general sales manager of Plymouth Motor Corporation.

The new car, officially designated as the "Suburban" in Plymouth's DeLuxe line, is built on a 111-inch wheelbase. It contains the same 97 horsepower engine and mechanical improvements for more power and greater economy which were built into the previously announced Plymouths on a 118½-inch wheelbase. Factory retail price at factory, Detroit, Michigan, is $1,740.

A five-passenger car, the Suburban is designed to meet the requirements of families who require ample passenger space. At the same time it is a rugged, all-purpose vehicle which will carry unusually large amounts of luggage. Although the Suburban has ample passenger carrying space and smart distinctive lines, it is easily converted into a marketing truck for farmers, a combination family and business car for the salesman who carries large sample cases, a car of all work for surveyors and construction workers, or a home on wheels for the sportsman or tourist.

This new Suburban has been built to meet the many uses that a modern, active family requires of their automobile," Somerville said. "Here is a car whose beauty would attract attention on the smartest residential boulevard, but one that would still be practical in the most rugged resort country."

Designers have achieved exterior beauty with a simplicity that will reduce maintenance costs. The ease of maintenance theme has been carried throughout the interior, where upholstery and trim are washable and waterproof.

With the back seat in passenger carrying position, the enclosed cargo-carrying space in the Suburban is 3 feet, 6 inches long; 3 feet, 3¼ inches high; and 4 feet, 7 inches wide. Length of the cargo space is increased to 5 feet, 8 inches by pivoting the rear seat into cargo-carrying position. Opening the tailgate further lengthens this area to 7 feet, 5 inches. Maximum cargo space is obtained by pivoting the rear seat into the foot-well in the floor. The bottom of the seat and the rear of the backrest are steel. When the rear seat is folded forward, it forms a bulkhead at the front of the luggage space, while the backrest of the seat becomes a part of the floor. Folded out of the way, the rear seat upholstery is protected from chafing while loading or unloading luggage. To facilitate loading and unloading, a lift of only slightly over two feet places luggage on the open tailgate.

Features for passenger comfort and safety which are typical of Plymouth have been retained in the Suburban. Seats are chair-height to reduce passenger and driver fatigue and to increase visibility. As in other Plymouths, the new Suburban has ample head room.

An innovation to fully utilize the cargo space is the location of the spare tire compartment. The tire fits into a well under the steel floor near the tailgate, so that the storage space is clear.

Another space-saving feature is the location on either side of the rear seat of two compartments for carrying small parcels. The compartments are covered with sturdy vinyl material, the same long-wearing fabric used for upholstery.

An adaptation to 18-inch wheels is available as special equipment when greater road clearance is wanted for backwoods driving.

The improved 97 horsepower engine has a compression ratio of 7 to 1, the same as the DeLuxe and Special DeLuxe Plymouths on the 118½-inch wheelbase. The engine contains the new chrome-plated compression piston ring which reduces cylinder wear and provides greater protection during the break-in period. There are improved oil rings for greater oil economy, and smoother engine warm-up and faster throttle response is attained through the newly-designed intake manifold.

Among the many other mechanical improvements in the Suburban are Plymouth's new automatic electric choke and the combination ignition and starter switch which eliminates the starter button.

Civil Service Board Announces Exam for Safety Inspector

A Civil Service examination for the positions of Safety Inspector, CAF-5 and CAF-7, for appointment in various Federal agencies in the vicinity of Norfolk, Virginia, is now open. It was stated by B. Clark Bell, Recorder of the Board of U. S. Civil Service Examiners at the U. S. Naval Base, that salaries for the CAF-5 positions range from $2974.80 per year to $3727.50 per year, and for the CAF-7 positions, from $3727.50 per year to $4479.60 per year.

The examination is being held by the Board of U. S. Civil Service Examiners, Fifth Naval District, and applications must be on file with the Recorder, Board of U. S. Civil Service Examiners, U. S. Naval Base, Norfolk 11, Virginia, not later than August 22, 1949.

No written test is required for this examination. Applicants will be rated on the basis of their training and experience as described in their applications.

Complete information and application forms may be obtained from the Recorder, Board of U. S. Civil Service Examiners, U. S. Naval Base, Norfolk 11, Virginia, or from any first- or second-class post office in this area.

FRUIT CUP LAST

Diet experts have a "first shall be, last" attitude toward a meal starting with fruit cup. According to Cosmopolitan magazine, they believe that, because of its sweetness, the fruit will probably dull rather than whet the appetite. On the other hand, they regard fruit cup as a perfect dessert, as is grapefruit, especially when spiked with a shot of sherry, brandy, or rum.

Is Thirty the Love Deadline?

WHEN DOES A MAN STOP LOVING? Back in 1928 Dr. W. C. Durant, author of "The Story of Fifty Years" stated that a man past thirty was incapable of love. The statement, as the story goes, threatened to break up numerous happy households and also brought forth a storm of criticism.

A galaxy of literary and artistic stars answered his statement in a series of articles published in 1928. Just for kicks, the NEWS dips back to reprint a few of the loving articles—love being love in any era. Comments are invited.

By Elsie Jank

I have never envied a philosopher his power to philosophize. The greatest moments of my life have been the ones I could not understand.

And now after reading Mr. Durant's soul-stirring statement that no man can love after thirty I feel a great sympathy, not for all men over thirty, but for Mr. Durant.

I would like to take his hand in mine and ask him gently what happened to him when he was twenty-nine?

Or perhaps I should ask what did not happen to him that made him choose thirty as the crucial age when all men give up loving and start lying?

Because, certainly most of the men I know who are labeled great lovers are over thirty—not much over—and if they have their way it will be years before they move on from what is known as the early thirties.

Is it possible that because they don't love they know how to love so well?

I can think of three men—if I'm not too conceited—who have been on my side of thirty.

And if these men did not love or at least feel all the symptoms, then I'm ready to hand over all the palms I've been lucky enough to collect for doing imitations for that trip.

They can divide them while I with my pride in the dust will be heard murmuring through my sob:

"They ain't done right by me, Maw! they was only lettin' on."

I believe Mr. Durant really said men over thirty are incapable of falling in love.

Well! Maybe the men I have in mind now and certainly had in heart at different times, didn't fall—maybe they just strolled in. I can only say that their service was satisfactory and to me, in my utter ignorance of philosophy and its "uppercuts," they seemed just as capable of being in love as if they had fallen or even been pushed into that delightful state.

I have been asked whether I think a woman can fall in love after thirty.

Of course, it takes the average woman so long to reach thirty that she's apt to be tired from holding out birthdays, but being one whose years have been added up by experts who remember the date of my debut as a star, along with the dates of the Johnstown flood, Chicago fire, the Japanese earthquake, and other catastrophes, and having had very little chance of doing any subtle subterfuge, I am here to say that any woman who cannot fall in love after thirty ought to be psychoanalyzed, vaccinated, or have her teeth removed.

There are surely men and women of sixty whose hearts still flutter at thoughtful attentions, kind words, and friendly smiles, but to love with the heart alone must be like trying to fly a plane possessing only a rudder to guide it and wings to fly with if it could only rise to the sky. My theory is that at 18 the heart in the youthful enthusiasm leads here and there, the body following joyfully, the mind saying I should worry!

—this is not my affair.

Then at about 25, the body says to the heart, Pay a lot of attention to me, I won't always be as beautiful as I am, I'd like something definite. The heart says: Oh! come on, let's just browse along, it's such fun. And the mind says, It's about time I stepped in. These two are making a sap out of me.

Personally, I'm going to keep on falling in love just as long as I can find someone to rehearse with me. It may not be love, but it certainly is extremely pleasant.

By J. J. Lee

No saying could be more untrue than, "De noise of de wheels dar measure de load in de wagon." If one has in mind the more publicized entertainment at Virginia Beach.

But the true meaning of this saying should stand as a warning to the conservative element here to wake up to moderation and provide vacationers who come to relax with some form of mild entertainment.

Probably no other town in the state is more wide open than the Beach. Noise, liquor, little sleep, and a vigorous and fast life is the fashion. It has been for many years and the reputation of Virginia's first resort rests on just such a gay life.

People do, of course, come here to relax—a great many—but they also want some form of amusement, but not necessarily liquor, fast cars, and fast women. They find very little conservative recreation—perhaps a softball game or a bicycle ride or a movie might interest them.

Several hotels, particularly the Cavalier, do have hostesses who get up parties and games of various sorts. For golfing, tennis, boating, archery and several other sports the Beach hotels simply fall back on the Cavalier Hotel. But for the most part, hotels let the guests shift for themselves.

Establishments that would have been closed elsewhere in the state, even before the doors could be placed on the hinges, flourish here. They do so chiefly because this is a resort and as a consequence many people here believe that it should be a place where the bigger the splash the better.

The idea is one-sided and is not what an ideal resort should represent.

Not enough consideration is being given, perhaps, to the older set.

From all accounts this season, vacationers are doing more shopping before they plank down their money. They would like to stay at a place where bridge parties, games, fishing trips, beach parties or dancing on the terrace are sponsored. Such get-togethers would certainly not be of much expense to the hotels. Furthermore, people get a big kick out of them, not only for the fun, but for the companionship they mean.

Instead of playing up such mild and cheap forms of entertainment, however, most hotels are content for their guests to sit on the porches and rock and rely on the noisy night spots and the facilities of the Cavalier Hotel as sources of enjoyment for them.

Also, it should be noted that many out-of-town guests come from places where there are plenty of night spots. They do not come here for more such night life.

Since it seems rather evident that people cannot afford to spend as much money as they have spent in the past, some sort of arrangement should be made by the individual hotels to look after the entertainment of their guests as an added attraction.

But whether money is being spent or not it seems only good business to provide fun-gatherings for those who do not wish to join the call of the wild.

Crazy Car Comedy Act to Appear At Seaside Park

Ed Hodgins will spin his "crazy" car around the open-end stage at Seaside Park Monday, performing a series of comedy acts with his unique automobile, "Leaping Lena."

The act, the first such to appear here this season, will continue through July 31.

Hodgins will come to the park directly after an engagement at the Canadian Pacific National Fair, in Toronto, Canada. He has performed in fairs throughout the country.

Reynard Wins in Beach Playground Tennis Tourney

Men's Division to Begin Play Saturday; Sixteen Entered

Top seeded Allan Reynard came through in the junior division of the Virginia Beach Playground Tennis Tournament to defeat Buddy Leatherwood by the score 6-3, 4-2, 3-0, 5-0.

Reynard reached the finals by trouncing Jack Cole 3-6, 6-2, while Leatherwood down Leon Salberg 6-3, 6-3, in the semi-finals.

Players in the men's division will begin play Saturday morning. Sixteen men have entered the event, which is under the supervision of Mrs. Orin Avert.

The tournament, the first to be sponsored here in several years, was originally open to anyone wishing to participate. However, due to the limited amount of space to play, it was cut down to entries from Virginia Beach.

Pairings for the men's division of the tournament were drawn Wednesday by Mayor William F. Patton. Top seeded Bill Tarrah will meet W. A. Bradt in the first round. Other first round pairings are: Tex Cauffman and M. Holland, Frank Wells and M. R. Mathias, Roy Ramey and Bobby Spector, Lawrence Lockwood and Buddy Leatherwood, H. W. Smithson and Leon Salberg, Allan Reynard and Jack Cole, Charles Richards and B. C. McCleskey.

Trophies, which are on display in the shack of the beach playground, will be awarded to the winners sometime next week, Mrs. Avert said.

Players who are entered in the men's tournament will have to furnish a number of balls as entrance fee.

Coast Guard Tug Stands By For Crash Landings

Life guards here are beginning to wonder whether there are information signs hanging from their stands. Besides watching over bathers and renting equipment, the patrol boys are constantly answering questions.

This week the topical question concerned the Coast Guard tug boat anchored off shore.

The tug is playing watch-dog to Navy pilots during the NROTC aviation training program at Little Creek, according to a Coast Guard spokesman. It is anchored some 100 yards off shore in front of the Virginia Beach Coast Guard Station at 24th Street.

Goad, Latham Pitch No-Hit, No-Run Games

Mel Goad, of the Virginia Beach Lions Club softball team, and George Latham, of Fuel and Feed, both pitched no-hit, no-run games in their last outings.

While Latham was setting back 31st Street Merchants with no hits, his team-mates were scoring seven runs. No player on the Merchants team got any further than second base.

The story was much the same with Mel Goad. Although his team blasted in 15 runs as they defeated Oceana, no man reached third base. Goad walked one batter and hit another.

The two perfect games were the first to be pitched this season.

The Lions Club's win was their fifth of the third round and firmly entrenched them in first place. Three teams are tied for second place as the result of the Oceana defeat. They are Pyrofax Gas, American Legion, winners of the first two rounds, and Oceana.

Picturesque Surfboard Riding Not Quite As Easy As It Appears

If you are wondering whether surfboard riding is easy, you can stop right here. It isn't. There are more tricks to the picturesque sport than meets the eye, according to experts John Smith and Dusty Hinnant, two operators of the beach concession.

A good rider can catch a small ripple and glide shoreward faster than a breeze.

Although distance and speed on the water is deceiving to the eye, riders can attain speeds up to 50 miles an hour as the sleek surfboards slip through the water at Virginia Beach for about a hundred yards before being brought to a halt.

The glide shoreward is literally breath-taking to the rider. Shooting off the summit of a wave is like a quick descent in an elevator, Hinnant declared.

Catching the wave just at the right point is the first feat the rider must accomplish. This, of course, comes directly after the surfboard enthusiast has paddled through the curling waves, by using both arms simultaneously to keep the board headed into the waves, and maneuvered some 100 yards out to where a wave can be caught.

Then, if the rider still has the energy, he attempts to paddle his board, while still kneeling or in a recumbent position, onto a wave.

At this point the rider—wishing he had never taken up smoking—springs to his feet and places himself on the board according to its position on the wave.

Contrary to popular belief, the beginner chooses the hard way if he attempts to ride the wave by stretching out on the board, since it is easier to maneuver the board with the feet than the body. The enthusiast must be ready to shift his weight quickly from one point to another, Hinnant remarked.

Usually the rider will stop, his board before it reaches the beach either by pushing the stern down and losing the wave or by sitting down with his feet in the water.

As a rule the riders do not move in close to shore because of the danger of the board slipping out from under them and plowing in to a swimmer.

Some twenty-five boards are on the beach now, Hinnant estimated, but for the most part the swift moving boards are used for life saving and are owned by the guards.

The surfboard, Hinnant declared, is one of the best pieces of equipment for life saving. It is fast, light and can carry more than one person.

Several plywood boards have been seen here this season but the best boards are made of mahogany and are from 12 to 14 feet long and weigh from 50 to 80 pounds. The hollow board that is used today was invented in Hawaii by an American. It took the place of the heavier and more awkward solid boards.

George Olsen Band To Play for Two Weeks at Cavalier

George Olsen and his orchestra open tonight for a two-week stand on the sun deck at the Cavalier Beach and Cabana Club. The celebrated maestro and his men are among the relatively few musicians among popular bandmen who feature melody and smooth tempo over blare and bounce.

Since well before the advent of swing, bebop and the other musical fads which have hit popular music, Olsen has been playing to society in the sweeter vein. When the rhythm craze swept over, preferring melody to dissonance.

So great has been the demand for this easy style of playing in an era when the emphasis has swung to "hot licks" that the talented maestro and his band have traveled as much as 2,000 miles for one engagement at a special dance. His itinerary reads like a distinguished awards list of top rung night spots.

Kaufman's Do-Nut Shop Now Open

Announcement has been made of the opening this week of Kaufman's Do-Nut Shop on 17th Street, opposite the bus station. The new shop will be equipped with modern, sanitary equipment, new through-out.

According to Mr. Kaufman, the doughnuts, which will have a honey-dip coating, are made by a new recipe that has attracted attention of doughnut lovers everywhere.

Linoleum Weafs Well If Given Proper And Regular Care

New linoleum will give attractive and long-lasting service if it is given regular cleanings and waxings, home economists assert. To be avoided, they say, are strong soaps and gritty cleansers which damage linoleum's glossy finish.

The recommended way to clean linoleum is to wash it with a mild soap and water solution. Most women find that this is easy to do if a long-handled mop and a galvanized steel mop wringer are used.

The long handle of a floor mop and the root-operated wringer of a galvanized steel mop wringer will eliminate all of the customary stooping and bending associated with floor washing.

After linoleum has been washed for the first time, it may be given a protective coating of self-polishing wax. As long as the wax remains on it, linoleum requires only a daily sweeping and an occasional mopping with a damp mop.

SPORTS AFIELD

By Ted Kesting

A little real know-how in predicting weather can be the most valuable boating knowledge an outboarder has according to boating authority Willard Crandall.

Cloud types and formation can give a pretty fair idea of coming weather. Unfortunately, most of these signs only point to rain, or the absence of it. They aren't too much help in predicting wind. And while rain on the water can be unpleasant, the real concern of the boatman who thinks first of safety, is to predict wind.

Familiar to almost every sportsman, particularly in the Midwest, is the thunderstorm, heralded usually by the slow appearance above the horizon of a big, unbroken cloud of a deep blue-black. If you're on exposed water, in a small boat, it's time to head in as soon as the storm is definitely sighted.

Along the seaboard, old-timers are wary of any black clouds, for they can always mean squall winds. However, inland where waters are usually less exposed, a big detached cloud with a dark center often means a shower without high winds.

Anyone who plans a really exposed-water trip should get a good barometer and learn how to use it. The weather bureau will always give a wind forecast if you inquire. If you're without either of these services, there are some rules for amateur forecasting of wind.

Remember that it takes hot, damp weather to make a thunderstorm. If it is very dry, there

WHITEWASH TREE TRUNKS

Home owners having fruit trees in their back yards will find whitewash effective in keeping wood-boring insects from entering tree trunks.

A convenient way to apply a protective coating of whitewash is to use a galvanized steel pail and a four-inch paint brush. Paint tree trunks up to the first limbs. This will prevent unburned spots through which insects enter trees.

Treat the Sun With Respect

"It is smart to be well tanned, so bask in the sunshine if you want to achieve a fashionable bronze complexion as well as build up a resistance to germs," states Dr. L. J. Roper, State Health Commissioner.

Dr. Roper also added a note of caution to sun bathers. "Over-exposure must be avoided," he said. "Begin by sunbathing for a short while only. Then gradually step up the frequency and length of sunbaths until the body is conditioned and a defense against sunshine is acquired. Even then moderation is necessary."

The Commissioner continued, "Real sunshine will help to eliminate rickets, which is a deficiency disease indicating a lack of ultra-violet rays. It results in malformation of bones, bowed legs, knock knees, flat feet, pigeon chest, and square head. The percentage of children with one or more of these ailments as a result of rickets is appalling when prevention is simple.

"However the undue affection that thousands of persons display during the summer months toward direct rays of the sun is a striking example of working a good thing to death. Such persons submit themselves to overexposure and suffer painfully, as a consequence.

"The sun's rays have a therapeutic value, and like other kinds of treatment must be employed cautiously. Heliotherapy is the

Coastal Counties Have Fewest Bridges in Secondary System

On Virginia's 47,000 mile State highway system there are nearly 9,000 bridges 30 feet or more in length—an average of one bridge for about every five miles of road—according to a State Highway Department bridge inventory released this week.

In addition to these structures—ranging in length from 30 to 3,440 feet—there are "half that many more" shorter spans on the system, a highway spokesman said.

Nearly 7,000 of the bridges are on the secondary highway system. Of these, 20 are in Princess Anne County.

An oddity disclosed by the inventory was the fact that coastal and tidewater counties generally have the fewest bridges. Northampton County on the Eastern Shore, virtually surrounded by water, has but two secondary bridges. York and Lancaster, both tidewater counties, have only one secondary bridge each. In middle medical term for sun treatment. It is one thing to apply the principles of heliotherapy scientifically and quite another to burn oneself carelessly under the direct rays of the sun."

Praising the value of Virginia's sunshine and invigorating air, Dr. Roper concluded by stating that, "Hours spent wisely in the sun help to build up a resistance to colds and other illnesses for months to come. The sun's rays are beneficial and healthy, but they must be treated with respect."

Whole animal families are included in the list of names—such as Bear, Little Bear and Cub Run, Fox, Buffalo, Possum, Otter, Cat, Snake, Elk, Pig, their brothers and their cousins are well represented.

Then there are names like Copper, Kettle and Frying Pan; Potato, Purgatory, and Puppy; Bridge, Saddle, Straight, and Crooked; Sinking, Stinking, Lewish, Fearless, Difficult, and Terrible.

One stream showed up in the inventory as B0 F83 R4a—a typographical error, the highway department hastened to explain.

—WITH A MODERN FOOD FREEZER!

MAKE THE MOST of what you grow... feast on fresh fruits and vegetables the year 'round! If you don't have a garden, buy at low quantity prices during peak seasons—and freeze for the future! Crisp, zero cold works miracles... and there's a freezer to fit your family's needs... city home, farm home!

Of Course
IT'S ELECTRIC!

Less Work, Better Results

With the food-preserving season near at hand, think of this: the actual preparation of food for freezing is easier than for canning, and requires less equipment! There is no danger and results are never in doubt!

June in January!

You can plan to serve garden-fresh early spring peas when there's snow on the ground... red-ripe strawberries for your Christmas shortcake! You can provide your family with a wholesome and delightful variety of foods the year 'round!

Your Own "Super Market"

—is right in your kitchen when you have a modern food freezer... no more daily marketing in all kinds of weather... and banquet "finer's" right at your fingertips when dinner must be an "occasion," or unexpected guests drop in!

Good Things "Oven-Ready"!

In addition to freezing fresh fruits, vegetables, meat and fish... your food freezer is a storehouse for pies, cakes, breads all prepared and ready to pop into the oven; cook stews, soups and beans in larger quantities, freeze the left-overs!

County Farmers Get Chance to Visit Substations; County Agent Says Many Ideas May be Gained

Stations at Holland, Williamsburg to be Visited August 9-10

Tours of experimental plots are scheduled at the Tidewater Field Station at Holland, August 9, and at the Eastern Virginia Field Station, Williamsburg, August 10. At Holland, Associate Agronomist E. T. Eaton announces that speakers will be Dr. T. B. Hutchinson, dean of agriculture at V. P. I. and Dr. H. N. Young, head of the Virginia Experiment Station. Other speakers may be announced later. The program also will feature brief talks by resident staff members on present and future research plans.

Farmers and professional workers attending the tour will have a chance to see test plantings of cotton, soybeans, corn and peanuts, and to inspect equipment used in artificial drying of peanuts and corn.

County Agent H. W. Oslin is urging all Princess Anne farmers to go to Holland August 9 as these field days prove most valuable to the farmers in this county in regards to both corn and soybeans. Many new varieties of both corn and soybeans are being tested out at Holland and this will afford our farmers an excellent opportunity to study the different corns and soybeans in order to improve conditions on their farms at home. Artificial drying of corn will also be most interesting to our large corn growers as it appears that this is something that the farmers are going to have to do in the future in order to market No. 2 corn, or better.

Any farmer desiring to go or would like to have transportation arranged to get in touch with his county agent as soon as possible.

Drs. Hill, Venner Moving Offices

Dr. Kathryn D. Hill and Dr. Robert B. Venner are moving into new quarters this week-end. The doctors' new offices will be at 26th Street and Pacific Avenue, and will be opened Monday. They were formerly located in the Beach Theatre Building.

Croatan Beach Property Brings $130,000 at Auction

The Croatan Beach development, south of Virginia Beach, was sold at auction last night to purchasers at the Community House for approximately $130,000. The sale of 160 acres was ordered by Gerald M. Rumble, trustee for the Croatan Corporation.

The largest single buyer was George T. McLean, of Portsmouth, who bought fully half of the entire lot and three-fourths of the ocean front property. Numerous Norfolk real estate dealers were represented at the auction, but only one, Roy A. Griggs did any extensive purchasing.

Vigorous bidding by buyers indicated a very definite interest in the beach project. Individual ocean front lots sold from a high of $610, while lots in the interior of the new development sold for as low as $60. Desirable lake front property went from $100 to $190.

The sale included ocean and lake front lots and home and business sites with the latter bringing a high of $500 per lot.

Typhoid Clinic at Chesapeake Beach Beginning Today

The Woman's Club of Chesapeake Beach, through its public welfare department, Mrs. D. J. Wilkins, chairman, will sponsor a typhoid clinic at the Chesapeake Beach Community House today, beginning at 10:30 a.m. Dr. William Y. Garrett, health officer for Norfolk and Princess Anne Counties, will conduct the clinic. He will be assisted by Miss Lillian M. Ashley, Princess Anne County health nurse.

This service is free of charge to the residents of the county and all those who wish to immunize themselves and their families are urged to attend this clinic. Immunization for three years requires a series of three injections, the first to be given on the above date, and the second and third on the two succeeding Fridays, August 5 and August 12.

Further information may be obtained by calling Mrs. D. J. Wilkins, Norfolk 28331.

Supervisors Get Report of Chief Of Police Mapp

Report Lists 2,382 Calls, Requests for Service During Year

There were 2,382 calls and requests for service made upon the Princess Anne County police department in the year ending June 30, according to the report of Chief Ivan Mapp, made this week to the County Board of Supervisors.

The largest single category was automobile accidents, with 261 reported; next largest was breaking with 173, and persons investigated 148. There were 16 murders, and 46 felonious assaults reported.

The complete list follows: Assault (felonious) 48; assault (simple) 15; auto (accidents) 261; autos (towed in) 17; autos (burned) 9; autos (stolen) 91; break-ins 173; bicycles stolen 11; deaths investigated 18; disorderly conduct 99; dog complaints 86; domestic relations 57; drownings 5; drunkenness 78; fires (Beach) 35; fires (brush) 13; fires (house) 47; hit and run 13; insanity 6; larceny (petit) 16; larceny (grand) 21; license information 24; lost articles 20;

Miscellaneous 744; missing persons 37; murder 15; officers' reports 3; persons investigated 148; prowlers 26; attempt rape 3; rape 26; special requests 58; robbery 78; stolen property 63; attempt suicide 4; suicide 2; wanted persons 16; total calls and request for service 2,382.

County Population Increases by 609 Persons in 1948

Report of Health Officer Also Lists Causes of Death

Princess Anne County experienced a natural population increase of 609 persons during 1948 with the birth rate exceeding the death rate by a greater than three to one ratio. Live births numbered 890. There were 271 deaths. These facts are contained in the monthly report of Dr. William Y. Garrett, county health officer. Dr. Garrett gave the ten leading causes of death as follows: heart disease 91; cerebral hemorrhage 20; cancer 27; accidents, other than motor vehicles, 21; gonorrhea, male venereal diseases, syphilis 18; nephritis 15; tuberculosis 13; pneumonia birth 9; suicide 7; all other causes 47; total 271.

There were no maternal deaths in Princess Anne County during 1948. The infant death rate and the rates from communicable diseases were quite low. As these declines, there is an aging of the population and an increase in deaths from the degenerative disorders is to be expected, Dr. Garrett said.

"Not so many years ago the leading cause of death was tuberculosis. This has now dropped to eighth place," he declared. "The picture is not entirely rosy, however, and responsible public agencies might profitably study their programs and change them where they are found to be deficient."

"Many of the deaths which occurred last year could have been prevented. Accidents from all causes claimed forty victims and these represent the second most frequent cause of deaths. Accident prevention is an unsolved public health problem of the greatest magnitude."

"Cancer claimed 27 victims; thus pointing out the need for a more effective cancer control program to include making cancer a reportable disease, the creation of more cancer detection and treatment clinics, and better educational methods."

"Seven persons took their own lives. In most instances suicide is the final expression of a mental disease. An improved mental hygiene program would probably bring about a reduction in the suicide rate which appears to be increasing."

VEPCO Business Offices to be Closed All Day Saturdays

The Virginia Electric and Power Company's business offices on 17th Street will be closed all day on Saturdays during the summer months, according to G. Fred Cook, manager of the local office. The change will go into effect tomorrow, July 30, Mr. Cook said. Service department personnel will be on call as usual at all times, Mr. Cook added. Hours at the business office will be from 8:30 a.m. to 5 p.m. Monday through Friday.

Housing Expediter Rules Against County In Recent Request for Rent Decontrol

Identification Card Ordinance Under Fire by Cavalier

Police Arrest Seven; Other Employees At Beach Warned

Validity of Virginia Beach's ordinance requiring the registering and finger printing of certain employees is due to be contested when seven kitchen employees arrested for failure to have identification cards are brought before the police court August 9.

Gerould M. Rumble, attorney representing the Cavalier Hotel, said he will maintain that the ordinance is both a restraint on the freedom to work and a tax on it. Original cards cost $1.30, duplicates .50 cents.

Sidney Banks, president of the Cavalier Hotel Corporation, said three cooks, the head pantry girl and three other employees were involved.

The ordinance, passed in 1938, requires that every person employed in night clubs and other places of amusement, hotels, restaurants, bathing clubs, or any other mercantile establishments at the Beach must register with the police within 48 hours after the start of their employment. They also must be fingerprinted and photographed and subsequently issued identification cards.

Any violation is punishable by a fine not to exceed $100, or imprisonment not exceeding six months, or both.

Chief of Police Reeves E. Johnson said that the law was patterned after an ordinance adopted by Miami Beach, Fla., in 1934. It was amended this year to include employees.

He said that more than 5,000 cards have been issued at Virginia Beach since the original ordinance went into effect.

He added that the ordinance originally was passed at the instigation of hotel owners.

Final Results of Bond Drive Are Very Gratifying

Claiborne Bryant Was Chairman of County Campaign

Final results of the Opportunity Drive for U. S. Savings Bonds for Princess Anne County was $64,862.35 sold during the drive which lasted from April 1 to July 18. The county went over its quota of $50,000 by nearly $35,000.

In the state as a whole Dr. Francis Penfold Gaines, chairman, State Advisory Committee for U. S. Savings Bonds in Virginia, proclaimed the Opportunity Bond Drive an outstanding success today. Virginia's quota of Series E Bonds was set at $16,169,000, and sales for the period of the drive, April 1 through July 18, totaled $19,192,461.99. "Virginia has a habit of making its quota in efforts of this kind and we were confident this drive would prove no exception," Dr. Gaines said.

"As State Chairman, I wish to extend thanks for all the magnificent work performed by the several committees, county and city chairmen, and their co-workers in helping to bring this campaign to such a happy and successful conclusion."

"I wish to single out for special thanks the press, outdoor advertising, radio, industry and banking groups. Without their cooperation our strenuous efforts would not have proven so successful," Dr. Gaines observed. Claiborne Bryant, manager of the Virginia Beach Branch of the National Bank of Commerce, was chairman of the drive in Princess Anne County.

State Conservation Commission to Hold Meeting In This Area to Study Problem Of Mosquito Control In Seashore State Park

The United States Housing Expediter, Tigue E. Woods, has ruled that counties have no authority under the home rule provisions of the rent control act of 1948 to decontrol rentals. This is the purport of his letter to Governor William M. Tucker which was forwarded to the County Board of Supervisors and considered at their regular July meeting.

Institute of Rural Affairs to Feature Exhibits, Tours

Members of Local H. D. Clubs to go to V. P. I. August 3-5

Departmental exhibits will be a feature of the Institute of Rural Affairs, scheduled at V. P. I., August 3-5. Extension Service Director L. B. Dietrich announces. The exhibits will be open from 8 to 5 p.m. on Thursday and Friday, August 4 and 5.

Delegates attending the Institute from Princess Anne County are Mrs. Charles F. Thompson, chairman of County Home Demonstration Committee; Mrs. E. W. Calk, Lynnhaven Club; Mrs. Everett Sawyer, Princess Anne Club; Miss Lois Allen, Mrs. Jack Perkins, and Mrs. Fleet McClellan, Pungo Club; Mrs. J. B. Dudley, Croods Club; Mrs. S. W. Harvey, Thoroughgood Club; and Mrs. W. H. Farham, Ocean Park Club.

In agricultural engineering, farmers and professional workers attending the Institute will have a chance to see the latest farm and home equipment and machinery. About 10 farm machinery dealers have been contacted, and have agreed to display their newest designs. The farm machinery exhibit will be on the campus between Old Agricultural Building and Davidson Hall.

Tours of the test plots of soil and water conservation will be another feature of the engineering program.

To be on display in the agricultural engineering building are new house plans, building materials, home models, lighting fixtures and other electrical equipment.

Tours also will be conducted of agronomy plots, the orchard, the dairy farm and creamery, animal husbandry farms, and the poultry plant.

Exhibits in the auditorium of the Student Activities Building will include those on health, forestry, ornamental horticulture, crafts and rural arts, rural sociology, frozen foods, clothing and house furnishings, soil conservation, plant pathology and entomology.

Staff members will be on hand to discuss and explain the exhibits.

The board determined, however, to press for decontrol of Princess Anne County, and will ask the help of Senator A. Willis Robertson to intercede in behalf of the county at the Washington level. He will be requested to ask Mr. Woods if it is possible for the Office of the Housing Expediter to ask for the investigation and decontrol of the area, since the county board has no jurisdiction under the law, and to proceed as soon as possible.

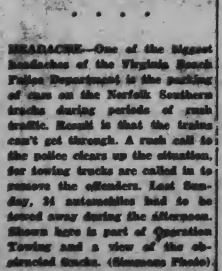

The board's solution was considerably less drastic than that proposed by a committee of three representing property owners at East Ocean View. The group, headed up by Mrs. J. H. Biggs, asked that the supervisors "proceed through the proper channels with a full investigation into the administration of the rent decontrol act, beginning with the office of the housing expediter, based on the grounds that the action of the housing expediter is capricious and arbitrary and is in violation of the Housing and Rent Act as passed by Congress."

The committee, which in addition to Mrs. Biggs is composed of Mrs. Dollis F. Powell and R. B. McCoy, said that the property owners have spent considerable rent controls in the East Ocean View section, and that they have asked for Federal surveys of the area in order to have the situation eased. A year ago, Mrs. Biggs said, the committee found 181 vacancies in rental housing and 200 sales housing, indicating that there has been no shortage in some time. She also said that a representative of the Atlanta district office of the housing administration had recommended for decontrol, but that his recommendations had been over-ridden.

The letter of Mr. Woods to Governor Tucker said: "As we interpret Section 204(j)(3), the Congress deliberately excluded counties from those governmental bodies which may act under this section."

"The 1949 rent control legislation in the farm bill was originally adopted by the House of Representatives (H.R. 1731) and as follows: (j) If the legislature or comparable governing body of any State, municipality, county, or other political subdivision declares by resolution that Federal rent control is no longer needed in such State, municipality, county, or political subdivision. . . . Later in the same bill, the Senate was amended to its present wording. (Continued on Page Five)

HEADACHE—One of the biggest headaches of the Virginia Beach Police Department is the parking of cars on the Norfolk Southern tracks during periods of rush traffic. Result is that the trains can't get through. A rush call to the police clears up the situation. For towing tracks are called in to remove the offenders. Last Sunday, 34 automobiles had to be towed away during the afternoon. Shown here is part of Operation Towing and a view of the obstructed tracks. (Hammann Photo)

THE BEGINNING OF A SKYSCRAPER—The first head of lumber is hoisted by Princess Anne Lumber Company in the site of the 14-story Maryland Apartment building, which construction operations have just got under way. The Maryland Apartment, when completed, will be Virginia Beach's tallest building. It will contain modern apartment units and will be owned by two local firms. (Hammann Photo)

ELECTION BOUND-UP

The battle lines are drawn, and the last few days of Virginia's four-way struggle for the Democratic gubernatorial nomination are at hand.

The outcome is by no means a certainty, although each of the four candidates maintains confidently that he will be the next governor of the Commonwealth.

It is a primary that is promising in more ways than one. For example, it is the first time that Senator Byrd's absentee rule of the State, through the so-called Byrd Machine, has been seriously threatened, and the first time that rule by the machine has become a major campaign issue. It is not a good thing, nor is it a healthy thing, when a state is run almost entirely by an organization made up of a handful of the chosen few, but this situation has existed in Virginia for nearly 30 years.

It is a promising primary in that the traditional lethargy of the Virginia voters seems to have been shaken off, and it would seem that voters who have shied away from the polls for years out of sheer unconcern will be there next Tuesday to cast their ballots.

It is promising in that major issues have been aired and brought into prominence in the public conscience so that regardless of the outcome of the election it seems safe to predict that something will be done about them other than promises.

There is much to be said in favor of all of the candidates. All are gentlemen and intelligent men, individually and collectively these men are a credit to the State.

Let us have a look at the four gentlemen, one of whom will emerge victor in the Democratic primary on Tuesday.

JOHN S. BATTLE

State Senator John S. Battle, who has received the backing of the Byrd Machine and of the Senator himself, has stood on the record of the administration.

His generally is a bid for the conservatism of "let us not change," which is a difficult stance to take in these days of progress.

He has come out against further taxation, and has used effectively in his campaign the promise that surpluses recently brought to light in the State Treasury would go back to the counties and cities. From the surplus, Princess Anne County would receive an amount that has been reported variously from $200,000 to more than $400,000. This would be an outright grant to the county, and would be earmarked for schools.

A further surplus he would set up as a fund from which counties might borrow for other county needs.

Although he has come out publicly as favoring better schools for the State, he has gone into no detail on how these will be achieved other than the grants mentioned above, which, in the particular case of Princess Anne County, is scarcely a drop in the bucket as far as the real need is concerned.

He has come out in favor of the State increasing its investment to build the travel business, which should endear him to the Virginia Beach voter as well as to voters in other sections of the Commonwealth largely dependent upon the tourist.

He himself and his backers have thrown in the bugaboo of the CIO, assembly in an effort to test the saying "divided they fall" for it would have the effect of pitting farmer and businessmen against labor.

For many, the fact that he is backed by the machine is his passport to success in the campaign, for there are many voters who believe in the status quo, to the extent that they say that the Byrd boys have served well for 30 years, so why won't they continue to do so? It also is important to the office holders and the State employees, for many of them believe their tenure of office is so tenuous that it must depend upon service to the organization.

FRANCIS PICKENS MILLER

Francis Pickens Miller is generally conceded to be the most serious threat to Senator Battle's success in the campaign. Colonel Miller has made a telling attack on the machine, particularly on the State Compensation Board, which he maintains is the weapon that keeps the machine's cogs in good running order, and which is under the chairmanship of E. R. Combs, who is also, according to Colonel Miller, "operating boss of the Byrd Machine."

Colonel Miller has said that he would institute a reorganization of the State Government, to bring it up to date by his application of accepted business principles; he would institute a merit system for State employees that would do away with political pressures to which State employees may be subjected.

He declares himself as unalterably opposed to the State Government taking over complete control of the public school system; would set a minimum of $2,000 for teachers eligible for the collegiate professional certificate, to increase yearly by $100 for the first twelve years of service, and which would be provided by State funds. Money thus released from instructional costs to the localities would be applied by each locality to its school building program.

He also has a wide program for State-wide public health and hospitalization program, as well as a welfare fund at the State level which would reimburse in full estimated local expenditures.

He would, he declares, make it his first objective if elected to return local government to the people, for he believes that the functions and powers of government have been gradually taken away from the localities, and adds: "Nothing has contributed more to the destruction of local government than the present method of fixing salaries of elected local officials through a political agency in Richmond—the Compensation Board, composed of three State officials with power of appeal to the courts in certain instances. In order to return local government to the people, decisions regarding these salaries must be removed from factional politics. They should be set within brackets established by the Assembly, through a non-political civil service type of procedure.

HORACE EDWARDS

Horace Edwards, former mayor of Richmond, has also come out for improved schools in the State, but he is the only one of the four candidates who has told how he would finance his school program. He would impose a sales tax, which would expire automatically at the end of four years. The school building sales tax would release other money to allow the State to give adequate salaries to teachers, and decent retirement pay for State workers. He adds that without the sales tax there is little hope that either of these public service groups can be adequately compensated in salaries and retirement funds.

Mr. Edwards would continue on a pay-as-you-go plan, for he maintains that it would be good for the State and for the localities. He would incorporate his proposed sales tax in the plan. He would establish an Office of Local Government where counties, cities, and towns could meet and exchange information with each other and with State agencies to strengthen their service to their localities.

He would press for electric and telephone extensions in rural areas, and as rapidly as possible. Moreover, he realizes the importance to the farmer of adequate farm-to-market roads, and would press for a program of black-topped highways in farming areas.

Mr. Edwards has followed a middle-of-the-road course, but his former alliance with the machine has had the effect of wearing away from the organization many voters who would otherwise have clung to the "party line" of Byrdism.

REMMIE ARNOLD

Remmie L. Arnold has made his appeal to the hard-headed business man, saying in effect that "nothing succeeds like success," and pointing out that he is a successful industrialist.

He has enlisted the gubernatorial race by coming out to state boldly that the Byrd machine tried to "buy" his withdrawal from the four-cornered race by promising him the United States Senatorship, and there has been no refutation from the other side to make it seem probable that this is not fact.

Mr. Arnold has stressed youth in many ways in his platform. He wants a first rate public school system, in order that the men and women of tomorrow may be better prepared to accept the reins of leadership; he wants living wages paid teachers and a retirement system for State employees.

He favors a bond issue to finance the building of schools so that the burden will not be on the counties. The bond issue would also finance other capital construction so that the taxpayer of today would not be saddled by improvements that benefit generations. Otherwise, for roads, he approves of the pay-as-you-go plan used so effectively over the years.

Mr. Arnold opposes the sales tax, and is opposed to placing any further tax on business.

He opposes the poll tax. He believes the State should provide services for all its citizens, regardless of creed or race.

His stress on the rights of localities is interpreted to mean that he favors local option.

That is the story as it appears to us.

Go to the polls on Tuesday, and vote as your conscience guides you. Shelve bitterness and factionalism, and vote for what you believe to be for the good of Virginia and Virginians.

And may the better man win!

LOOKING BACK

TWENTY-ONE YEARS AGO — JULY 27, 1928

By the issue of July 27, 1928, the Virginia Beach Weekly was getting pretty warmed up about the Democratic primaries which that year were scheduled for August 7. State Senator John A. Lesner, candidate for Congress from the Second District was opposing the incumbent Joseph Deal. Senator Lesner pledged himself to the National Democratic Program and included the following on prohibition: "The Democratic platform on this subject expresses my views in these words: 'Speaking for the National Democracy this convention pledges the party and its nominees for an honest effort to enforce the Eighteenth Amendment and all other provisions of the Federal Constitution and all laws enacted pursuant thereto.' In the event any change should, in the future, in said laws, I shall be governed by the views of my constituency."

At the Roland Theatre, Norma Talmadge was appearing in "The Dove," described as a colorful, quick-action narrative of a virtuous dance hall girl and a courageous young American employed in a gambling house, against a background of guitars, stilletos and roulette wheels.

Cornelius de Witt entered West Point to become one of 233 cadets to begin training immediately.

As Others See It

Editor, News:

Whereas the softball games at the local field are deservedly popular and well attended, these conditions could be reversed if the wrangling of some players becomes contagious. Fortunately, the large majority of players display the best in sportsmanship, but unfortunately, a few chronic grippers can take all the pleasure out of an otherwise good ball game.

It is an old, schoolboy custom to dispute the umpire's decisions when you are getting licked. To the youthful mind it furnishes an alibi for defeat, but it does not fool the experienced fan. Therefore, it is rather surprising to see any mature person carrying on in this schoolboy fashion. If he would give more time to playing ball and less time to disputing decisions, he would become a better and more popular ball player.

After all, the games at the Beach are only amateur affairs, so, naturally, a superior brand of play is not expected, but, neither is a poor brand of sportsmanship. BLACKBERRY equipment, on that progressive builders can see, in an hour or two, the latest improvements and design ideas of many industries. Typical of home show exhibitors are the 100 clay tile contractors who participated in the spring in more than a score of home shows throughout the nation. These dealers wanted to show the public the many colors now available in clay tile, and to demonstrate a variety of new uses for it—in the nursery, the utility room, for patios, dens and rumpus rooms.

BITS O' BUSINESS—The pajama manufacturers are worried. Seemingly the average man buys only "one-third pajama pair a year." So the industry is planning an educational campaign, and also investigating the possibilities of making pajamas more comfortable . . . The machine tool industry is back in the news with good news. This industry, most talked-about of all during the war, was first to feel slump, but some officials think the coming autumn will see a sharp upswing in activity.

Business Man, Farmer, and Civic Leader

THEY ARE SWITCHING TO HIM BECAUSE

HE IS NOT A PROFESSIONAL POLITICIAN; WHO NEEDS NO JOB, BUT IS INTERESTED ONLY IN GIVING VIRGINIA A SOUND, BUSINESS-LIKE ADMINISTRATION; A MAN WHO BELIEVES IN COUNTY, TOWN AND CITY RIGHTS — WHO IS AGAINST FURTHER CENTRALIZATION IN STATE GOVERNMENT; WHO BELIEVES THAT THE LOCAL RIGHTS OF COUNTIES, TOWNS AND CITIES MUST BE RESPECTED BY STATE GOVERNMENT, AND WHO SAYS THAT THE KEY TO GOOD GOVERNMENT IS THAT OF KEEPING IT CLOSE TO THE PEOPLE FOR THEY WILL INSIST UPON IT.

His platform, in part, which follows, is one of a businessman, who seeks only to help his State and not one who expects to feed at the public trough of his fellow Virginians.

1. I am in favor of a first rate public school system. We can not afford to be satisfied with anything less. The youth of today are the men and women of tomorrow into whose hands will be placed the reins of leadership for our Virginia. They must be prepared to assume this leadership. In my opinion the key to providing a better school system is that of securing more and better trained teachers who possess the ability to become good teachers. This can be done by paying our teachers a good livable salary more in keeping with their profession and what we expect them to live up to, by providing for them and other state employees a satisfactory retirement system . . .

I am in favor of the State providing a larger appropriation for equalization of the educational opportunity in the various counties and cities that all the children of Virginia will be assured a good program of education. . . . I would favor a bond issue to take care of the part the state should assume financially in making possible this construction program to meet the needs of our public schools.

2. Proper consideration has not been given the young people of our state . . . in the selection of individuals to fill important state positions.

3. I believe the State of Virginia must adopt a more adequate and helpful program in working with the localities to blot out juvenile delinquency. Our greatest asset is our youth. More parks, playgrounds, and recreational facilities will help greatly in reducing juvenile delinquency.

4. I am of the opinion the state should enlarge upon its present health program so that each county and city will be assured the services of a modern, adequate health unit . . . to assure professional medical examinations and check-ups for school children with proper follow-up remedial program where parents are financially unable to do this for their children.

5. Under our program of Public Welfare provision should be made for adequate care of the aged, blind, dependent children and other handicapped persons. I will see to it that the State makes an appropriation that will assure its assuming its proper part together with the localities and the Federal government in providing for these unfortunate citizens.

6. I do not favor the employing of state workers upon a purely political basis. . . . Promotion of employees should be made entirely on the basis of the ability and effort of the individual and political pull should not be considered.

7. We owe a deep debt of gratitude to the Veterans of World Wars I and II and to their families.

8. I am opposed to any further centralization of power in the state government. . . . The local rights of counties, cities, and towns must be respected by our state government. The key to good government is that of keeping it close to the people, for then they will insist upon it.

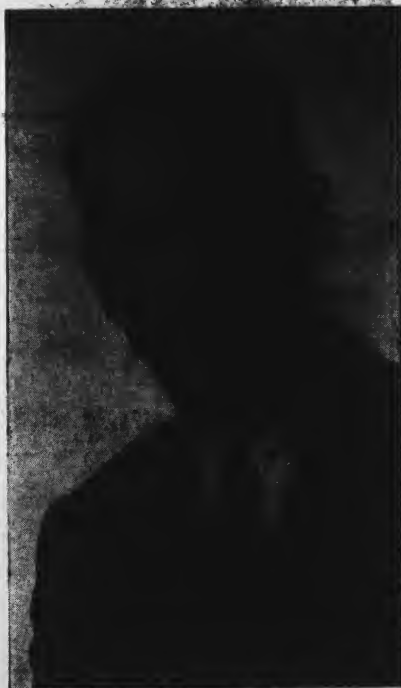

9. I am opposed to the poll tax. . . . However, I am opposed to the proposed amendment which we are going to vote on November 8, because I do not believe it is the answer to the problem.

10. The State of Virginia should provide services for its citizens in such a way that there will not be a lack of opportunity to enjoy the benefits of these services on account of creed or race.

11. I am in favor of collective bargaining.

12. The Hampton Roads area of our State is blessed with the potentialities for greater development. . . . To inaugurate a program of encouraging and developing to the fullest the potential trade advantage of this area . . . will be my goal.

13. It is my opinion more emphasis should be given to the beautification of our highways.

14. I am of the opinion that Virginia should not be handicapped by lack of sufficient number of fire marshals in planning the best possible program for combating the forest fire hazard.

15. Farming is one of the greatest assets of Virginia. I intend to encourage its expansion and development.

16. Adequate restocking of our forest and streams.

17. I believe in an intelligent, aggressive road building program. I do not believe in building and keeping in repair state highways alone, but that constant care and repair must also be given to the many county roads that connect with these main arteries of traffic.

18. I favor a continuation of the policy of PAY AS YOU GO for roads. . . . A tremendous tax is already collected at the expense of the owners of automobiles, and these funds should not be used for purposes other than for the building and upkeep of our highways.

19. I pledge to the people of Virginia my sincerest effort in seeing that in no section of our State its citizens shall have cause to feel that they are remote from their government either geographically or in the consideration shown their area in rendering the services of government.

20. I am opposed to the sales tax.

21. The free enterprise system for business has in the past caused our state to prosper. . . . Therefore, I am opposed to placing any additional tax on business.

22. It is time for Virginia to separate its capital construction budget from its current expense budget and to finance the capital construction budget in such a way that the cost will be shared by the entire generation that will be benefited by these capital improvements, instead of falling unshared on the taxpayers of the immediate present. I believe in a continuation of the PAY AS YOU GO Plan for roads, but for other capital construction needs. . . . I strongly believe the entire cost should not be saddled on the taxpayers of today.

23. There are four ways in which I believe additional funds can be found to finance a large part, if not all, of the pressing needs of Virginia.

First, through proper estimating of the budget revenues we can find for current expenditures more additional revenue.

Second, I favor a bond issue to finance that part of a capital construction program that the State should assume as its obligation in the construction of much needed public school buildings, additional buildings for state supported colleges and universities, and for additional buildings for our state hospitals.

Third, application of a policy of rigid economy and business-like management can effect a saving that will release considerable funds with which to meet other needs.

Fourth, if sufficient funds can not be found within the present tax structure to meet all of the pressing needs of Virginia and the people of our State want these services of government that it becomes the obligation of the governor and the General Assembly together with the cooperation of the localities to work out ways and means of financing these needs under a program of taxation that, in their opinion at that time, would be the most fair and the most equitable to all of the citizens of Virginia.

24. I intend to be a governor who will represent ALL OF THE PEOPLE of Virginia. . . . I stand for economy and efficiency in government that the taxpayer may realize a greater dividend on his tax dollar.

25. I propose that every six months, the governor require the publication of the condition of our State financially in the newspapers and over the radio of Virginia and this information be furnished by the various departmental heads.

26. I propose that periodically the governor assemble the heads of various departments in Richmond for an open public hearing for the benefit of citizens who wish to make suggestions or seek information concerning their government.

I want to assure you, the citizens of Virginia, that I am interested in all of your problems and I intend to work for and represent all of the citizens of our Commonwealth. I have stated my views on the vital issues with which our government is faced and which I consider to be in need of most urgent attention. I shall continue to take you into my confidence and during the course of this campaign shall enlarge upon the issues I have placed before you.

It is my sincere hope that you will let me have the benefit of your point of view on any matters which you feel to be the concern of the government of our Virginia. I pledge to you my careful consideration of all such matters.

Your sincere friend,

VIRGINIA BEACH, VIRGINIA — FRIDAY, JULY 29, 1949

Approximately 200 Vacationers Take Tour Offered By Agency

In spite of several hotel owners who have said this week that they do go all out to provide parties and entertainment for their guests, we reiterate for the most part hotels here rely too much on the Cavalier's facilities and night clubs for their guests' enjoyment and for advertising, and not enough on their own establishments.

Hotels here are not for business men but for vacationers. They are resort hotels and as such should do more for their guests.

The Cavalier Yacht and Country Club has received instructions not to repeat or accept hotel memberships, it was learned this week. Although this does not mean that all the facilities of the Cavalier will be closed to guests from other hotels next season, it could be an indication of things to come. Such a move has been in the wind for several years. At any rate if the Cavalier follows through with plans not to accept hotel guests, hotels here will not be able to advertise or offer their guests boating, sailing, water skiing, game fishing, golf, tennis—all of which are offered by the yacht club—as they have in the past.

But regardless of what steps the Cavalier takes it might be wise if the hotels and the town made some plans for future entertainment even though it might be nothing more than sponsoring bridge parties, beach parties, small games, dates or dancing.

Those hotels which do have hostesses to look after their guests and sponsor parties should be congratulated.

Jack Laik, New York columnist, who has been standing in for Walter Winchell while he is on vacation, has been raising havoc in Winchell's syndicated column and his own about the wide open beach and professional gamblers here. He visited the beach recently and before anyone knew what he was up to or who he was he had taken in the sights and vanished.

Incidentally rumor has it that Winchell might spend part of his vacation at Virginia Beach.

Names of prominent guests—and there are many—who stay at the exclusive Marshalls Hotel are at a premium.

Al Mallies, executive secretary of the Chamber of Commerce, will look into the possibility of bringing the elaborate annual Coast Guard Day celebration to Virginia Beach next season. The event is being held at Morehead City, N. C., next week.

Someone this week hit upon one of the best suggestions we have heard all summer—to call the playground, which has no name, Bayne Field, in honor of "Bubba" Bayne. No name could be more appropriate since there would hardly be much of a playground now if it wasn't for the work and time "Bubba" has spent in developing it. A good time to name the field would be "Bubba Bayne Night", Wednesday.

Lions Club Wins Third Round In Softball League

The Lions Club won the third round in the Virginia Beach Softball League this week. The club won six straight games without a defeat. By winning the third round the club is assured a place in the play-offs at the end of the season.

The American Legion nine won the first two rounds, but slipped to third place in the recent round.

Both the Lions Club and American Legion teams got off to a good start in the fourth round which began this week. Five rounds complete the season schedule.

The Lions Club defeated Pyrofax Gas 4 to 1 Tuesday night, while the American Legion was busy turning back Fuel and Feed 4 to 3.

Fourth Round Standings

	Won	Lost
31st Street Merchants	1	0
Fuel and Feed	1	1
Pyrofax Gas	0	1

Late in starting this season, the Allee Powell Travel Agency, in the Chamber of Commerce building, has already taken some 200 guests of Virginia Beach on a tour through Williamsburg, Jamestown, Yorktown, Old Point Comfort and the Mariners Museum, according to Martha Woodhouse, manager.

The agency, the only one that provides a tour in this area, began operation late in June. Since then trips have been made available from the beach and back every Tuesday and Thursday.

The tour originates at the Norfolk Southern Bus terminal where guides schooled in Williamsburg board the bus. From there the bus goes to the south end of the beach and works its way up the beach stopping at the hotels to pick up guests who have made reservations for the scenic and historical trip.

The tour itself begins at the Mariners Museum, just outside of Newport News, goes through Jamestown and to Williamsburg, where lunch is served. After the mid-day meal at the Williamsburg Lodge, guests are taken for a three hour tour, or longer if time allows, Miss Woodhouse said, of completely historical Williamsburg.

On the return trip, Miss Woodhouse pointed out, some guests leave the tour at Old Point Comfort to make connections with the Washington or Baltimore boats.

Everyone that has made the tour this summer has been highly pleased with it, and several admitted that it was one of the finest they had ever taken, she added.

The constant chatter of the experienced guides and interesting anecdotes cause many people to abandon their automobiles at Virginia Beach and take the tour on the bus.

Carrying approximately 20 people on each jaunt, the trip begins at 8:30 a.m. and winds up at the resort in time for dinner. Even in rainy weather guests are advised to take the tour since most of it is inside and vacationers will not be able to make much use of the beach anyway.

More Cooperation Needed to Keep Beach Clean, Smith Says

Hot weather and a wide beach have brought joy to hordes of vacationers the past two weeks. But it has also meant early morning headaches for life guards located along the two mile stretch of sand.

The headaches come from having to keep the wide, hot sands free of debris—a job that belongs to the 30-odd life guards here.

"In order to keep the beach clean," John Smith, concessionaire, said, "we must have cooperation from the bathers. Every effort is made by the life guards to urge people to use trash cans."

Commenting on the recent "clean up the beach" suggestions found in a preliminary survey by the Junior Woman's Club suggestion box poll, Smith said, "We have approximately 200 disposal units spaced about 100 feet apart. Yet people insist upon throwing trash and bottles on the beach instead of into the cans."

Life guards, too, complain about people refusing to use the units. One guard stationed near a local club, which operates during the day, said the bathers "habitually toss and take cans and bottles onto the beach."

The guards, Smith said, rake the sands the first thing every morning. However, during hot spells they are forced to do the cleaning gradually, since the sand is often too hot to walk on for any length of time.

Coast Guardsmen Enter Surfboat in Morehead Races

Many Demonstrations Set For Elaborate Celebration Thursday

Virginia Beach Coast Guardsmen will enter a crew in the inter-district "Coast Guard" Crew races at Morehead City, N. C., Thursday, August 4, as part of the Coast Guard's 159th anniversary celebration.

Plans were completed over the week-end for the elaborate celebration. Demonstrations of just about every type of equipment used by the service will be presented in a gigantic display within visual distance of thousands of spectators who are expected to attend the celebration.

Last year the event was held at Cape Hatteras, but because the Fort Macon Coast Guard crew won the surfboat and capsize races, the celebration is being held in Morehead City this year.

"Next year," Chief Boatwain W. B. Wroton, officer in charge of the station here said, "we intend the have the celebration at Virginia Beach. All we have to do to get it is to win the race Thursday."

The Beach entry came in second last year—the closest to winning they have ever come, Wroton said. "This year we have a good crew made up of men from stations in the Virginia Beach Group."

The crew, which has been in training for five weeks at Morehead City, are: Trainer and Chief Boatwain T. J. Harris, Coxswain S. O. Nell, and Louis Scarborough, Thomas McKinnis, Carl B. Omon, Norman Perry, E. D. Miller, Charles Scarborough, R. M. Ballance and R. A. Midget.

Participating equipment in the celebration will include three Coast Guard cutters, the Chincoteague, Conifer and Agassiz; and two patrol craft. Air equipment taking part in the demonstration will include a giant PBIG, two helicopters, and one seaplane. The seaplane will be equipped for a JATO (jet assisted take off) demonstration. There will also be one of the giant amphibious DUKWs from the Fort Macon life boat station and numerous smaller boats participating. Including the surfboats that will be used in races and capsize drills.

At 3 o'clock the much practiced for boat races and capsize drill will be held first, officers of the anchored Chincoteague. Each of the five groups of Coast Guard shore stations in the Fifth Coast Guard District, including Oak Island, Fort Macon, Cape Hatteras, Virginia Beach and Chincoteague, and possibly Ocracoke Island, one of the smaller groups, will participate.

Later the coveted Josephus Daniels Memorial Trophy, now held by Fort Macon group, will be presented to the winning crew in the race-capsize event.

Jeep Tows Speedboat Ashore After Engine Trouble Develops

A Coast Guard jeep went to the rescue of four speed boat enthusiasts Sunday when the small craft in which they were riding and owned by Paul K. White, of London Bridge, developed engine trouble off the shores, of Virginia Beach.

It was the first rescue of a disabled boat since two Coast Guard amphibious DUKWs attempted to save a 50-foot yawl that ran aground on the sand bar a month ago. The attempt failed.

This time the Coast Guard towed the small Chris-Craft speed boat ashore with the aid of a jeep.

Previous to the mishap Sunday the four boys had been riding close to shore, pulling each other on water skis. A call for help was received by the Coast Guard station at 7:30 p.m.

Alterations To Surf Club Near End

Muscle Men Plan Big Exhibition on Beach August 7

Champion Weight Lifters, 'Mr. Virginia' Slated to Perform

The champion weight lifters of Virginia and North Carolina will hook up in a weight lifting duel on the section of beach near 25th Street, newly named Health Beach, August 7.

The weight lifters will be part of an elaborate show to be sponsored by Virginia Beach and Norfolk athletes.

Ham Heine, who was runner-up in the recent Junior Mr. America contest in Chattanooga, Tenn., and "Mr. Virginia," Willard Logwood, of Lynchburg, will present a muscle posing and control act.

Plans have also been completed for a variety show to be performed by Arthur Littenfeld and Billy Bell, of Virginia Beach, and Hank and Elby Hamilton and their two children, Tony Burke, George Greenfield, Carter Lane, Marvin Byrum, and Nollie Simpson, all of Norfolk.

An announcer will broadcast the event and music will be played over a loud speaker system. Weights will be donated by a Norfolk sports club.

Meanwhile, this Sunday those listed in the variety show and entertainers from local night clubs will perform on the beach.

Beach and Norfolk athletes originated Health Beach this summer. According to a spokesman for the group, professional and amateur athletes who were interested in building up a town project for health instruction and entertainment formed a club and asked permission from the town for space on the beach. Early this summer the town council authorized a section of the beach to be roped off. The group, which welcomes visiting talent, has had several artists and teams from local clubs to perform on the beach this season. They present an exhibition every Sunday.

ANNUAL VISITORS AT GOLF BREAKERS HOTEL.

Guests who spend their vacation at the Breakers every year are A. S. Wilson and family, of Shapples, W. Va.; J. Frank Jones and family, of Richmond; Mr. and Mrs. Lynwood Sutherland, of Richmond; Mr. and Mrs. W. D. Overby and son and guest, Mrs. W. G. Hunt, all of Danville.

Sliding Steel Roof Being Installed Over Open Deck

Alterations at the Surf Beach Club are expected to be completed about the first of August, Jack Kane, owner-manager of the club, said this week.

A sliding steel roof approximately 75 by 150 feet that will cover the open-deck dance floor, is being installed now, while four new offices and a snack-bar have already been completed.

The sliding roof and new facilities will compensate for the removal of the indoor dance pavilion and entrance way.

The new roof, which will rest on 14-foot steel posts, will allow for a seating capacity of about 1500 patrons and will cover the entire deck except for the balcony, Kane declared. It will be electrically controlled and will roll into position in 60 seconds.

In addition to the major repairs, the stairs to the balcony have been placed facing the ocean; the color scheme of the new walls has been carried out; and the box office has been located 20 feet in front of the building.

Alterations to the club were ordered June 16 by Judge L. W. Hanson of the Princess Anne Circuit Court. The order required the Surf Club to remove landings that were encroaching on a 20-foot by-way across the property. The club was given 30 days to comply. The by-way, which is 300 feet long, lies between 55th and 57th Streets.

Legal action was started two years ago by Mrs. Elizabeth Stuart James, who owns property abutting on the by-way.

Bradt Triumphs Over Reynard in Men's Net Finals

Bill Bradt swept through all opposition in straight sets to capture first place in the Virginia Beach Men's Tennis tournament at the playground. Bradt turned back Allan Reynard, winner of the junior tournament last week, in the finals Wednesday by scores of 6-4, 6-3, 6-1.

Trophies were awarded to Bradt and Reynard Thursday night at the playground by Mayor William Patton.

In the semi-finals Bradt met Frank Wells and defeated him, after losing the first set 6-1, by scores of 6-3, 6-4. Wells, who played a fast first set, then going into the second match and was unable to return many of Bradt's placements.

In the other semi-final match, Reynard defeated Buddy Leatherwood 6-4, 6-7 to win the right to meet Bradt in the final.

Reynard also edged Leatherwood in the finals of the junior tournament. The tournament, the first to be held at the playground in several years, was run off without too many difficulties, according to Mrs. Oran Avert, supervisor of the event. Lights were installed midway through the junior round. Mrs. Avert said a doubles tournament will be staged August 6 at the playground. Anyone living in Virginia Beach or surrounding areas at the beach, and Princess Anne County residents will be eligible to participate in the tournament, she said.

An entrance fee of a dollar will be required. Those interested in participating should phone Mrs. Avert at 1923-24 or sign up at the playground refreshment stand. Mrs. Avert also said that if any women were interested in playing in a tournament they should contact her.

Michael O'Neil is used for technical handouts and booklets because of the weather. He is a professional and one with which it may be charged by ordinary cleaning services.

Spivak Orchestra Mounts Stand at Surf Beach Club

Stop "Zoot Suit" Talk, Says Trumpet Playing Leader

"Stop all the zoot-suit talk so loosely tossed about in connection with the adolescent fan," said Charlie Spivak, whose orchestra begins an engagement at the Surf Club tonight.

Commenting recently on the disparagement of swing fans, Spivak said, "It isn't fair to youths who have a sincere understanding of modern music to be labeled as irresponsible kids, drooling at the sound of their favorite band. Today's followers are no less hero-worshippers than before but they are clever in their appreciation and choice of their idol," he declared.

"The swing fan has a knowledge of the music world second only to the professional in the field. He can tell you instrumental changes in personnel, faults of arrangements and even the clothes of his favorite artist," he said.

"Swing fans," Spivak continued, "can be compared to the average baseball fans who range in age from six to sixty, and include shipping clerks and bank presidents. No one has sought out the baseball fans and belittled them as 'litterbug,' 'gate' or 'zoot suiter.' The music fan should be regarded in the same light," Spivak concluded.

Spivak, who for many years before forming his own band, was rated as the most sought-after freelance trumpeter in the country, will play at the Surf Club for a week. He will be followed by Guy Lombardo.

Specialists Golf Tourney Set for April, Banks Says

The Cavalier Specialists Golf Tournament will be held April 22-25, 1950. It was announced this week by Sidney Banks, president of the Cavalier Hotel Corporation here. The unique golf tournament is one of the top sports attractions in the State.

The event, which attracts some of the best professional golfers in the country, will be held on Friday instead of Saturday. This is the only major change for the coming event, Mr. Banks said.

Freeding the Specialists Tournament, a pro-amateur match will be played.

The 54-hole medal play tournament will open on Saturday, April 24, with 18 holes and conclude on Sunday, April 25, with 36 holes.

Fudge Cake

- 1/4 cup fortified margarine
- 1/2 teaspoon salt
- 1 cup sugar
- 2 eggs
- 2 squares melted chocolate
- 1 3/4 cup flour
- 2 teaspoons baking powder
- 1/4 teaspoon vanilla
- 1/2 cup milk

Cream together margarine, sugar, and salt. Stir in melted chocolate and beaten eggs. Sift flour, salt, and baking powder together and add alternately with milk. Add vanilla. Bake in two layers (8 inch) or square flat cake pan (9 inch) in a moderate oven (350 F.) for 30 to 35 minutes. Ice with chocolate icing (recipe below), and sprinkle top with coarsely chopped nuts.

Chocolate Icing

- 2 tbs. fortified margarine
- 1 egg yolk
- 2 squares melted chocolate
- 1 1/4 cups confectioners sugar
- 1/4 teaspoon salt
- 2 tablespoons cream

Blend margarine, milk, and egg yolk together. Add melted chocolate. Stir in sugar, beating to a spreading consistency.

"Makes Bankers and Bums Alike," Says Sunbathing Story

The prospect of appearing nude on a platter with an apple in his mouth is undoubtedly repugnant to any sensitive pig. But a man sunbathing on an August beach differs from the pig only in that he is alive, aware of his condition, and probably has a cigar rather than an apple in his mouth.

Such is the observation of Wolcott Gibbs, who writes on the subject of sun-bathing in the July issue of Cosmopolitan magazine. Referring to the man and the pig, Gibbs adds: "The resemblance between them is strong, and on the whole favorable to the pig, which is certainly younger, more shapely, and has, after all, the merit of being edible."

On the other hand, the author lists these "seemingly inadequate or frivolous" arguments in favor of self-mutilation by heat:

"Young women of the better class are reluctant to take off their clothes to any really interesting extent, unless they can somehow assure themselves that they are doing it for some more virtuous reason than simply to stun or fascinate the male. . . . A girl on a beach can always convince herself that the sun is good for her ('You can get vitamins or something') and that the more of her person she can expose to it, the healthier she is going to be;

"A man with an impressive coat of tan may still be an almost total physical wreck, a perennial bankrupt, and a stupefying bore, but so powerful is the tradition that a well-browned skin postulates health, wealth, and strange adventures in distant lands that his chances of social, financial, and even amorous advancement are usually excellent, especially in the pallid society of the boulevard and market place."

The author admits that this theory can work in reverse at times. "The Society of Sun Worshipers is . . . also, paradoxically, agreeably democratic, since there is nothing like a pair of bathing trunks to make a banker look like a bum and vice versa."

Little Theatre to Place Season Tickets
On Sale August 22

Season tickets for the Little Theatre's 1949-50 season will go on sale August 22 through August 27, according to an announcement from the Board of Directors of the group.

Mrs. J. D. W. Cassada will again be in charge of ticket sales. She said that season tickets entitling the holder to see any of the four scheduled performances would sell for $5.00; general admission at the door will be $1.30 and $1.80. Special tickets for school children will be sold at the door for 60 cents, Mrs. Cassada said.

The Board of Directors met last week at the Ivanhoe to make plans for the season. Those present, in addition to the hosts, Mr. and Mrs. A. T. Moore, were R. B. Taylor, John D. Litch, Jr., Joseph LaCelle, Mrs. J. D. W. Cassada, W. C. Pennington, Mrs. Elizabeth Sills, Mrs. James McMenamin and Miss Anne Thurman.

Mrs. E. C. Van Buskirk, formerly connected with the Little Theatre in Mexico, was a guest.

Chairman Colored Citizens Committee
Endorses Battle

Francis Taylor, chairman of Princess Anne County's Citizen Committee (Negro), has come out to endorse Senator John S. Battle for governor. Taylor said:

"Our political and civic betterment does not hinge on the doings in Norfolk and other cities and the 99 counties of the State, but what we reason out ourselves for ourselves. Our support for Senator Battle is the greatest step the colored population of Princess Anne County can make now in being politically and civically emancipated.

"I have made a long and careful study of the gubernatorial candidates and weighed all factors carefully. We should be mindful that Mr. Sidney Kellam, our county treasurer, is campaign manager for Mr. Battle, and of the long years of Mr. Battle's public service and his being the State's only qualified authority on both the inside and outside of our State's financial status.

"I sincerely hope every colored voter in our county will go to the polls this Tuesday, August 2, and vote for John S. Battle for our next governor."

Taylor is an active member of Mount Olive Baptist Church, and has been chairman of the Citizen Committee for four years. He takes a part in civic and political groups among the Negroes of the county, and is a member of Ruth Lodge of the Masons of Princess Anne County.

TIP TO FISHERMEN

A new type of fishing tackle (that won't kink or rust is proving to be an antidote to angler's headaches. It is made of Monel—an alloy of two-thirds nickel and one-third copper content—to the familiar head chain design so frequently used for electric light pull chains and many other purposes around the home.

Kems now being produced include: switches, levers, celskin figs, castings and trolling leads and trolling spoons. As each head in the chain is a perfect swirl, it is impossible to kink or twist the line when using this type of tackle.

Now... Chrysler Offers

1—Safer Driving! Through the years, the greatest advances in safety come to you first from Chrysler. Now there's a new advance in steering... Chrysler's "center control" steering! Your days of fighting a wheel are over. There's greater road stability, easier handling, less road shock. Even the leather covered foam rubber Safety-Cushion dash, and the new "Bull-Eye" headlight lenses are designed to give you extra protection.

Automatic Fluid Drive* Transmission... drive without shifting

2—Safer Design! Now the engineers who pioneered the first all-steel car bodies have developed a still safer body and frame design—25% more rigid. You have full control of your automatic gear shifting car. With Frictionless Fluid Drive Transmission, the Safety Clutch enables you to take over in emergencies, select the gear you need.

3—Safer Visions! When Chrysler engineers introduced the first 4-wheel hydraulic brakes 25 years ago—they brought to the automobile industry a new idea. It is the idea of car design that begins with safety, then builds beauty, comfort, performance! You can't possibly appreciate the difference until you drive this car. Find out how much more confident you feel in this Chrysler with its mighty High Compression Spindle engine.

SPORTS AFIELD

By Ted Keating

If you do any hunting at all, you've probably been in on one of these conversations about which is the tougher sport, skeet or trapshooting. Jimmy Robinson, one of this country's best known skeet and trap authorities, claims there is only one way to compare skeet and trapshooting and that is by high averages on 16-yard trapshooting targets, shot at scratch, against all-bore targets at skeet. At both sports, 12-gauge shotguns are used to best advantage.

During the last 10 years just one trapshooter, Bill Harder, of Lincoln, Nebraska, has turned in an average of 99 per cent to win the national high average. He averaged .9908 to take the crown in 1940. During the last 40 years, just seven trapshooters have averaged 99 per cent or better to win the high average at trapshooting. The high-average trapshooter last season was J. Calvin Michael of Aberdeen, Maryland, who turned in .9990 on 2,000 registered targets.

It takes 99 per cent or better to win the national all-gauge high-average skeet crown. Fred dy Missidine, Sea Island, Georgia, topped the average last year with .9910.

Mrs. Lela Hall, Los Angeles, top woman trapshooter of all times, paved the way for women gunners last season with .9551 on 4,500 targets, but Mrs. Ann Martin, San Antonio, Texas, had a much higher average at skeet. She won the skeet honors with .9730 on 1,675 clays.

There are two other forms of trapshooting — handicaps shot from 16 to 25 yards, based on your known ability and 16-yard average, and doubles targets. J. W. Butler, Springfield, Ohio, topped handicap shooters last year with .9336 on 950 targets, while Mercer Tennille, Shreveport, La., turned in .9646 to pace the trapshooting doubles shooters.

The top professional all-gauge skeet shooter in 1946 was D. Lee Braun, Dallas, Texas, with an average of .9940.

So there you have a comparison on the high averages of the two sports. Form your own opinion.

FEATURED DANCER—Myra Kirch, of stage and screen, as she appears in "The Common Glory," Virginia's drama of the nation's founding, which is now being presented nightly except Mondays at the lake-side amphitheatre in Williamsburg. Miss Kirch has not only trained the enlarged ballet which is one of the special new features of the 1949 season, but also has choreographed the entire drama which is directed by John Baldr, Broadway producer and director. Tickets are available from the Box Office of the Jamestown Corporation in Williamsburg. Curtain time 8:15.

The agency reports that 8 million pounds of the chemical were sold last year.

Galvanized steel sprinkling cans are recommended for spraying 2.4D in home gardens. The sturdy sprinklers have finely perforated nozzles to give the necessary soft spray. After being used for spraying the chemical, the cans should be washed thoroughly with ammonia water.

Austenitic stainless steels are a group of ferrous alloys containing 7 to 36 per cent chromium and 6 to 23 per cent nickel, with small quantities of carbon.

Nickel-plating was first developed on a commercial basis about 1870 in England.

REFRIGERATORS

IF YOUR present electric refrigerator is among the 68% now in use which are more than 8 years old — what a wonderful experience is in store for you when you look into a NEW one! If you're thinking about replacing that faithful old servant — here are some interesting facts ... and remember:

Of Course... IT'S ELECTRIC!

Even Thriftier to Operate!

Economical to operate as your old electric refrigerator is ... many new models cost 50% less to operate! And ... because they're designed to protect all types of food, giving maximum protection against spoilage and waste, they cut dollars off your food bills!

More Storage Space!

All new models give you more storage space in the same or less floor space than your old model uses ... some 8 cu. ft. models take only as much space as former 6 cu. ft. models! Food compartments have plenty of room for tallest bottles, biggest melons, largest roasts!

Room for Frozen Foods!

You don't have to swap ice-cube space in order to have room to store frozen foods — some new electric refrigerators have compartments for storing 35 to 50 pounds of frozen foods — plus greater ice-cube capacity and quicker freezing! It's the next best thing to having your own food freezer!

New Plus Features

Some models defrost themselves, some need no defrosting, others require only infrequent and quick defrosting. Many new models have special moist-cold and dry-cold areas for foods requiring higher humidity or greater dryness. Some have a butter conditioner for keeping butter at spreading consistency! All have more flexible space arrangements!

THINGS ARE LOOKING UP—For one young life guard, who has taken time out from his many duties to look at the better side of life. Contrary to popular belief the Virginia Beach life guards have little time to chat with and flex their muscles for the fair sex. Although between cleaning the beach, renting equipment, answering questions and watching bathers they do find time to "line up" something for the evening. After all, the ratio of girls to boys on the beach is 3 to 1 in favor of the girls. Thank goodness!

ANNUAL VISITORS AT THE GAY MANOR HOTEL

F. Parham, of Henderson, N. C.; Mr. and Mrs. L. T. Gravette, of Washington, D. C. and Dr. Alex T. Mayo and family, of Portsmouth.

Bop City Band Reorganizes with College Students

The dance band at Bop City, in Seaside Park, has reorganized, according to orchestra leader Jim Myers. The band, which, earlier this season was titled as the University of Virginia and Duke University Band, is now composed of students from colleges throughout the country.

Members of the band attend such colleges as the University of the South, Maryland, Virginia, Duke, Miami and several others.

The 11-piece band, which includes Freddie Clark, the Singing Waiter, also features vocalists Bobbie Moore, Peter Butler and the Melodiers and trumpet stylings by Johnnie Ondeck.

According to Myers, Bop City was opened new this season and decorated chiefly to attract the college crowds.

The band, he added, does not play all "bop" music, but also specializes in sweet danceable music as well.

The dance pavilion, located in the north wing of Seaside Park, was opened last summer with a juke box providing the music. It was the first time the pavilion had been used for dancing since the twenties when it was one of the few places at the Beach where the elite went to dance.

TWO LONDON BRIDGE MEN VISITING ISLAND OF CRETE ABOARD USS CORAL SEA

Two London Bridge men, Enz. Ralston Bailey, USN, husband of Mrs. Ralston Bailey, of 18 Gatewood Park, and Robert S. Lewis, alumnus, USN, husband of Mrs. Virginia M. Lewis, arrived at the Island of Crete July 16 as crew members aboard the aircraft carrier USS Coral Sea for a five-day visit.

Recent history found Crete the scene of paratroop landings in the last war that made airborne invasion history. It was there that ex-heavyweight champion Max Schmeling was injured during a jump with Nazi paratroopers.

During the year 1887 the whole world had produced only about two thousand tons of nickel, most of which came from New Caledonia. By 1902 Canadian production alone was more than five thousand tons, and by 1948 this production had risen to over 130,000 tons.

Smith, Slingluff Leave for National Golf Tournament

Frank Smith, Jr. and Craig Slingluff, of Virginia Beach, will leave today to participate in the National Junior Amateur Golf tournament in Houston, Texas. The tournament will be held August 2 through the 8.

The young Beach golfers won the right to play in the national event when they placed second and fifth respectively in the State Junior Amateur tournament at the Oakwood Club in Lynchburg in July.

Joe Fivesash, Jr., also of Virginia Beach, placed third in the Virginia tournament and is eligible to enter the national golf meet. However, Fivesash is touring Europe, and will not be able to go to Houston.

Smith was the only junior golfer from Virginia Beach to enter the national tournament at Lincoln, Nebraska, last year. Fivesash, Slingluff and Joe Carson were eligible to enter last year's tournament but did not go.

In the Virginia Junior tournament, the young Beach golfers, who play in the low seventies, have for the past two years taken the spotlight away from golfers from the larger cities.

The progress made during the past two decades in railroad equipment can be attributed to the ever increasing adoption of better materials of construction. Prominent among these materials are nickel alloy cast iron, which, due to their wear-resistance and strength are widely used in Diesel and steam locomotives and other rolling stock.
